REDS WIN 3 NEW STRONG POINTS IN KIEV DRIVE

Gain 30 to 50 Miles in Ukraine.

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—The Red army celebrated its 25th anniversary today by accelerating its smash westward thru the Ukraine, recapturing three important German strong points along the route leading from Kharkov to Kiev.

The Russians marched into Sumy, 100 miles northwest of Kharkov; Akhtyrka, 42 miles to the south, and Lebedin, about half way between them and 20 miles farther west. Lebedin lies only 175 miles east of Kiev.

The recapture of the three towns, announced in a special communique broadcast by Moscow, marked advances of from 30 to 50 miles in the Red army's continuing offensive. The gains also freed hundreds of square miles more of the rich, productive Ukraine.

Fifty Miles from Poltava.

Sumy, a provincial capital, lies 75 miles east and slightly south of Konotop and on a railway to that stronghold which appears to be the soviet army's next big objective in that region.

Capture of Akhtyrka carried the Russians to a point 50 miles northeast of the big town and rail junction of Poltava. Soviet forces already had advanced to within 50 miles of Poltava from the southeast. Poltava lies just a little more than 50 miles from the Dnieper river, a natural defense line along which the Nazis may elect to try to make a stand in this region.

The special bulletin also announced the capture of a town on the main Kursk-Orel railway 40 miles south of Orel in an operation some distance to the rear of the advance forces.

Reds 20 Miles from Orel.

The Germans have continued to hold Orel despite the fall of Kursk, Kharkov and other points in their old strong defense line, and despite the fact that the Russians have closed in from three sides and stand only a little more than 20 miles away.

Violent fighting continued on the southern front, with Red army troops advancing west of Rostov and southwest of Voroshilovgrad, the midnight communique declared. Voroshilovgrad is about 100 miles northwest of Rostov.

This war bulletin said one soviet unit captured a fortified populated place in hand to hand fighting in the drive west from Rostov, killing 200 Germans, and that other Russian units drove into several populated places southwest of Voroshilovgrad. Stubborn enemy resistance was overcome in that sector, and 180 Germans killed, the war bulletin said.

The Russians also reported an advance southward toward the Sea of Azov in the continuing effort to envelop German troops in the lower Donets basin.

SOVIET AIMS FAIL: NAZIS.

The German high command's communique said that in the winter battle on the southern sector of the eastern front the "far reaching aims of the enemy have failed."

The communique said the Russians had been unable to pierce the German front along the eastern rim of the Donetz basin and were thwarted in an attempted encirclement of the region from the northwest.

The soviet divisions which penetrated to the Nazi rear have "been annihilated or dispersed," the communique declared, and "the same fate has been suffered by those soviet units which were engaged in a still further enveloping movement from the region south of Kharkov against the Dnieper."

The communique was broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

ROOSEVELTS GET RATION BOOKS; STOCKS SECRET

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—President and Mrs. Roosevelt received their war ration books No. 2 today, but they didn't have to declare the amount of canned goods they have on hand.

A White House secretary who handled the registration explained the White House is classed as an institution and that under OPA regulations individuals residing there are not obliged to make declarations.

Finds Britain's Air Lines Gain by Lend-Lease

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rep. Melvin Maas.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Further disclosures of the expenditure of America's lend-lease billions to favor British commercial air lines at the expense of American competitors were made today at the house foreign affairs committee's hearing on the extension of the lend-lease act which expires June 30.

"New Zealand built 105 air fields for the United States," said Rep. Melvin Maas [R., Minn.], who returned last October from service in the southwest Pacific as a marine reserve officer. "New Zealand charged the entire cost of these air fields to the United States under reverse lend-lease,"

United States Planes Barred.

"Are American commercial air lines permitted to use these fields?" asked Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers [R., Mass.].

"Not at the time I was there," Maas replied. "The fields were being used by a United Kingdom air line, which was being furnished with American planes and American gasoline under United States lend-lease."

The 105 air fields are to remain the property of New Zealand after the war. The American army and navy, it transpires, need only a fraction of these air fields for military purposes. The American request for air fields, however, was indefinite and the New Zealanders seized the opportunity to build at American expense the number they need for postwar air transport. According to E. R. Stettinius, lend-lease administrator, the question of who is to pay for the 105 air fields has not been definitely settled.

Urges More Aid to China.

"China is the greatest ultimate hope of the United States," Maas told the committee in urging that it go on record in favor of increased emphasis on the Pacific war theater.

"Her man power assures us of victory on the battlefront and at the peace table," he said.

Maas warned that "as yet we haven't damaged the Japs in their new empire, which they are feverishly converting to industrial production."

"We are holding a line determined by the Japs, not by us," Maas said, "and if they consolidate their new empire behind that line, Japan will be far more self-sufficient than Germany.

"If we put the combined fleets of the world into the Pacific after Japan has consolidated her chain of island air bases, it will be too late."

Maas said ranking military, naval and air officers disagreed with the policy of pursuing a holding operation in the Pacific until Hitler is defeated.

"They wanted to throw everything we had at Japan after Pearl Harbor," he said.

DETAILS OF LINER CERAMIC SINKING TOLD BY GERMANS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 23.—Details of the sinking of the British troop transport Ceramic on Dec. 6 are contained in a communique of the German admiralty just released for publication. The former 18,000 ton White Star liner was sunk by a German U-boat west of the Azores.

Capt. Werner Henke of the U-boat said that after being hit the Ceramic got out of hand and began to roll badly. The launching of life boats appeared to proceed normally but they were inadequate to accommodate the rush of troops who poured out of the vessel's hold. Most of the life boats crashed on the sides of the ship as soon as they reached the water. Life rafts also soon became useless as the wind assumed hurricane strength.

Capt. Henke said that at daybreak the sea was covered with remnants of battered life boats, rafts, and the bodies of hundreds of soldiers. The U-boat picked up only one survivor.

Bernhard of Netherlands Is Guest at White House

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Bernhard du Lipke-Biesterfeld, known in the Netherlands as a prince, has arrived for an overnight stay as the guest of President Roosevelt, the White House said today. Bernhard, whose wife, Juliana, is known in her own country as a crown princess, came from Ottawa, Ont.

'GUNS' OF WOOD GUARD CONGRESS

Dummies Man 'Weapons' on Roof, House Told.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on page 18.)

Rep. Cooley.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Members of the house learned today that those four deadly looking anti-aircraft guns which have been perched atop the house office building since Pearl Harbor aren't guns at all. They're wood.

And those steel helmeted soldiers whose silhouettes are discernible from the street aren't soldiers, either. They're dummies.

These facts were disclosed from the house floor by Rep. Harold D. Cooley [D., N. C.], who complained that some one has put decoys over the unknowing heads of congress.

How Decoys Work!

"I am something of a duck hunter," Cooley said, "and when I place out decoys I expect to attract ducks. And when I place out decoy soldiers and decoy guns, I would expect to attract enemy planes.

"There is no effort made to camouflage those guns. They are sitting there under the blue sky for every plane that comes and goes to see.

"I think the time has come when the members ought to know what is being done around their own city of Washington. Here is the seat of the greatest republic in the world being protected by wooden guns and decoy soldiers!"

Climbs to Roof Top.

Cooley said he discovered the ruse Saturday when he ventured up to the roof to satisfy his curiosity as to the caliber of the guns, whose long, sleek barrels nosing skyward have become a common sight here in the last 14 months. Guns of similar appearance have been mounted on many other public buildings since the start of the war.

Emphasizing that the guns are unguarded and for any one to see, he said he was unchallenged as he climbed up to look at them in daylight, wearing civilian clothes.

"Nobody stopped me," he said. "Nobody fired a shot at me."

Committee in Dark, Too.

Rep. Cooley also disclosed that not even members of the house military affairs committee have been aware of the true nature of the "fortifications" on the building. He said he recently had asked a member of the committee what size the guns are and was assured they are of 50 caliber.

At least, he suggested, a little more wood could have been used and really big guns could have been built to comfort the statesmen.

The war department, in response to inquiries, said use of dummy gun positions—moved about frequently—was a customary procedure in preventing enemy agents from gaining an accurate picture of actual defense installations.

"The use of dummies to mislead the enemy is one of the accepted principles in operation in all theaters of war at the present time," the department said.

YANK SOUVENIR HUNTERS LIFT CAPS—THE WAACS'

ALLIED HDQ., North Africa, Feb. 23 (AP). — The WAACs are wearing overseas caps—but it's not just because they have come overseas. It's because their American brothers-in-khaki are appropriating their smart WAAC caps for souvenirs, Capt. Frances Marquis, WAAC commanding officer, explained.

"As each WAAC brought only one cap with her," she said, "I had to have them issued overseas caps as the girls could not go bareheaded."

About 20 WAACs have lost their hats. Others are fearful of wearing them to places where they have to be taken off. They check them at dances given them by various army detachments, but the hats continue to disappear.

M'KIBBIN VOWS FIGHT TO FINISH; SEES TRIUMPH

Kelly Terms Own Vote 'Gratifying.'

George B. McKibbin, Republican nominee for mayor, and Mayor Kelly, named by the Democrats, last night presented a study in contrasts. McKibbin, in a fighting mood, said he now will carry the battle to the Kelly-Nash machine, beat it decisively and drive it from the city hall. Kelly was calm and called the Democratic showing a "gratifying turnout" in view of "the effort made to create the impression that there was no occasion for going to the polls."

Kelly called attention to Chicago's greatness, the brightness of its future and the plans that must be made to assure "an adequate opportunity" for the city's fighting men and women when they return victorious from the war.

200,000 More Workers.

He said 200,000 additional persons have been added to industrial pay rolls due to the war, 200 new factories have been gained and existing plants greatly expanded.

"Our people," he said "are of course giving their chief attention and energy to the progress of this great city and especially in connection with all phases of the war."

McKibbin analyzed the day's voting and asserted that literally thousands refused to vote when they could not get Republican ballots—this because they had voted in a Democratic primary within the last 23 months. Changes of party in primaries within that time are forbidden by law. These citizens, McKibbin pointed out, will be able to vote for him April 6, the runoff day.

"All thru the day we have had reports from hundreds and hundreds of voters who refused to vote because they couldn't get Republican ballots," McKibbin said. "They admitted they had voted Democratic, but they wanted Republican ballots this time—and since they couldn't get them they just didn't vote at all. Those reports still are flowing steadily into headquarters tonight—right at this minute."

The Kelly-Nash machine "can and will be beaten" by a substantial margin, McKibbin added.

Attack at Once.

"We will now attack at once, carrying the fight to the opposition with increased force," he said.

"The primary has demonstrated a tremendous swing our way and a big drop for Kelly. The machine was able to bring out a vote of only a little more than 75 per cent of what it produced for him in the primary four years ago. The G. O. P. turned out nearly as many as four years ago. This shows a trend which is certain to increase in velocity right up to election day.

"It is a matter of accumulation. All the anti-Kelly sentiment, citywide and steadily growing, plus an aroused public sentiment against the plundering machine Kelly represents—and heads—will roll on from this moment because we'll not let up on them, not for a minute.

Sees Jolt for Machine.

"These are the factors which in my opinion are going to elect me by a margin that will be a genuine jolt to the machine. There is no doubt whatever in my mind about my election.

"There are many factors contributing to the mounting public resentment against Kelly-Nash. I am sure many voters have been aroused by the moving in of the lame duck, McKeough [former Rep. Raymond S. McKeough] to take control of rationing in this region. It is such things as that, the taking charge of all our daily lives—moving more and more boldly in on us—that the people are going to put an end to right now, once and for all.

"You can warn the machine to look out for a fight because it's going to get it!"

Satisfied, Says Governor.

Gov. Dwight H. Green said he is entirely satisfied with the outcome of the primary.

"All the underlying elements and factors for a smashing Republican-McKibbin victory on April 6 are in plain evidence upon analysis of the situation," he said. "Many of these do not show on the surface in a primary, but they'll give us a compel-

56 HURT IN TRAIN COLLISION; MANY ARE SERVICE MEN

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 24 [Wednesday]—(AP).—At least 56 persons, many of them service men, were injured early today when a nine-car Pennsylvania railroad passenger train, southbound from Philadelphia, was struck from the rear by a two-car train as it waited near the Wilmington station for a signal.

First reports said only one person, a sailor, was known to be critically injured.

Forty passengers were taken to Delaware hospital, six to Wilmington hospital, and an unknown number to Memorial hospital, and an hour later six ambulances and seven police cars remained at the scene of the wreck. Ambulances from the Newcastle, Del., army air base were among those summoned.

REGULAR PARTY CANDIDATES WIN BY BIG MARGINS

Total Vote Sharply Below Other Years.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

George B. McKibbin, Republican, and Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Democrat, will be the rival nominees for mayor of Chicago in the April 6 election. Each won in yesterday's primary election by overwhelming majorities. Voting was the lightest and quietest in years. The two men were candidates of their party organizations, and each left his opponent far behind. McKibbin polled 76.3 per cent of the Republican vote; Kelly had 78.8 per cent of the Democratic vote.

McKibbin's indicated city plurality in the Republican primaries was 119,000. Mayor Kelly's plurality was around 357,000 at the Democratic polls. This is based on returns with 10 precincts missing on the total vote.

How Voting Stood.

In all precincts but 6 out of 3,760 the Republican votes stood: McKibbin 159,083; Arthur F. Albert 40,434, and John H. Lyle 9,068. McKibbin's actual margin in these precincts is 118,649. He may pick up an additional 400 votes in the missing precincts.

In the Democratic primary with 10 precincts missing Kelly had 438,546, Ald. John S. Boyle 82,836, and Billy Patts 33,722. Kelly's actual lead in these precincts is 355,710, with the prospect that it will go to 357,000.

Both McKibbin and Kelly carried all 50 of the wards.

Little fluctuation was shown by the returns as they came in. The voting, too, appeared more even on both sides than is usual.

Tally by Areas.

How the three sides of Chicago voted in the primaries, is shown in a tabulation of the vote cast for winners and runners-up:

Republican [136 precincts missing].

	McKibbin.	Albert.	Plurality.
South wards	69,999	14,989	55,010
West wards	49,324	12,598	36,726
North wards	34,132	11,253	22,879
Totals	153,455	38,840	114,615

Democratic [137 precincts missing].

	Kelly.	Boyle.	Plurality.
South wards	157,730	37,860	119,870
West wards	205,629	28,605	177,024
North wards	63,133	13,303	49,830
Totals	426,492	79,768	346,724

Kelly got a clean majority of all votes cast in both Republican and Democratic primaries. In 3,750 precincts out of the 3,760, his vote was 438,546. The combined vote for the other five Republican and Democratic candidates was 325,143, giving Kelly an over-all margin of 113,403 with ten precincts missing. Kelly, in these precincts, got 57.3 per cent of all votes cast for mayor.

Interest Lags Sharply.

Compared with the record breaking primaries of 1939, the voting appeared as languid as the campaign itself. The total vote, Republican and Democratic, was 820,443, against 1,236,156 four years ago. Yesterday the total vote cast was only 46 per cent of the total registered vote, the lowest in years. In 1939, it was 67.6 per cent of the registry in the mayoral primaries.

The vote on mayor was less than the total ballots cast due to spoiled ballots and votes for aldermen only. The total on mayor was 763,689. Of this 555,104 was Democratic and 208,585 Republican.

The total vote on mayor yesterday slumped 36 per cent from 1939. The Democratic loss was the largest, amounting to 39.7 per cent of the 1939 total. The Republicans polled 24 per cent fewer votes than they did four years ago.

In 1939, the Democratic vote was 921,244 and the Republican 274,551 on the mayoral nomination. The bitter Kelly-Courtney battle brought out the Democrats.

Smaller Than 8 Years Ago.

The total vote of 43 per cent of the registered voters was smaller than that of eight years ago, which also was a quiet campaign in which only 50.7 per cent of the voters went to the city primaries. It was lighter than the vote in the state primaries last April, which was 52.8 per cent.

The Republican vote was 27 per cent of the entire total, compared with 23 per cent in 1939. The Democratic vote fell from 77 per cent of the total four years ago to 73 per cent.

I'M PROUD, SAYS MRS. KELLY OF MAYOR'S VICTORY

Politics? Her Heart Is in Service Center Work.

While others celebrated the selection of Mayor Edward J. Kelly as Democratic candidate for mayor for a third term last night, his wife, Mrs. Margaret Kirk Kelly, was at home, caring for the youngest of their three children, Stephen, who is ill.

When news of her husband's victory in the primaries was telephoned to her, Mrs. Kelly said "I am very proud of him. He has worked hard and he has done a good job."

Part of Her Family.

Mrs. Kelly, tall, slender, and blue eyed, has been called "the mother of the largest family in the United States" because of her work in the Chicago service men's centers. She considers that all of the millions of boys who have visited the centers since the first one opened in August, 1941, are part of her family.

Because of her son's illness, Mrs. Kelly left the canteen of service men's center No. 2, in the old Auditorium, early yesterday—at 5:30 p. m. instead of 7:30 or later, as is her custom.

Boys Are an Inspiration.

"Working down there gets into your blood," Mrs. Kelly said. "You get so tired you could almost fall on your face, but then a boy comes up and tells you what a nice time he's having and what grand folks the people of Chicago are. How can you complain under those circumstances?"

Until the outbreak of the war and the opening of the centers, Mrs. Kelly spent all her time keeping house. She belongs to no clubs, attends few social functions, and takes no part in politics. Her husband, home, and children are her supreme interest, with the centers running a close second.

"I'm very busy," Mrs. Kelly said. "Sometimes I think I need either wings or roller skates. But I'm happy and I hope I'm helping."

CONGRESS VOTED POWER TO VETO NAVY LAND DEALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The house today passed a measure authorizing expenditure of $1,256,607,000 for construction of naval shore establishments after including a clause giving congress veto power over the navy on the purchase of land.

Passage of the bill, on a roll call vote of 372 to 0, was overshadowed by the action of the house naval committee in writing in the clause, which prohibits spending any of the money for land until the secretary of the navy reports prospective acquisitions to the house and senate naval committees.

The house was told that Navy Secretary Frank Knox had agreed no land for naval air stations would be purchased without submitting the proposals to the two committees.

Judge Philip L. Sullivan deferred a motion for probation until next Tuesday. Krask, who lives at 4641 Woodlawn avenue, faces three years imprisonment.

34 ALDERMEN RETAIN SEATS; 4 FACE RUNOFFS

Second Election Required in 5 Other Wards.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

No major upsets were scored in the aldermanic elections yesterday, which were marked by the lightest balloting since 1935. Of the 39 aldermen among the 50 candidates, 34 were reëlected, one was beaten, and four were sent to runoffs to be held on April 6, when the new mayor will be elected. There were eight vacancies in the council and two sitting aldermen retired voluntarily.

Only 9 of the 12 or more expected runoffs materialized. Because no candidate received a clear majority, supplementary elections will be necessary in the 2d, 3d, 5th, 7th, 33d, 40th, 43d, 45th, and 47th wards.

Runoff in Hot 5th Ward Fight.

The hottest fight of all, in the 5th ward, wound up indecisively yesterday. The Kelly-Nash forces, which originally indorsed Bertram B. Moss but later switched to former County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer, failed to deliver enough votes to win and so the two will fight it out next April. Walter Johnson, University of Chicago history instructor, backed by the supporters of former Ald. Paul H. Douglas, now a marine corps captain, wound up a rather lame third.

In the 2d ward the Democrats, led by Congressman William L. Dawson, a former Republican, defeated Dawson's arch enemy, Ald. Earl B. Dickerson, representative of the swanky Negro set, but could not keep out of a runoff with Mack Atkins, an undertaker backed by the G. O. P. ward group headed by former State Senator William E. King, also a bitter foe of Dawson.

The 3d ward runoff will be between Ald. Benjamin A. Grant, an attorney, and former Congressman Oscar De Priest.

Supplemental Election in 7th.

Nicholas J. Bohling Jr., aggressive young lawyer, and his G. O. P. ward supporters, matched the Democratic strategy and forced Mathew J. Ryan into a runoff in the 7th for the seat left vacant by the death of Ald. Thomas J. Daley.

In the 33d, vacant after the death of Ald. Vincent S. Zweifka, C. H. Kordowski, Democrat, and John B. Brandt, Republican, went to a runoff. In the 40th, where Ald. Joseph C. Ross, Republican, retired because of illness, the Democrats' choice, Samuel P. Gurman, must fight it out with George O. Ibsen, president of Ross' minority G. O. P. organization.

Ald. Mathias J. [Paddy] Bauler again landed in a supplemental election with former Ald. James B. Waller, Republican, whose seat Bauler won from him in 1933.

Meyer Faces Second Race.

Theron W. Merryman, Republican candidate for assessor last year, in his second try in four years, accomplished a runoff with Ald. Edwin F. Meyer in the 45th ward.

In the 47th Ald. Frank O. Hilburn, elected with Kelly-Nash help four years ago but spurned by the machine this year, led a field of three candidates but did not avoid a runoff with the regular Democrats' choice, Frank J. Nenning.

John Budinger, real estate man whom Michael [Hinky Dink] Kenna designated as his successor in the 1st ward, easily defeated James McVittie, backed by the Business Men's committee.

Pieckynski Elected in 10th.

William J. Pieczynski was named to succeed Congressman William A. Rowan as alderman of the 10th. Clarence P. Wagner was elected in the 14th to succeed his fellow Democrat, James J. McDermott, now on the board of tax appeals. Paul T. Sheridan, son of former Assessor Michael Sheridan, was elected in the 16th to replace John S. Boyle, who ran for the Democratic mayoral nomination.

Anthony Pistilli, backed by the Democratic ward organization of County Commissioner Peter Fosco, is the new alderman of the 20th, succeeding the late William V. Pacelli.

Two Ex-Aldermen Lose.

Comeback tries by Z. H. Kadow in the 33d and George W. Robinson in the 36th, both retired from the council four years ago, were unsuccessful. Kadow missed the runoff by a wide margin, and Robinson ran third in a race which was won by the man who unseated him under the Courtney banner in 1939, Ald. Richard M. Walsh, now in good grace with the city hall crowd.

Two among the 152 candidates for alderman were women. Miss Florence Tye Jennison, who ran in the 20th, got only 118 of the 14,602 votes cast in her ward. Mrs. Catherine Reutel, a candidate in the 45th, polled 342 of the 17,534 votes.

Aldermanic Vote by Wards

The following compilation gives the latest vote in the aldermanic election, the names of the winners, if there were winners, being shown in capital letters. There were no contests in five wards, the 4th, the 24th, the 26th, the 28th, and the 30th.

EVANSTON TURNS DOWN BURDEN OF CANAL BRIDGES

The Evanston city council last night unanimously adopted a resolution placing on the sanitary district the burden of maintaining bridges over the drainage canal between Howard and Simpson streets.

These bridges are among eight between Peterson avenue in Chicago and Simpson street involved in a controversy over maintenance and lighting. The city of Evanston and the villages of Skokie and Lincolnwood threatened to close the bridges last week when the sanitary district notified the towns in question that they must take over those duties on March 1.

Closing of the bridges would result in the detouring of all east-west traffic in the four mile stretch.

Last night's resolution, offered by Ald. Robert E. James, pointed out that the sanitary district ordered construction of the canal in 1905 and that Evanston granted the right to construct a channel thru its limits, conditioned on an agreement that the sanitary district was to maintain bridges forever.

GRATEFUL, SAYS MRS. M'KIBBIN AS HUSBAND WINS

She's an Earnest Worker in His Cause.

George B. McKibbin's successful campaign for the Republican mayoral nomination was characterized particularly by two things. First, he always was early or on time. Second, Mrs. McKibbin was always with him, either listening quietly in the audience or as a dignified complement beside him on the platform.

It was typical then that Mrs. McKibbin, straight and slender in a simple, blue crêpe frock, was beside him last night in the Republican headquarters in the La Salle hotel as the returns came in. They received the news with no exchange of banalities, but, as friends and well wishers crowded around, Mrs. McKibbin slipped her arm into that of her tall, distinguished appearing husband in gentle congratulations.

Thanks Those Who Aided Him.

"I am very grateful to all the friends and citizens who have been interested in forwarding my husband's candidacy for mayor," she said. "I am very grateful for their loyalty, effort, and faith in what he can accomplish."

This little, gracious speech was typical of the earnestness with which Mrs. McKibbin has supported her husband's candidacy, despite personal avowals that she has "no taste for politics."

Thruout the 26 years of their married life, Mrs. McKibbin has chosen to play the rôle best dramatized in Barrie's play, "What Every Woman Knows," the rôle of the intelligent wife who realizes that part of her husband's success depends on her remaining quietly and efficiently in the background.

Mrs. McKibbin is the daughter of B. E. Sunny, president of the former Chicago Telephone company, and a graduate of the University of Chicago. She has made a career of homemaking and reared five healthy children, now young men and women, who kept the big, rambling McKibbin home at 4853 Kimbark avenue alive with noise and laughter.

In her spare time she has rolled up her sleeves and volunteered her services to many civic organizations. At present she is a nurses' aid with the Red Cross blood donor center and a member of the Stockyards district council.

Last evening, when it was suggested that she not wait for her husband at headquarters, she replied gently, "Even if I am the last woman to leave, I'll stay with Mr. McKibbin."

ASSURE POST-WAR FREE ECONOMY, STASSEN PLEADS

Proposed post-war policies for the United States, at home and abroad, were discussed yesterday by Gov. Harold E. Stassen [R.] of Minnesota in a speech delivered at a luncheon meeting of the Rotary club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman. He spoke again last night in the Chicago Woman's club.

Two of the principal points urged by the governor were retention and strengthening of the system of private enterprise after victory has been achieved and, second, American cooperation with other allied nations in an international organization to promote worldwide trade and amity.

It was his opinion, he said, that the science of government had not developed in the same degree as business under a free economy, and that the people had the duty of giving constructive criticism of conduct of the war on the home front. He added the belief that the workers in war plants would come away from their present jobs with a new respect for individual enterprise and initiative, especially after contrasting their merits with the governmental inefficiency in rationing and man power shifts.

He said that planning for peace should begin now and that "isolationism is dead forever." He recommended that a "continuing organization of the nonaxis nations should be built up and that its rôle should be outlined."

WAUKEGAN G. O. P. RENAMES BROWN FOR MAGISTRATE

CHARGE THREATS AND INTIMIDATION WIN IN FIRST WARD

Gang Uses New Tricks, Business Men Say.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

What happened yesterday in the 1st ward was held last night to be worth telling to a grand jury. Leaders of the business men's committee said they had witnessed a flagrant example of how elections should not be held in America and they said a gang of hoodlums had used new tricks in ward politics of the worst type.

The business men's candidate for alderman, James McVittie, had taken a trouncing. The methods used by the supporters of the winner, John Budinger, hurt worse than the results, said Frank J. Durham, an insurance broker who said he was thankful that he had survived a day of violence.

"Assistance" Forced on Hundreds.

"The election typified a complete breakdown of election machinery," Durham charged. "What the judges of election called assistance was forced on hundreds of voters within my sight and hearing and over my protests. Assistance consisted of the judges going into the voting booths with the voters and marking the ballots."

The steam roller election machine created 50 years ago by Ald. Michael [Hinky Dink] Kenna, who now passes off the political stage, functioned with its old time force and ruthlessness yesterday, Durham and Bernard S. [Bun] Black, state lodging house inspector, declared.

At present, the business men said, the Hinky Dink organization is ruled by the old Capone crowd with Fred Morelli as boss. The gang faced complete loss of its privileges in the liquor, vice, and gambling dens of the ward and its members were ready to do anything necessary to repel opposition, Durham charged.

Charges Candidate Aims Blow.

"I was assigned as a watcher at the 30th precinct," Durham stated. "The polling place was in a beer distributing agency operated by Bruno Roti. Every time I protested at anything I thought illegal, Joe Naso, an election judge, threatened me. Once he took my glasses off and tried to hit me. John Budinger, the candidate, aimed a blow at me.

"The gang had at least 125 men stationed outside this polling place most of the day. Fred Morelli came to the polling place and read what he said was the law to the judges, who promptly put me out. Of course, Budinger carried this precinct, the vote being 350 for him to 22 for McVittie."

Black said the Hinky Dink-Morelli gang had numerous squads going around the ward intimidating watchers for the business men's group. He said two of the cars used by the hoodlums did not have license plates and the occupants of these cars hit and chased away a worker named Mack Knuckles.

Disown "Republican" Judges.

The Republican judges were not in fact Republicans, the business men charged. One girl reported that a Republican judge, named Catherine Gurgone, followed her into the voting booth and argued with her for 10 minutes, trying to get her to vote for Budinger. Durham said the Republican judge in the 30th precinct, Emil Stephan, gave him no help, but abused him as much as the Democratic judge did.

"If ever a bunch of business men were pushed around, we were," Durham said last night. "This kind of election can't be tolerated much longer. It was because of elections like this one that Hitler came to power."

In the rest of the city there was little violence and few charges of fraud. County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said the election was the quietest in many a year. He said he would follow thru on any complaints that might be made later.

ROB TRUCKER OF $13.

Two men armed with pistols forced John Peltzer, 518 West 58th street, a delivery truck driver, out of his truck at Blue Island avenue and Polk street and robbed him of $13, he told police yesterday.

PRESCOTT, CLORFENE OPPOSING CANDIDATES FOR MUNICIPAL COURT

Patrick B. Prescott Jr., Republican, and Irwin B. Clorfene, Democrat, will be the candidates in the April 6 election for the Municipal court position left vacant last November when Judge Frank M. Padden was elected to Superior court. Both were unopposed in yesterday's primary, and their votes had not been tabulated last night. Prescott was an assistant city corporation counsel from 1927 to 1931. His appointment Dec. 10, 1941, by Gov. Green to a Municipal court vacancy was contested, and after a legal fight lasting a year, in which he carried his case to the state Supreme court, he served on the Municipal court from last Nov. 24 to Dec. 7. Clorfene, a leader in the 29th ward Democratic organization, has been an assistant state's attorney since 1933.

Kankakee Misses the Bus, Chicago Heights Finds It

Kankakee's prodigal bus is back home again after putting on a disappearing act for several hours. The 46 passenger vehicle was found parked on the wrong side of a street in Chicago Heights, but the person who led it astray while the driver was waiting for passengers in Kankakee has not been found. "The guy probably asked somebody how to get to Chicago Heights," said Police Chief L. B. Rogers of Kankakee, "and when they told him to 'take a bus' he accepted the instructions too literally."

M'KIBBIN PLEDGES FINISH FIGHT AND SEES A TRIUMPH

Kelly Calls Democratic Turnout 'Gratifying.'

ling push to victory in the actual election."

Mayor Kelly's complete statement follows:

"I am much pleased with the result of the primary today. It was a gratifying turnout, despite the effort that was made to create the impression that there was no occasion for going to the polls. However, we must think ahead. Our people, of course, are giving their chief attention and energy to the progress of this great city and especially in connection with all phases of the war effort.

Our Greatest Concern.

"This is rightly our greatest concern, and it is gratifying that Chicago is leading in every phase of the war effort. In these times there can be no place for personal or selfish ambitions and not much time for politics. We have a two fold duty to perform; we must continue to make war production efforts and we must plan intelligently to provide an assured future for our fighting men and women by giving them adequate opportunity for employment when they come home victorious.

"We have experienced a tremendous industrial expansion in Chicago and my administration has done much to start this trend. During the last year alone, there were more than 200,000 additional persons on industrial pay rolls. In the last year and a half, Chicago has gained more than 200 new factories, while existing plants have been greatly expanded. In my opinion, all of the new plants that have come to Chicago to make war materials will convert to peace time production and remain here after the war has been won. I have no hesitancy in predicting that Chicago will be the nation's greatest industrial center after the war, and it is my purpose to continue to stimulate our industrial development.

Development of Great City.

"Every Chicagoan can be proud of his home town's present standing and the progress that has been made. We can all be proud to have had a part in the development of a great city. That development must continue, and to that objective I pledge my unceasing efforts. I am proud, of course, at the vote of confidence given me in today's primary election, and I especially want to thank the people who gave me a vote totaling over 100,000 more than the total received by all of the other candidates combined. Again permit me to express my very great appreciation."

Ald. John S. Boyle [16th], one of the mayor's two Democratic opponents, said he telephoned his congratulations early in the evening.

"I simply told the mayor, 'I want to congratulate you on your nomination,'" Boyle said. "And he replied: 'Thank you.' And that's all there was to it."

Nothing was heard from Billy Patts, the third candidate in the Democratic primary.

Arthur F. Albert, former alderman, and John H. Lyle, former Municipal court judge, who ran a poor second and third to McKibbin, sent the candidate their good wishes and pledged him their support. Lyle said: "I am a Republican. Will support you."

Albert reiterated what he had contended thruout the campaign—that if McKibbin were nominated Kelly was certain to win the election.

"The Republican primary for mayor," Albert said, "for all practical purposes, was an election. Everything that I said in the primary campaign was true. My fight was the people's fight against bi-partisan bosses and the invisible government."

STALIN THANKS F. D. R. FOR NOTE; SAYS 'WE'LL WIN'

"Please accept my sincere thanks for your friendly message on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the Red army and for your high estimation of its military successes.

"I share your confidence that these successes open the way to the final defeat of our common enemy, which must and will be smashed by the united power of our countries and all freedom loving peoples."

POOR LEADERSHIP BLAMED FOR WAR DEATHS IN AFRICA

Debate on Campaign Demanded by Briton.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Question time in parliament—when the political heads of every department, civil and military, upon which the government is based, are subject to questions from members of parliament—today disclosed that the government has not yet decided whether it will urge another year's prolongation of parliament. Since 1940 parliament has been in power by its own usurpation because of the presumed dangers of a general election campaign to win the war.

Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee told a Conservative member that the government "at this stage cannot forecast the conditions likely to prevail when the present life of the parliament expires in November."

Refers to "Tinge of Unrest."

When his attention was called to the "tinge of unrest about the political atmosphere," Attlee replied: "That is another question."

Furthermore, it was made clear that the government, unless all parties demand a debate on the conduct of the war, will make no provision for one at an early date.

Aneurin Bevan, Laborite, brought up the subject and was supported by Richard Stokes, another Laborite. The latter suggested that since "events in Tunisia have turned out something quite different to what the prime minister has said, and soldiers are dying thru the incompetence of the executive, it is high time for a full and proper debate to be staged."

Eden Remains Firm.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said he thought that a "public discussion at the present time would be a very poor contribution to help our soldiers in Tunisia." Bevan said members of parliament on the occasion of the last debate only desisted from intervening because they thought they would have another opportunity. He maintained sufficient members could force Eden to give them a debate. Eden still persisted that this was a matter of opinion. He said he saw no chance for Bevan to force a debate on the conduct of the war until Easter.

War Minister James Grigg disclosed that "all the Churchill tanks used so far against the enemy in Libya have been fitted with 325 horsepower Bedford engines." He said that if he revealed the size of the engine designed as standard for this tank the enemy would obtain information.

Stokes, who has been denouncing the Churchill tanks in parliament for months, asked: "Is this tank designed to be equipped with a 600 horsepower engine and, if not, is not that due to gross inefficiency on the part of the tank board?"

When Grigg did not answer, Stokes said: "The Germans know all about it. Have you read their report?"

FIND GERMANS STILL RETAIN BIG PART OF RUSSIA

Wonder Where Nazis Will Set Up Line.

Russia's immediate military problem, as the thaws of spring approach and the Germans continue to fall back, may be clarified to a considerable extent by a study of the color map on the back page of today's TRIBUNE.

In this map of central Europe is shown the vast area where the armies of Russia and Germany have been fighting from the beginning of the war until the present time. Various graphic designations show not only the battle fronts at different times but also the large territory recovered by the Russians' present counter-offensive. This drive started when the Russians pushed the enemy out of Stalingrad and began whittling down his spearhead aimed at the rich Baku oil fields in the Caucasus.

Volga Clear for Traffic.

When the high water mark of the German invasion reached Stalingrad, on the banks of Russia's greatest waterway, the Volga river, the situation for the soviet army was critical indeed. But now, in the course of a few weeks, Stalingrad has been saved and the invaders driven back over a wide area. Once again the Volga is clear for the traffic of boats and barges laden with oil and other vital cargoes.

Remarkable as has been the Russian drive so far, in territory regained and in German divisions eliminated, the fact remains that Nazi troops still are deep in Russia and still retain a large section of the most populous part of the country, containing great cities and industrial centers.

Questions that arise now are these: Where will the Germans in their withdrawal elect to form a new defense line? How far will the Russians be able to advance before the spring's thaws make operations difficult and slow up or halt their progress?

It has been held for weeks in military circles that the Germans would fall back to the Dnieper river, which presents a natural line of defense.

Curves Form Huge Bulge.

The Dnieper rises east of Vilna, continues in a southerly direction east of the Pripet marshes until it reaches the big Ukrainian city of Kiev, and then curves toward the east. As the river nears the Black sea it curves back toward the west, finally flowing into the sea about 100 miles east of Odessa.

The huge bulge formed by the curves to the east and back to the west lies directly north of the Crimea. Whether the Germans will attempt to keep control of the Crimea, with its strategic city of Sevastopol, or simply try to hold the line on the Dnieper doubtlessly will be decided within the next few days or the next few weeks. As this was written the Russians had driven to within about 30 miles of the great bulge of the Dnieper and were only about 175 miles from Kiev.

The Dnieper line, if it is there that the Germans decide to try to hold, still would provide them with a fairly advanced starting place for a summer offensive. But, will the Germans be in position to open a major drive against the Russians when favorable weather conditions return?

According to America's undersecretary of war, Robert P. Patterson, the Nazis never again will be able to stage an offensive in Russia on the scale of the 1941 and 1942 drives. He bases his conclusion upon what he terms the best of information and explains that Germany now is confronted with a serious lack of man power.

May Retreat to '41 Border.

Should this waning man power make it dangerous for the Germans even to try to hold the Dnieper line, it is possible that they may choose to fall back as much as 300 miles farther to the 1941 Russian border, from which they launched their invasion. A retirement of this proportion would free Bessarabia and the Baltic states [Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania] to the Russians and in the north would place the line upon the northern Bug river, which coincides with the 1941 frontier for several hundred miles. Even this withdrawal would leave the Germans still in possession of Warsaw, with their covering line somewhere in the region of Brest-Litovsk.

Is the success of the Russian counter-offensive due in the main to the terrific hammering tactics of the soviet armies, or, on the other hand, are the Germans cunningly drawing the Russians on in order to impose upon them the difficulties of lengthened communications? Possibly there is something of both in the situation. The German high command's recent admission that the retirement is a strategic move to draw out the Russians, however, may be regarded to some extent at least as a "face saving" excuse. It never would do to tell the Germans back home that the great Nazi army, which once overran everything before it, was being pounded back by Russian blows.

Declares Russians Expect Early Action.

Ivan Maisky.

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP). — Ivan Maisky, the soviet ambassador, in a followup to Premier Josef Stalin's warning that "the enemy has not yet been defeated," declared in a speech here today that Russia "expects an early realization of the military decisions taken at Casablanca."

"The sooner Anglo-American forces begin to deliver hard blows against Nazi Germany in Europe, the sooner will Nazi Germany be placed between two powerful hammers knocking at her from east and west, and the sooner will come our common victory and the smaller will be the sacrifice needed for it," Maisky said in an address opening an exhibition of Russian arts and crafts.

Echoing Stalin's words, he warned against "optimistic illusions" arising from the Red army's successes this winter.

Admits Heavy Losses.

"In some quarters the people are beginning to think that the Germans are already on the run, that victory is just around the corner, and that in consequence we can relax a bit and go back to our habits, feelings, and interests of peace time," Maisky said. "Nothing is more dangerous than this mood."

While granting that the successes of the soviet army were "very encouraging," Maisky pointed out that they were being achieved at a tremendous cost of Russian lives and property.

"It is natural, therefore," he added, "that the U. S. S. R. expects an early realization of military decisions taken at Casablanca."

Demands Second Front.

Beaverbrook renewed demands for a second front in a speech in the house of lords, declaring, "Whatever may be the plans of the Germans, we should strike and strike now before they can regroup their divisions."

Simon replying for the government declared, however: "I shall have to say that I do not intend to say one single word" on where an attack on Europe might be made. He added that discussion would be "ill-timed."

Saying that the country seemed of the opinion the war already was won, tho some fighting remained to be done, Beaverbrook remarked: "I take a very different view—the war is not won."

Frowns on Dieppe Pattern.

"I am no Communist," Beaverbrook said. "I am a capitalist. I do not favor sharing of wealth. I want only to share the opportunities, but nevertheless I must admit Russian communism has directed two successful winter offensives unparalleled in history.

"If another attack is made on Russia, June may be the date, so we must strike quickly if we are to be ready.

"We must invade northwestern Europe now."

AMERICANS STOP 2 AXIS DRIVES IN CENTRAL TUNISIA

Rommel Stalled at Thala; Repulsed from Tebessa.

ALLIED HDQS., North Africa, Feb. 23 (AP).—Hurled back in one sector and stalled in another, the German armored units of Marshal Erwin Rommel relaxed their pressure along the Tunisian front today, giving the allied defense forces their first rest of the three day struggle to keep Nazi spearheads from cracking their lines.

"The fighting has died down," said a dispatch from the front, and both sides apparently prepared to make the most of the lull by regrouping and bringing up supplies and reënforcements.

In the hills north of the Kasserine gap, Rommel's most dangerous thrust had been halted by British and American tanks and infantry four miles south of Thala, the gateway to the strategic Kremamsa plateau near the Tunisian-Algerian frontier.

Fail to Gain Road Junction.

As the Germans tried desperately to gain the Thala road junction 25 miles northwest of Kasserine, British tanks and American gunners held on stubbornly in one of the bitterest battles of the Tunisian war.

At the same time, a Nazi column of 40 tanks, motorized infantry, and mobile guns, driving from Kasserine pass toward Tebessa, 12 miles west of the Tunisian-Algerian border, was turned back by American fire late yesterday on the winding road near Djebel Hamra.

While American guns poured a stream of shells into the advancing column, American warplanes bombed it in continuous relays. The force withdrew after losing many tanks and suffering a "considerable number" of casualties.

"Churchill" Tanks in Action.

It was disclosed that 40 ton British "Churchill" tanks had been brought to the Tunisian front secretly and had been rushed into action in the central sector.

Making their unexpected appearance on the plains southeast of Sbiba, 20 miles east of Thala, nine "Churchills" engaged 14 Nazi tanks and destroyed four of them with a loss of only one of their own.

[The German high command in its communique yesterday said heavy losses in men and tanks had been inflicted upon allied forces attempting to regain lost ground. The Italians said allied counterattacks had been repulsed, and claimed that 845 prisoners had been taken, and 66 tanks, 74 armored cars, and 58 guns destroyed or captured.]

There was no specific report today on the ground activities of the British 8th army, last disclosed to be attacking outposts of the Mareth line in the Medenine-Mareth road area of southern Tunisia.

FRENCH WARNED: HELP NAZIS OR LOSE FOOD CARDS

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 23 (AP).—Police squads have launched raids upon motion picture theaters in French cities in their latest efforts to conscript French workers for labor in Germany, a dispatch from Paris reported tonight.

Pierre Laval's government has found it so difficult to meet a Nazi demand for 250,000 more workmen that it has threatened to refuse food cards to men who do not register for work, other reports said.

A Paris dispatch to the Geneva Tribune tonight reported that lights are turned half way up during motion pictures while police make rounds learning the ages of men patrons, and taking those from 21 to 31 years for questioning and decision whether they are liable for work service.

Gestapo [German secret police] control has also been extended from cafés to hotels and railway stations, and even in some cases apartment houses, the dispatch said.

The Geneva Journal reported that many French workers already were engaged by the Germans in building fortifications along the Atlantic coast and the Russian plains.

Laval's controled press lauded his "accomplishments," but indicated there were difficulties in complying with German demands for more workers in exchange for certain concessions.

The Petit Dauphinois of Grenoble yesterday and today warned soldiers, sailors, and airmen demobilized last Nov. 10, that failure to register for work would mean refusal of food cards and make them liable to a fine up to 1,000 francs [$20] and prison sentence of a month to a year.

HOW YANK 'GRIM REAPER' BAGGED 7 PLANES IN DAY

Flies Right Into Japanese Squadron of 11.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The navy department today authorized the release by the TRIBUNE of one of the most thrilling air epics of the war—the downing of seven Jap planes by a naval aviator in the battle of Santa Cruz last Oct. 26.

The hero of the action is Lt. Stanley Winfield Vejtasa of Circle, Mont., a member of the "Grim Reaper" fighting squadron, which distinguished itself at the battle of the Coral sea last May and in other South Pacific actions.

Vejtasa, who won the navy cross at the battle of Midway for battling eight Japanese Zero planes for 24 minutes and bringing down three of the enemy, has been recommended for the distinguished flying cross for his skill, leadership, and courage in the air and surface battle of the Santa Cruz islands.

Commander Tells Story.

The "Grim Reaper" squadron is a carrier based unit commanded by Lt. Comm. James H. Flatley of Coronado, Cal. It was Flatley who virtually opened the battle of Midway by shooting down a four motored Jap flying boat in the middle of the American fleet. From Flatley the TRIBUNE learned of the "Grim Reaper's" part in the battle of Santa Cruz and the heroism of Vejtasa and Ensign John Leppla.

Flatley mentioned the work of the squadron in a letter to Stanley Johnston, Tribune war correspondent, who was aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington, which was lost in that engagement. Johnston had chronicled the part the "Grim Reaper" fighting squadron played in "Queen of the Flat-Tops," a history of the Lexington and the battle of the Coral sea.

The navy department supplied the details of the engagement, dismissed almost casually by Comm. Flatley, and recognized as exclusive the TRIBUNE's claim to the story of the "Grim Reaper" squadron.

Gets 2 Dive Bombers.

Vejtasa took off with a fighter group sent up to protect their carrier, the navy reported. Ten miles away they sighted eight enemy dive bombers ready to attack the aircraft carrier Hornet. Two of these dive bombers were shot down in flames by Vejtasa.

Returning to its carrier, the patrol encountered a group of 11 Jap torpedo planes in attack formation. Vejtasa and another pilot attacked one three plane section and each set an enemy plane on fire. The enemy formation broke up and flew into the clouds.

"I followed close behind a three plane section," Vejtasa wrote in an official report, "and blasted the No. 2 man with two short bursts. I then shot the rudder off the leader's plane, which caught fire. The third plane caught fire after I had fired a long burst into it as it was making a shallow turn. There was no return fire from these torpedo planes."

Vejtasa saw another enemy plane above him and tried a low side attack but missed. Circling, he saw two torpedo planes coming toward the anti-aircraft fire of the American surface vessels.

Gets Seventh Plane.

These enemy planes were retiring, flying close to the water with another Grumman Wildcat closing in. Vejtasa attacked the nearest of these Japs and with his ammunition about gone, emptied his gun into the plane.

The Jap pilot skidded his plane violently to evade the fire. The plane blazed but proceeded five miles before diving into the water. It was Vejtasa's seventh victim of the flight.

"That's one for the books and won't be surpassed except by another 'Grim Reaper,'" wrote Comm. Flatley. "I've got the best squadron in the business. All we worry about is that we won't get enough opportunities."

One of the seven "Grim Reapers" who failed to return was Ensign Leppla.

"I lost John Leppla that day," Flatley wrote. "He tied into a dozen Zeros, got three, but they got him too."

JAPANESE GAIN, BUT FAIL TO GET ACROSS SALWEEN

CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 23 (AP).—Despite determined Chinese resistance, the Japanese in southwestern Yunnan province have made some progress in their drive north along the west bank of the Salween river, the Chinese high command said tonight.

A Chinese communique told of heavy fighting around Mamienkwan, with both sides suffering heavy casualties. In this region, on both sides of the old Burma road, the Japanese have been trying to cross the Salween but are held on the west bank, Chinese reports said.

Severe fighting also was reported in Kwangtung province in the south and Hupeh and Hunan in central China.

Toll of Yankee Clipper Crash: 4 Dead; 20 Missing; 15 Living

Names Made Public

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 23 (AP).—Swift waters of the Tagus river today hampered work crews attempting to lift the shattered wreckage of the Yankee Clipper and recover the bodies of 20 missing passengers and crewmen.

Four persons were known to be dead, and there were 15 survivors, all except 2 of them still hospitalized, in the crash of the plane yesterday after a flight from New York City.

The American legation here said in an official announcement that "16 persons were landed alive, but 1 died during the night in a hospital. Three bodies were recovered yesterday during rescue work.

"Twenty persons are missing and believed buried in the Clipper or washed away by the current of the Tagus. Only during the salvage work which began this morning shall we be able to identify the victims."

HERE IS LIST OF NAMES.

In New York, Pan American Airways said officials were hopeful that some of those missing might have been rescued by Portuguese boats known to have been in the vicinity of the crash.

The civil aeronautics board in Washington, D. C., said two of the dead had been tentatively identified as H. F. Rush of Jackson Heights, N. Y., a crew member, and Manuel Diaz of Pelham Manor, N. Y., a passenger.

It identified the six surviving passengers as Walton W. Butterworth of Washington, first secretary of the American legation at Lisbon; Jane Froman, New York City, a radio singer; Olka Whitkowska, New York City, an accordionist, known professionally as Gypsy Markhoff; Grace Genevieve Drysdale, New York City; Jean Muriel Rognan, New York City, a member of a professional dance team known as Lorraine and Rognan, and Elsa Harris Silver, New York City, a professional singer known as Yvette. Two other surviving passengers were not identified.

Crewmen Identified.

Surviving crew members were identified as: Capt. R. O. D. Sullivan of Sanford, N. C., skipper of the flying boat; D. M. Sanders, Port Washington, N. Y.; R. J. Rowan, Flushing, N. Y.; W. H. Manning, St. Albans, N. Y.; J. C. Burn, Jackson Heights, N. Y.; A. Casperini, New York City, and M. W. Osterhaut, Jackson Heights.

Among passengers not listed as identified survivors were Frank Cuhel, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; T. W. Lamb, Wayne, Ill.; Arthur Lee, Harrison, N. Y.; Ben Robertson, New York City; Roy Rognan, New York City; H. G. Seidel, Kingston Hill, Surrey, England; Tamara Swann, New York City, singer, and James N. Wright, Washington, D. C.

Crew members not listed among survivors were C. Robinson, New York City; L. A. Ingels and A. R. Freeland, Jackson Heights, and J. F. Vaughn, Flushing, N. Y.

The civil aeronautics board said seven of the passengers were entertainers traveling to entertain United States troops on foreign duty. These included Rognan, a dancer; Miss Drysdale, a puppeteer, and Tamara Swann. They were under auspices of U. S. O. Camp Shows, Inc.

Radio Reporter Lost

Frank J. Cuhel, Mutual Broadcasting system war correspondent, missing after the crash of the Yankee Clipper at Lisbon, was one of the University of Iowa's greatest track stars and a business man before he became a radio reporter.

He was in Batavia, Java, as adviser to a Chinese firm when the Japanese struck. He was enlisted to broadcast over Mutual. That was on Jan. 1, 1942.

Cuhel, 38 years old, escaped the Japanese invasion of Java in a small ship which was under enemy gunfire. He reached Australia, where he covered the progress of the war.

Pays Visit to Chicago.

The radio commentator returned to the United States two months ago for another war assignment. He visited his home town, Cedar Rapids, Ia., where two sisters, Miss Ermengarde Cuhel and Mrs. Vernon G. Simon, live. Another sister, Mrs. Clarence Tufts, lives in Rock Island, Ill. He also visited Chicago, calling at W-G-N and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

A former Big Ten and national collegiate champion, Cuhel competed in the 1928 Olympic games and placed second in the 400 meter three foot hurdles.

An athletic star at Washington High school in Cedar Rapids, Cuhel won his first national title in the interscholastic prep meet at Chicago in 1923. He won the 440 yard dash, repeating the feat a year later. In 1924 he also won the national interscholastic 120 yard high and 220 yard low hurdles championships.

Chicago Architect Is Missing.

Theodore Warren Lamb, 40 years old, also missing in the same crash, was a Chicago architect who had been in Washington for the last two months, his brother-in-law, Winfield Foster of Hinsdale, said yesterday:

Lamb was married and lived in Wayne, Ill., with his wife, the former Deborah Bent of Hinsdale, and two daughters, Deborah, 4, and Joan, 2. Foster said that Lamb's wife, his mother, Mrs. Chauncey Lamb of Hinsdale, and two brothers, Richard and David, are in New York, having gone there to "see him off."

Lamb graduated in 1924 from Dartmouth college and completed an architectural course at Yale university in 1930. He also studied at Christ college, Cambridge. In 1936 he won a nation-wide contest conducted by the magazine Architectural Forum for a small home design. His Chicago office was at 152 East Ontorio street.

FIRE IN SCHOOL BASEMENT.

Hot ashes dumped on a rubbish pile started a fire yesterday in the basement of the Scanlan school, 11725 Perry avenue, shortly before the local rationing board arrived to conduct registration.

POLISH PREMIER SIKORSKI DELAYS TRIP TO MOSCOW

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government in exile, has postponed a projected trip to Moscow pending the outcome of "very delicate" negotiations over Russian-Polish problems, it was learned today on reliable authority.

Polish Ambassador Thaddeus Deromer, former envoy to Tokio, was said to be conducting the talks.

Prior to the present conferences, the Polish government in London had exchanged four notes with the soviets regarding the status of 1,300,000 persons evacuated from eastern Poland when Russia occupied that area in 1939, shortly after the German attack on Poland.

The Russians referred to this area as "White Russia" and part of the "western Ukraine." They indicated they considered it Russian territory. The population was reported removed to Siberia and its citizenship changed to Russian.

Diplomatic sources said the Poles had asked that the evacuees' Polish citizenship be restored and had offered to provide funds for their relief.

Political observers believe the main factor complicating negotiations is the alleged anti-Russian tone of some Polish newspapers printed in England.

THIRTY MISSING AS FIRE SWEEPS IRISH ORPHANAGE

CAVAN, Ireland, Feb. 24 [Wednesday.] (AP).—Thirty children were reported missing today several hours after a fire of uncertain origin swept thru an orphanage here. Approximately 80 children, ranging from four to 16 years old, were asleep in the building when the blaze was discovered about 2 a. m. Many escaped by jumping from the floors of upper windows, but at least 13 were injured and required hospitalization. Military authorities joined firemen in fighting the flames, which spread thru the orphanage rapidly.

ARREST WOMEN AS CONFIDENCE GAME SUSPECTS

Thirty-four victims of a swindle called "Dropping the Pigeon," who have lost $13,000 in the last year, were asked to go to the detective bureau to view two suspects arrested yesterday at Randolph street and Michigan avenue. Those seized are Theresa Bowen, 36 years old, 4710 Indiana avenue, and Jean Davis, 30, of 5625 South Park way, both Negroes.

Lt. John Griffith and Sergt. Marshall Pidgeon, who made the arrests, said the women had admitted serving jail terms for confidence games. The Bowen woman was identified by Mrs. Cora Jones, 954 East 55th place, as the woman who obtained $400 from her last July by means of the "Dropping the Pigeon" racket.

This is a scheme in which one operator drops a purse that is picked up by an intended victim. A confederate induces the victim to post money to show good faith pending division of the money found in the purse. The swindler then disappears with the posted money.

Raid Alarm Interrupts Red Army Fete at Chungking

No enemy planes appeared over the city, however. Central News agency reported 15 Japanese planes bombed the important town of Liuchow in Kwangsi province.

CARGO SHIP SINKS A JAP SUB AFTER BEING TORPEDOED

Destroyer's Guns Blast Nazi Submersible.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—The navy announced today the sinking of a German submarine in the Atlantic and a Japanese submarine in the Pacific, and Secretary Knox said every available weapon is being used to bring the Atlantic U-boat menace under control.

Knox told a press conference losses of merchant ships in the Atlantic have been much lower in the last three months, but the submarine, he said, "most emphatically still is a very grave menace."

Evidence of this was plain in the navy's announcement yesterday of the sinking of two passenger-cargo ships in the Atlantic early this month with more than 850 persons dead or missing.

Ship Is Abandoned.

Of the two enemy submersibles announced today as having been destroyed, the German boat was sunk in a fight with a destroyer in the Atlantic while the Japanese was wrecked by the armed guard crew of an American merchant vessel which it had torpedoed.

The Japanese submarine skipper, the navy said, "made one mistake—it proved to be his last." After the torpedo hit he surfaced his craft and sent a shell over the merchantman. The sub then opened up with a machine gun.

Lt. Charles E. Southern, 32, of Nashville, Tenn., commanding the vessel's armed guard, opened fire with its after gun. Another gun crewman opened up with the forward gun. Only four shells were fired but two were direct hits.

Survivors Are Rescued.

As the sub began to sink machine guns poured 400 rounds into it. "She was definitely sunk," the navy said.

Casualties had been few and survivors put off in life boats and on rafts. They were rescued the next afternoon, but Capt. Jack Edgerton, the armed guard, and part of the crew again boarded the torpedoed vessel for its tow to port by an allied ship.

"The precious cargo was saved. The torpedoed vessel is being used again. The Japanese submarine is out of action forever," said the navy.

Destroyer Sinks U-Boat.

Capt. Stanley Cook Norton, 48, of Portland, Me., was commander of the destroyer division whose flagship blasted the sub in the Atlantic and for his part in the affair he received the navy cross, the navy announced.

Twisting and turning as it attempted to escape the barrage of shells, the sub fired a torpedo but skilful seamanship got the destroyer out of the way just in time. One shell tore into the submarine's conning tower at the water line.

"Destruction of the U-boat was complete," the navy said.

TELL NAZIS WE CAN USE GAS TOO, CHURCHILL URGED

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP). — Reginald Purbrick, Conservative member of parliament, has asked Prime Minister Churchill to notify the German people that Britain has "sufficient stocks of death dealing gas to destroy the whole population of Germany, civilian as well as military." He made the request in a written question, drawing attention to Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbel's speech yesterday in which he said the Germans intended to wage total war "beyond any extent which can be imagined."

TELLS ABOUT FROZEN BODIES IN BOATS OF SHIP SUNK BY SUB

Robert Weikart.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 23 (AP).—Many persons who escaped to lifeboats in one of the torpedo sinkings of two passenger cargo ships which left 850 "known dead or missing" in the North Atlantic early this month were found frozen to death the next morning, Robert Welkart, 20 year old navy signalman, said today.

"We got word that a ship had been sunk during the night," said Welkart. "I was upon the signal tower when we reached the spot, just as dawn lighted the scene.

"Lifeboats full of men swirled about us, and we saw hundreds of bodies in the water. It took me a while to figure out why we didn't stop to pick any of them up—they were frozen to death at the oars of their lifeboats.

"The attack must have been a complete surprise, for many of them hadn't even had time to dress. They jumped into their boats with their life jackets, if they had time to grab them."

NEW YORK HAILS 700 SAILORS OF FRENCH FLEET

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—With cries of "vive la France" and "vive De Gaulle," 700 fighting sons of France marched thru New York streets today under a traditional shower of torn paper as thousands of New Yorkers cheered.

A formal reception for the men, sailors and officers from the battleship Richelieu and the cruiser Montcalm, was held at city hall plaza by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia and army and navy heads.

Vice Adm. Raymond A. Ferand, head of the French naval mission here, said in his address that he came "to this noble land not to make speeches but to get ready to fight; to prepare our ships for the battle against the vilest of foes."

"We cannot change the past, but it is not, thank heavens, too late for France to resume her place in the fight for her right to live," he said.

Report Axis Tanker Sunk Held 3,000,000 Gal. of Gas

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 23 (AP).—A large axis tanker destroyed by R. A. F. torpedo planes on Sunday night was reported today to have carried 3,000,000 gallons of gasoline. Malta based planes sent four torpedoes into the ship and she went up in flames. The sinking was announced in a communique yesterday.

JAP WARSHIP AT RABAUL BOMBED BY YANK FLYERS

Three Hits Scored; Dock Fires Started.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, Feb. 24 [Wednesday]—(AP).—A Japanese cruiser or destroyer has been bombed and damaged at Rabaul, New Britain, the allied high command announced today.

"Our heavy bombers attacked enemy shipping and shore installations just before dawn, scoring three direct hits with 500 pound bombs on a cruiser or large destroyer and hits within 25 feet of a 7,000 ton cargo vessel," Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique reported.

"Fires were started along the waterfront and, in Ataliklikun bay, two schooners were strafed from low altitude. Intense anti-aircraft fire was encountered thruout the attack."

Bomber Fights 10 Planes.

A single heavy allied bomber fought it out with 10 Jap fighters, shooting down two and perhaps three, over Portuguese Timor, and bombed the Penfoei airdrome at Koepang. Two waves of allied bombers started fires among buildings at Toeal, a Japanese occupied town on the Kai Islands.

Other planes carried out sweeps in the vicinity of Lae, New Guinea. MacArthur's planes swarmed all around the approaches to Lae and Salamau, raiding villages.

Attack units spent eight hours last night shuttling back and forth in the Wario river area between Buna and Salamau, raiding villages and shooting up enemy barges.

Kiska Again Raided.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—American bombers have smashed at Japanese bases in the North and South Pacific, the navy announced today. All United States planes returned safely.

Liberator heavy bombers and Mitchell medium bombers with Lightning escort bombed Japanese positions as Kiska, in the Aleutians.

Liberator bombers attacked Japanese positions at Vila on Kolombangara Island and at Munda on New Georgia Island. Results of the bombing at Vila were not observed, but fires were started in the Munda area.

Munda has been attacked at least 74 times since Nov. 23.

Italian Workers Riot for Peace, Morocco Reports

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—The Morocco radio said today that troops had been called to suppress disturbances at the Fiat works in Milan, Italy, where the workers were said to be demanding peace. The Fiat works, vital to the Italian war industry, have been a main target of R. A. F. raids.

SEE PEACE MOVE BY SMALL LANDS IN POPE'S TALKS

Hungarian, Argentine Aids Visit Pontiff.

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 23 (AP).—Pope Pius XII. received the secretaries of the Hungarian and Argentine legations at the Vatican today in a continuance of conversations which, since the arrival of Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York, have given new impetus to rumors of a hope for a separate peace by the small nations of Europe.

Archbishop Spellman, who has seen the pope three times in as many days, carried on discussions privately.

Whether the visits to the pontiff by the Hungarian and Argentine secretaries were connected with the archbishop's mission remained for speculation, but Vatican observers considered this conclusion logical. It was pointed out that Hungary is one nation desiring peace and Argentina is one thru which negotiations could be carried on.

[In Washington, D. C., President Roosevelt said the primary objective of Archbishop Spellman's trip to Europe was to visit military and naval units. Asked whether the archbishop was on a mission for him or carrying any message to the Vatican, the President said he could not comment, but disclosed he had seen the archbishop before his departure. The President said the churchman was making the journey in his capacity as a chaplain-bishop.]

A Rome dispatch to the newspaper Die Tat suggested Spellman's visit was undertaken in an effort to influence the Vatican toward a more lenient view of Russia and for a discussion of the position of the allied nations toward the eastern and south-eastern states of Europe.

The Rome correspondent said the impression was gaining strength that the Anglo-Saxons wished to give Russia a sphere of influence in east Europe.

EFFORT TO HALT GANDHI FAST ON 14TH DAY FAILS

Viceroy Rejects Plan as Prisoner Weakens.

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 23 (AP).—An attempt to end the 21 day fast of 14

Mohandas K. Gandhi, now in its 14th day, by a compromise between the Indian nationalist leader and Viceroy Linlithgow failed today.

The latest scheme designed to end the hunger strike which Gandhi undertook in protest over the viceroy's refusal to release him from confinement in the palace of the Aga Khan at Poona was instituted by Englishmen and Indians.

Horace Alexander, member of the British parliament who has been serving in India as a representative of the Quaker Relief agency, first conferred with the fasting Hindu leader at Poona.

After the conference, he advised Chakravarthi Rajagopalachari, a member of a recent conference of Indian leaders seeking Gandhi's unconditional release, that under certain conditions Gandhi might end his fast.

Conditions for Release.

Indians here were advised by Alexander that the conditions, which had not yet been put to Gandhi, however, were:

1. That the viceroy send to Poona an accredited representative bringing proof of the viceroy's contention that Gandhi and his All-India Congress party were responsible for the violence which broke out following the leader's arrest.

2. That Gandhi be permitted to see members of the Congress working committee, who also are in jail. It was agreed that all should remain in detention during the meeting.

This proposition was placed before the viceroy by an English intermediary. Early this morning the intermediary informed Rajagopalachari and other Indian leaders that the viceroy had rejected the proposal.

Condition Becomes Worse.

POONA, India, Feb. 23 (AP).—Mohandas Gandhi completed the second week of his planned three weeks' fast tonight and all India anxiously followed reports showing the 73 year old nationalist leader is becoming steadily worse.

Authoritative sources said Gandhi's physicians were concerned over the weakness of his heart and kidneys.

Illinoisan Urges Release.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—A plea for release of Mohandas Gandhi before his fast becomes fatal was made in the house today by Rep. Jesse Sumner [R., Ill.].

BABY MUST GIVE UP SOME OF HIS RATIONED FOOD

Cooking Editor Answers Puzzled Buyers.

BY MARY MEADE.
[Tribune Cooking Editor.]

Here are questions homemakers have asked since the appearance of the point rationing charts Monday.

"I have been using three and four cans of baby food a day. At this rate the baby will take more than half our family's monthly point allowance [three persons, 144 points]. Won't there be some adjustment for families with babies?"

So far, no adjustment is in sight. Mothers must prepare more of baby's foods themselves, or sacrifice the family's points for his sake. Prepare the fruits, cereals, and soups, and buy only the vegetables in cans. Pureeing and chopping vegetables for the baby takes a great deal of time, but more than that, can cause extreme vitamin loss. Canned vegetables have more vitamins as well as greater convenience to recommend them.

Problem of the Stout.

"What are we plump ladies to do about our figures when the only unrationed foods are going to be breads and starchy cereals?"

As long as fresh fruits and vegetables are available there is no need to worry about this matter. Here's a sample reducing diet for a day, for an overweight woman. It contains only 900 to 1,200 calories [a sedentary woman's ordinary requirement is 1,800 to 2,300 calories] and no foods which are yet rationed.

BREAKFAST: Fresh orange juice, wheat germ, an egg, toast, milk [with or without coffee], halibut liver oil capsule.

MIDMORNING: Vegetable bouillon [made at home], water cracker.

LUNCH: Lean meat or fish or cheese made from skim milk, raw vegetable salad, mineral oil dressing, whole wheat bread, one pat butter, milk.

MIDAFTERNOON: Tea with lemon, cracker.

DINNER: Lean meat or fish or oysters, baked potato, pat of butter, cooked fresh greens, lettuce salad, mineral oil dressing, fresh raw fruit without sugar, coffee without cream or sugar.

Special Diet Allowed.

"My husband is allergic to wheat and eggs. How is he going to exist on his 48 points a month?"

Persons whose health requires special diets can obtain extra rations. A physician can make out a dietary list and sign a statement attesting the need for extra rations. The local rationing board will grant them.

"Why are the point values for prunes and raisins so high?"

These dried fruits have been bought for the army and navy in huge quantities—prunes because they are a popular breakfast food, raisins because they go into so many desserts. Figs, apricots, or dates can be had for fewer points at present. They serve the same purposes in cooking.

Vitamin Loss in Drying.

"Is it practical to dry fruits at home?"

There is considerable vitamin loss in most home processes, but it may be a good thing to dry some fruits for their flavor value, if good supplies can be had. Canning them is better. Some stores have good stocks of jar lids and other canning requisites.

PUCKETT GIVEN LIFE; PROTESTS 'I AM INNOCENT'

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 23 [Special].—Will R. Puckett, 64 years old, retired painting contractor, still protesting he was innocent, today was sentenced to a life term in prison by Judge W. L. Parkinson in the Tippecanoe Circuit court. The sentence was mandatory under a jury verdict returned Feb. 16, finding Puckett guilty of second degree murder. The judge told Puckett he had received a fair trial.

Puckett contends that his mail order bride, Mrs. Ella May Puckett, 67, Chicago, was shot to death last Nov. 6 by a hitch hiking bandit after she had refused to give him her purse.

When asked if he had any reason why he should not be sentenced, Puckett exclaimed: "The only thing I have to say is that I am innocent."

His attorneys filed a motion in arrest of judgment, but did not attempt to defend it. This was a move preliminary to asking for a new trial, it was said.

As Puckett was taken weeping from court he raised his arms as if in supplication.

WAR BOND DRIVE FOR NEW CHICAGO IS BEHIND QUOTA

Chicago was $505,681 behind yesterday at the end of the first week in a 40 day campaign to replace the heavy cruiser Chicago, recently lost in the southwest Pacific. Replacement of the ship will be financed thru the sale of 40 million dollars of war bonds. Oscar G. Mayer, chairman of the special drive committee, reported that $794,850 of bonds sold yesterday, when added to the $5,699,469 sold during previous days, brought the seven day total to $6,494,319.

ACT TO REPLACE WAR PRODUCERS NEARING DRAFT

Representatives of Chicago's largest war plants will meet with vocational and technical school officials at a war work clinic tonight to plan the training of more than 75,000 Chicagoans for specific tasks in the expanding industries here, Philip L. McNamee, assistant superintendent in charge of public vocational schools, announced last night.

Spokesmen for such plants as the Buick aircraft unit, the Western Electric company, the Chrysler corporation aircraft engine plant, Bendix aviation plant, and the torpedo producing Amertorp company—all located in or near Chicago—will begin to supply specifications for workers they will need in the next year.

The clinic, to be held at 6:45 p. m. in Lane Technical High school, 2501 Addison street, will attempt to prepare skilled workers to replace present employés who are expected to be called into military service under present selective service plans.

The 10 public vocation and war industry schools, which are now turning out about 7,000 graduates every eight weeks, will be speeded up to supply twice that number in the same period.

POINT RATIONING IS LAST STRAW; GIVES UP STORE

Fruitland, Md., Feb. 23 (AP).—The owner of the largest general store on Maryland's eastern shore said today he could not "be a bookkeeper for the government" and was liquidating the business.

J. Brice Long, co-owner of the store with his brother Conrad, described the point rationing system as a climax of red tape which he said made business virtually impossible.

"If you've seen the papers the last few days," he said, "you know why I'm going out of business. I can't be a bookkeeper for the government."

Long said he had hired two auctioneers to dispose of the stock at any price.

AWAKEN TO FOOD PERIL, NEW DEAL OFFICIALS TOLD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 [Special].—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard clashed tonight with views expressed by William Garfitt, executive vice president of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association, who has predicted food rioting unless the government adopts a positive food program.

Wickard asserted that predictions of food famine and rioting are "intended to destroy morale and to create food panics." He said supplies of food in this country are "very large" in spite of increased lend-lease and military demands and that "if we manage these supplies wisely there will be enough good food for every one in this country."

Asserts Crisis Is Developing.

Garfitt, whose organization is the largest in its field in the world, stuck by his earlier statements in the face of the attacks by Wickard. Disclaiming any intention of provoking food panics, Garfitt said the seriousness of the food situation cannot be overemphasized and that it is essential government officials become awake to this fact.

Garfitt said a crisis in food distribution is developing as a result of the failure of the war man power commission to classify food distribution workers as "essential."

"The government's imposition of price ceilings on a haphazard basis and its failure to assure adequate man power either on the farms or in the food distribution industry are bringing the threat of severe food shortages in this country," Garfitt declared.

Renews Warning of Famine.

He reiterated his assertion of yesterday that unless the government adopts a program to assure adequate foodstuffs thruout the country there will be danger of famine and food rioting.

Secretary Wickard said that for more than a year he has been doing everything in his power to arouse people to the importance of food and the maintaining of food production. He also has emphasized, he said, that the nation has large supplies of food on hand.

He urged all Americans to join in the effort to produce more food, conserve food, and stamp out illegal sales of food.

TELL NEW PLANS TO OUST M'NUTT AS HEAD OF WMC

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 [Special].—The White House is looking for a successor to Paul V. McNutt, director of the war man power commission, it was reported authoritatively today.

Mention of a possible successor to McNutt was coupled with revival of a previous government plan for creation of an equivalent of the British ministry of labor and national service headed by Ernest Bevin.

Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes was reported as slated to head a newly reorganized department of labor several months ago but the plan fell thru. Ickes would have had under him the war man power commission and other labor agencies now operating as independent units.

The former plan, again under discussion, would have shifted Secretary Perkins to the federal security administration and sent McNutt to replace Ickes at the interior department.

The food distribution administration purchased more than 200 million pounds of foodstuffs in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Ohio during January for lend-lease shipment, E. O. Pollock, regional administrator, announced yesterday. Meat purchases, largely pork, amounted to more than 76 million pounds; dairy and poultry products, 31,600,000 pounds; fats and oils, 18½ million pounds; grain and cereal products, 55½ million pounds; fruits and vegetables, fresh or dehydrated, 9,200,000 pounds, and miscellaneous foods, 12,100,000 pounds. Pollock indicated the Russian army would receive the bulk of this food. It included 3,924,000 pounds of dried whole eggs, the equivalent of nearly 12 million dozen shell eggs, and 705,410 pounds of butter.

Charges that the office of price administration's ceiling prices have damaged the Chicago wholesale produce market were made in Washington yesterday. At the same time, Chicago carlot potato shippers declared that "price ceilings developed by some greenhorns in Washington are unworkable, and have disrupted the orderly distribution of potatoes."

Prices of produce in Chicago are considerably lower than in other large consuming centers, and supplies are gravitating to the higher priced sections, William Garfitt, executive vice president of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association, charged in Washington.

The ceilings are based on the highest price charged in a base period, which for tomatoes, snap beans, carrots, cabbage, and peas is Feb. 18 thru 22.

How Chicago Dealer Would Lose.

"For example," Garfitt said, "Chicago has been obtaining from Texas most of the fresh cabbage now sold in grocery stores. During the base period, cabbage was selling in Texas for about $70 a ton. By Monday night, the price had advanced to $100 a ton. A Chicago wholesale dealer, therefore, would have to take a loss of about $300 a carload on each car he bought in Texas to sell in Chicago because his own price ceiling was based on purchases made at $70 a ton."

[Vetegetable association official sticks to warning of famine. Page 8.]

Speaking for the carlot potato shippers, W. J. Engel, president of the Carlot Potato association, charged a black market had grown up in Chicago in potatoes as a result of the OPA price ceilings allowing carlot distributors a 10 cent fee for each 100 pounds shipped. Potato shippers, he charged, have been by-passing the distributors by selling directly to large jobbers and collecting the 10 cent fee for themselves. This has eliminated the carlot distributors on whom depended numerous smaller jobbers and, in turn, thousands of retail stores.

Charges OPA Killed Potato Market.

"The OPA has practically killed the potato market in Chicago," said Engel, a carlot distributor in the South Water street market. "The price ceilings developed by some broken down greenhorns in Washington are unworkable, and they have disrupted the orderly distribution of potatoes. There is an adequate supply of potatoes in Chicago, but it is not being distributed equitably."

Engel said his association had protested repeatedly to the OPA, contending that removal of the price ceilings would restore normal operations. He said the OPA has listened, but had done nothing.

A breakdown in the potato market has been reported to the department of agriculture in Washington, it was learned. In his daily report yesterday Alexander B. Farlinger, senior market specialist in Chicago for the food distribution administration, asserted the potato market was in confusion and that supplies were light because of limited carlot offerings.

Chicago's potato market is the largest in the country, handling about 35,000 carloads a year. Dealers said yesterday that illegal transactions had developed in almost 90 per cent of the trade.

Traders Proceed Cautiously.

Feeling their way cautiously in the first day's trading after the OPA clamped emergency price ceilings on fresh green beans, peas, carrots, cabbage, and tomatoes, the produce merchants of the South Water street market reported the entire market confused and hesitant. They expressed fear that dislocations such as resulted from the potato price ceiling would disrupt trading in all vegetables placed under ceilings.

South Water street apprehension that OPA price controls may force many commission merchants and jobbers to the wall was reflected in the transfer of the offices of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association from 1425 South Racine avenue, in the heart of the market, to Washington.

Association officials said the mounting stream of government regulations originating in the capital made it imperative to move the organization's staff from the scene of market activities to the source of government controls affecting the industry. Only a small office will be maintained in Chicago.

Summary of Situation Here.

In his report, Farlinger surveyed the Chicago fruit and vegetable situation as follows:

Beans, tomatoes, cabbage, celery, and citrus fruits are coming from Florida; beets, carrots, lettuce, cauliflower, broccoli, and citrus fruits from California; tomatoes and peas from Mexico; apples and pears from the northwest; cabbage and lettuce from Arizona, and old crop carrots and turnips from the midwest. He said many of these shipments were light.

This summary of representative retail prices for fresh fruits and vegetables in Chicago stores was compiled after a sample survey of chain, large independent, and smaller food stores:

771,493 IN CITY APPLY FIRST DAY FOR RATION BOOK

Clip Newspaper Forms, Mulcahy Urges.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

Rain held down first day registration of Chicagoans for point food rationing to 771,493 persons who received ration book No. 2 yesterday in the first of four registration days, Michael F. Mulcahy, area administrator of the office of price administration, announced last night. The turnout was 50,000 under the total for the first day of sugar rationing. An additional 260,000 registered in the rest of the metropolitan area, including all of Cook, Lake, and Du Page counties in Illinois, and Lake county, Indiana. Registration in a few of these areas started Monday.

A big increase is necessary today if the deadline is to be met, Mulcahy said. Chicagoans whose last names fall in the F thru H group will register this morning and those in the I thru L group this afternoon.

Tomorrow morning the M thru N group will register and the O thru R group will sign up tomorrow afternoon.

Forms Run Short.

More than 5 million will be registered in the entire area before registration closes Friday night, Mulcahy said.

Except for a shortage of consumer declaration forms in some schools, yesterday's registration ran smoothly. Mulcahy urged that consumers clip the newspaper forms and fill them out before going to register.

Schools were so amply staffed with teachers, mothers, and volunteers serving as registrars that the 22 minute period theoretically alloted each consumer was considerably shortened.

At the Ogden school, 9 West Chestnut street, where 33,000 residents of the near north side had registered for sugar ration books, there were at times more registrars than consumers. A group of 125 students from the Chicago Teachers' college had been expected to assist teachers and others but 300 appeared for work.

Assembly Line Procedure.

Both grammar and high school students were given an opportunity to do a little extra apple polishing by taking turns serving as ushers, callers, and marshals. Many schools performed at least two of the five steps of registration and issuance in different rooms so that consumers moved swiftly along a registration assembly line.

Because of mistakes in ration book No. 1 a few consumers had their books temporarily impounded.

Persons who had filled out their declaration forms clipped from THE TRIBUNE before going to the schools, completed registration quickly. Some confusion arose in mistakes in taking deductions from the declarations. Amounts in excess of five 8 ounce or larger cans, bottles, and jars of foods per person being rationed must be declared.

Woman Lists 600 Cans.

Declarations of food on hand ranged from none to as high as 600 excess cans. A near north side woman, who lives alone, declared the 600 total, explaining that she always bought canned food by the case. A family in Lake Bluff declared an excess of 533 cans.

Declaration of coffee owned on Nov. 28 averaged one or two pounds per person. Consumers are entitled to subtract one pound of coffee per person over 14 years old before making the declaration.

Chinese cooks who registered at the Haines school, 231 West 23d place, claimed that rationing will have little effect on the typical Chinese diet. Henry Joe, manager of the Bean Sprouts and Restaurant Supply company, 2247 Wentworth avenue, explained that bean sprouts, one of the staples of Chinese cooking, are being grown in Chinatown basements. Other vegetables usually are bought fresh, he said.

Mrs. Velma Miles, 9553 Prospect avenue, a volunteer registrar at the Vanderpoel school, 9510 Prospect avenue, plans to supplement her family's diet with chickens raised in her garage. Her husband, Russell, a war worker, sold the family car recently.

Many loop residents, who registered at 228 North La Salle street, said they did not expect to be noticeably affected by food rationing since they eat so many meals in restaurants. Samuel Adler of the Bismarck hotel, a civilian employé of the technical training division of the army air forces in the Stevens hotel, turned in his ration book No. 1 intact. He plans to use book No. 2 for tomato juice.

Bribed Draft Official Gives Up to Serve Term

Andrew J. Weitzmann, former chairman of selective service board No. 109 at 1908 Blue Island avenue, who had pleaded guilty to accepting a bribe from a registrant, surrendered at the United States marshal's office yesterday. He is under sentence to serve a year and a day in a federal prison.

THE NEW POST FOR THE NEW AMERICA

SHELL EGG PRICE CEILINGS GO INTO EFFECT MARCH 6

Wholesale Scale Varying with Seasons Fixed.

Shell egg dealers will be able to obtain from 41.4 cents to as much as 56.7 cents a dozen from Chicago grocers for United States grade A large eggs during 1943, and from 39.4 to 48.5 cents a dozen for grade B, the most common classification, under the new office of price administration maximum price order, wholesalers reported yesterday. The order, announced yesterday, becomes effective March 6.

The ultimate price of shell eggs to the consumer will be established within a few days by regulations fixing markups over cost so that the entire new system will be operative March 6. The markups will vary with the class of retail store—higher markups will be permitted for small independent grocers than for large chain stores.

Foresee Lower Spring Prices.

The effect of these orders, the OPA announced, will be to lower retail egg prices a cent or two a dozen this spring, but will raise average prices for the entire year 1 to 2 cents compared with 1942 price levels.

Under yesterday's order the wholesale ceiling price in Chicago for grade B eggs will be 39.4 cents a dozen for March, April, and May. The ceilings fluctuate with seasonal rises and falls in production so that by the end of June the maximum will rise to 40.5 cents and by November will be boosted to the top of 48.5 cents. Prices will decline again after November.

Uniformity of Prices.

The new wholesale limits and, when the pricing system is complete, the retail ceilings will replace individual sellers' maximums based on the highest prices charged from Sept. 28 thru Oct. 2. The effect of the order, the OPA said, will be uniformity of prices, since the flat cents per dozen wholesale limits and the fixed retail markups will replace individual figures that vary considerably even in the same community.

Chicago is one of nine basing point cities for which wholesale ceilings were established. For other areas, ceilings are computed on the basis of maximums in the base cities, with allowances for transportation, icing costs and grade depreciation. Icing and depreciation allowances are higher in warm weather than in cold periods.

Apply to Four Grades.

The wholesale ceilings, which cover four grades of eggs, apply to sales to retailers, restaurants, institutions and the government and all of its agencies. Maximum prices for shell eggs sold directly to consumers by farmers, wholesale distributors, and all sellers other than retailers will be 17 per cent higher than the fixed maximums announced yesterday.

The OPA set up a similar pricing pattern on types of eggs other than shell. This group includes frozen whole eggs, frozen whites and yolks, liquid eggs, dried whole eggs, and yolks and mixtures and blends.

On the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, shell egg futures scored the sharpest advances of the season when the new ceiling order was announced. Prices climbed as much as .8 of a cent a dozen to new highs for as long as 23 years. Cash prices were firm but unchanged.

URGE LICENSING TO CURB ILLEGAL MEAT SLAUGHTER

Retailers Ask Control Be Taken from OPA.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

The National Association of Meat Retailers yesterday advocated government licensing of all live stock slaughterers and meat packers, processors, wholesalers, distributors and retailers, as a key point in a program for ending widespread illegal operations in meat.

The organization, representing 20,000 dealers in 79 cities, reiterated its demand for the shelving of office of price administration "bunglers," and urged that live stock marketing be restricted to stock yards and other points to be placed under jurisdiction of the department of agriculture.

Would Avoid Point Rations.

These and other points of the dealers' program, they said, would permit the elimination of all present wholesale and retail price ceilings and avoid the necessity for the forthcoming government point rationing program.

Government authority over the industry has been confined largely to enforcement of pure food laws. A move for federal licensing was started, however, in Washington, D. C., recently by OPA officials. Packers and dealers indicated they prefer department of agriculture control to OPA or WPB control because the department is familiar with meat inspection and other aspects of the trade.

While the dealers closed their two day meeting in the La Salle hotel, directors of the American Meat institute, representing the nation's packers, met in the Blackstone hotel to formulate a policy toward correcting what they termed the "desperate" situation in meat.

Licensing Daily During War.

A committee of packers later met jointly with the dealers in an effort to agree on mutual points of policy.

The retailers would limit their licensing plan to the duration of the war. Demanding that price ceilings be scrapped, they asked that all interests, from slaughterers to retailers, "be permitted to operate on a basis which will assure them a reasonable, equitable margin of profit."

Licensing was advocated because "the illegal markets have grown to such proportions as to endanger supplies for the army and navy and requirements for the lend-lease program, and have created an unfair distribution of meat for civilians."

Would Check on Slaughter.

Their demand for department of agriculture policing of marketing was aimed at the rapidly increasing slaughter of animals in the country, out of the usual channels. The department would be authorized to obtain data on all sales to interests other than licensed slaughterers, packers or processors.

Edwin F. Janssen of St. Paul, Minn., headed a committee of retailers that presented the program to the packers. Meat institute officials would make no formal comment on the program, but indicated a belief that some of the existing confusion would be eliminated if one federal agency were placed in charge of all governmental regulations.

"The meat institute is about to reach a definite position on regulation," a spokesman said.

How to make a WAR GARDEN

BY BEN MARKLAND.

After selecting the garden site and deciding what vegetables are to be grown, the gardner's next step usually is that of spading. However, many garden sites require treatment before tilling to insure a successful crop.

It usually is easy to determine if a garden site needs treatment by noting the type of vegetation it supports. If your garden site has grown a healthy crop of weeds in past years, it should support an excellent garden, since one of the basic gardening maxims is "where weeds grow, vegetables will grow."

Similarly, if the prospective garden site has supported a healthy lawn in past years, you can assume that it is of the proper texture and consistency to support a good vegetable crop.

How to Lighten Clay Soil.

The garden site that most commonly needs treatment before spading is that which contains too much clay in its top soil. Such areas will produce fair leaf vegetables such as spinach and lettuce, but do not rank well in the production of root crops: Carrots, beets, and radishes.

To lighten soils of heavy clay content, the best procedure is to spread fine coal ashes or sand over the ground. Either of these nonfertilizing materials may be spread to a depth of one inch over the surface, then spaded under. Compost material, such as grass clippings and dead leaves raked from the lawn last season, also can be used to keep clay soils from packing hard during dry weather.

The second type of soil that needs treatment before spading is the acid or sour soil. Inasmuch as the ground of northern Illinois has a high limestone content, this is not a common deficiency in the Chicago area. Some soils in central Illinois are somewhat acid.

Test for Acid Soil.

Litmus paper, available at any drug store, can be used to test soil acidity. The original color of litmus paper is blue. If a strip pressed between layers of moist soil turns red, the soil is acid and should be treated before spading.

To correct soil acidity, slaked lime can be turned into the soil at spading time. Nearly all building supply dealers sell this material, which should be spread at the rate of 10 pounds per 100 square feet. Commercially manufactured lime products for garden use also are available at many seed stores and florist shops.

Garden plots that have been used year after year without fertilization sholud have manure or commercial fertilizer added during spading, or before seeding. Information on this subject will be given in the next article of this series.

McNUTT REVEALS 6,500 DENTISTS WILL BE CALLED

Nearly all the 6,500 dentists required for immediate service in the army and navy will be taken from the states of Illinois, California, New York, and Pennsylvania, Paul V. McNutt, war man power commissioner, said last night in an address before the 79th annual midwinter conference of the Chicago Dental society at the Palmer House.

To offset the shortage of dentists expected to result in these four states—and already felt in many other states—McNutt declared that some dentists "are going to have to move to new locations in the crowded industrial areas." The shifting of doctors and dentists will become necessary very soon, he said.

McNutt asked all dentists to rearrange their office hours so that patients would be able to visit them without loss of time from work. He suggested longer day hours and evening hours at least twice a week.

As another means of relieving the shortage of dentists, McNutt suggested the extension of clinical services, even inside the larger plants.

McNutt also asked for conservation of dental materials.

DON'T BRUSH FALSE TEETH WITH MAKESHIFT CLEANERS

KITCHEN CLEANSER
TOOTH PASTE
TOOTH POWDER
SOAP

Toothpastes, tooth powders and household cleansers are not intended for dental plates. Many of these "makeshifts" are so abrasive they may ruin costly dentures.

PLAY SAFE . . . USE POLIDENT

Dental plate materials are softer and more easily worn down than natural teeth. Continued use of "makeshift" cleaners may wear down the important "fitting ridges" of the plate. In addition, these "makeshifts" may scratch the polished surfaces, actually causing film and stains to collect faster, cling tighter.

Soaking plates and bridges regularly in Polident dissolves ugly stain and cloudy film that collect daily, cleans those hard-to-reach corners and crevices without the dangers of brushing; maintains their original, natural appearance. Polident is recommended by many leading dentists and approved by leading makers of modern denture materials.

BEWARE OF "DENTURE BREATH"

Polident quickly dissolves daily accumulations of film and stain; leaves plates odor-free and sweet. Millions call it a blessing.

DO THIS EVERY DAY

Add a capful of POLIDENT to ½ glass of water. Stir briskly. Place plate or bridge in this solution for 15 minutes, or longer if convenient. Rinse—it's ready to use.

ASKS MEXICANS, NOT SOLDIERS, TO HARVEST COTTON

Army Orders Troops to Help in Arizona.

Lt. Gen. J. T. McNarney.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 23 [Special].—The use of army troops as Arizona cotton pickers, authorized earlier in the day in an army order from Washington, D. C., by Lt. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, was criticized here tonight by Cecil M. Miller, president of the Arizona Farm Bureau federation.

"It will help some, but I don't think it will meet the needs," he declared.

"Some seem to think that farming can be done by just any one without training, but we have found that farming, too, is an industry requiring skill."

Need Skilled Men.

Miller said that skilled farmers should be left at their work and expressed the belief that the only solution for seasonal labor needs in Arizona, New Mexico, and California is the importation of Mexican nationals "to give us the kind of workers we need."

The army's announcement said that the first use of military units as emergency farm labor was authorized because of the importance of the long staple cotton crop as an indispensable war material. The war department action was impelled, it was said, as a matter of military necessity.

White and Negro soldiers from nearby army posts will be used in Pinal and Maricopa counties, the army said, to relieve an emergency situation arising from the shortage of farm labor. The orders are effective immediately, but officers said there was no information on the number of troops to be employed.

Army Ready to Help.

However, Gen. McNarney assured farm state senators the army stands ready to furlough troops to meet "any farm production emergency."

McNarney, deputy chief of staff, went before a senate agriculture subcommittee as congressional foes of military expansion attributed the severity of the new food rationing allowances chiefly to induction of farm workers into the military service.

He testified that President Roosevelt yesterday approved a plan, submitted by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, for the furloughing of entire military units for use under regular officers, to gather seasonal crops. He said the furloughing of individuals is impracticable.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

A. J. writes: "As a single man I worked five months of 1942 and earned $800 as a civilian. I also served as a soldier for the following five months and earned $400, making a total of $1,200 earned in 1942. On what amount am I allowed to claim exemption?"

ANSWER: You would pay a tax on all earned income in excess of $750 unless you have valid deductible items not mentioned in your letter. Men in active military service are welcome to our article "Yank's Guide to 1942 Income Tax" if they send us a self-addressed envelope or postage.

F. P. C. asks: "I believe I have heard that pre-medical training was to be reduced to 15 months by the army. Is this possible?"

ANSWER: No, it is not true. Brig. Gen. Joseph N. Dalton, in charge of the army's specialized training division, insists, "Medical curricula will be unchanged, each school continuing to establish its own [standards]," which means the present average of 36 months probably will be adhered to in most instances with possible minimum of 18 months the lowest possible limit acceptable.

E. C. B. writes: "I have been 3-A right up to two weeks ago when I received a notice from my board that I was 1-A. I wrote a letter to my draft board saying that I wanted to make an appeal, and asked for a hearing before the board. Instead of getting the hearing before the board I only got to talk with the appeal agent. How does the draft board have the right to refuse an appeal?"

ANSWER: When a registrant is reclassified from 3-A to 1-A, he has a right to appeal the draft board's decision if there are any new or unusual facts or circumstances operating which were not included in his questionnaire and not in his file when he was classified. If the registrant wishes to have a hearing before his local board, he should send them a letter stating why he takes exception to their decision and ask for a hearing. The draft board must afford the registrant this opportunity to state his case. If the board decides to retain the registrant in 1-A, the board is required to send the registrant formal notice of their decision, and he has 10 days from the date on the draft board's second notice to appear at the board office and sign for an appeal to the board of appeals on the back of his questionnaire. In every instance, the registrant should seek the advice and assistance of the appeal agent attached to every board, and in order to be certain that he does not lose his right of appeal, perhaps the registrant's first step should be to sign for an appeal on the back of his questionnaire and then consult the appeal agent. We have an article "Right of Appeal" outlining the various steps in making an appeal which we will send to registrants sending us a large self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HOUSE APPLAUDS MOVE TO DELAY FATHERS' DRAFT

Kilday Raps McNutt and Pleads for Bill.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rep. Paul J. Kilday.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Rep. Paul J. Kilday [D., Tex.] was warmly applauded in the house today when he called upon congress to save married men with children from the draft "until the last possible second."

Blasting at Paul V. McNutt, man power director, Kilday charged that it would be unnecessary to break up families by drafting their heads if the man power problem were adequately met.

"The family is the cornerstone of our nation," Kilday said.

Favors Dependency Recognition.

He spoke in defense of a bill he has introduced to prevent calling of married men with children to the last. The bill would divide draft registrants into categories so that men would be called in order of dependency upon them—those with no dependency first and those with the least dependency next.

Under his bill, the categories would be called by turn, and classes after the first in each state could not be called until the preceding class had been exhausted. The categories would be drawn up after deferments had been made for occupational reasons.

Kilday assailed announcements of the selective service commission that heads of families must soon be called.

Raps Absenteeism.

He charged that the man power commission could do much to delay the drafting of married men with children by halting absenteeism in the nation's industry. Because absenteeism has not been stopped, Kilday asserted, the 48 hour week has not actually been put into effect.

Kilday said there is another large pool of man power that should be tapped before fathers are called: The million draft age civilian employés he said are on the government pay roll.

"Nothing has been done," he said, "to see that only those essential to the war are in that list."

Moreover, the congressman asserted, the army added to the man power problem by raising its physical standards to conform with those of the navy. He suggested that perhaps the standards of both services are higher than they need be, and said that if they were lowered hundreds of thousands more of young men might be available.

This much can be told: On the battlefronts of the world, the products of the American Petroleum Industry are playing an ever-increasing, swiftly growing part. So as you tear the little coupon from your gasoline ration book, remember that your tire and fuel savings are your minor contribution to victory; and be grateful that your boy and your neighbor's boy need no gas coupons to fill the tanks of their war vehicles, need no ration certificates to get tires.

Phillips long and costly peacetime research is now paying wartime dividends. THE EMPTY CORNUCOPIA.

After weeks of spasmodic meat shortages, after publication of the OPA ration schedule which admittedly is designed to cut down consumption of canned, dried, and frozen foods by 57 per cent, Americans still find it difficult to believe that there is any real reason why they should go hungry.

The burocrats in the department of agriculture admit that the situation is "plenty serious." We may not see the food riots that have been predicted by William Garfitt, executive vice president of the fruit and vegetable trade association, but every housewife learned months ago that shopping for food had ceased to be a picnic.

But is this not the best fed country in the world, the country which all those burocrats who now admit the gravity of the food situation have been telling us would have to feed most of the rest of the world? Is the American cornucopia a myth or are its contents being wasted by mismanagement?

We know that the same planless planners who are proclaiming America to be the larder of democracy have been doing all that any one conceivably could do to hamper agricultural production. Farms are stripped of labor for arms plants and the army and navy. Joe Weiner, a city lawyer, cuts the supply of machinery for American farmers to the bone while boosting the quotas for lend-lease export. The price formulas of the OPA theorists threaten beef raisers with bankruptcy and force them to market their stock half fattened.

These evils on the production side are beginning to be widely recognized, and congress probably will move to correct them soon. But what is happening in the field of distribution and consumption?

Washington authorities have been active in promoting the story of a vast black market in meat. This is supposed to obscure all of their own sins of omission and commission by turning the public wrath against an unidentified group of racketeers. There undoubtedly is a black market. Its extent is problematical, but the reason for its existence is plain. It is the insane price policies of the OPA, which have forced many dealers to do business on an illegal basis or do no business at all.

There are also abnormal drains on our food supply, principally those of lend-lease and of the army and navy. For some reason the administration seems to be ashamed of its lend-lease activities. Misleading statistics have been released, such as those quoted in all sincerity by a spokesman for meat retailers, who said that only one in 500 pounds of fresh meat goes for lend-lease. Lend-lease uses virtually no fresh meat; the shipments are of canned, smoked, or dehydrated meat.

Actually, the department of agriculture has reported, 1,564,584,000 pounds of beef, pork, and lamb were purchased for lend-lease in 1942 out of a total production in the country estimated by the department at 21,700,000,000 pounds. How much was shipped abroad is not known. The estimate of production is probably too high, but, even so, lend-lease purchases took one pound in every 14. Furthermore, they were greatly accelerated in the second half of last year, so the present ratio probably is considerably higher. We did not start shipping meat to Russia in any considerable quantity until midyear, but pork purchases, most of which the Russians got, were 9.8 per cent of the total 1942 pork production.

Army and navy purchases are another important factor in all food markets. No one will dispute the right of the fighting men of this nation to the best food, and all they need, but that does not excuse extravagant and excessive purchasing by office soldiers. When an organization is given a blank check, as the army and navy have been, there is an understandable tendency to guard against any failure of supply by accumulating excessive reserves.

The administration should be required, as a first step toward solving the food shortage problem, to give congress a complete and accurate statement of its food purchasing activities. The contention that such figures are a military secret, if any one is so presumptuous as to raise it, is obvious poppycock. The army and navy should be required to report, lend-lease authorities should be required to report, and former Gov. Lehman should be required to tell whether he is filling warehouses for the purpose of buying votes in a post-war choice of president of the world.

A NEW SEDITION BILL.

The judiciary committee of the senate has wisely decided to give further consideration to the so-called war security bill. Only 6 of the 18 members of the committee were on hand a few days ago when by a vote of 4 to 2 the bill was approved. Thanks now to the efforts of Sen. Wheeler of Montana, Sen. Langer of North Dakota, and Sen. Wherry of Nebraska, amendments are to be added to safeguard the civil rights of American citizens.

Administration spokesmen said the bill was intended to do no more than close a few gaps in our existing laws against sedition. Sen. Wheeler and his colleagues found a great deal more than that in it. He characterized the bill as the most dangerous piece of legislation ever introduced in congress. The proposed law, he said, would have added little or nothing to the nation's present protections against saboteurs and spies, but would have handed the burocracy an instrument for the prosecution of political opponents.

Certainly congress should examine this measure with more than ordinary care, even after it has been amended. On the face of it the bill is an attempt to sidestep the constitutional provisions regarding treason. The Constitution defines the crime narrowly and requires in addition that there be at least two witnesses to establish an overt act. A great deal of bloody history had gone into the writing of section 3 of article 3. The men who drafted the Constitution, knowing how often the crown had rid itself of political opponents by charging them with treason, resolved that there should be no such abuses in this country.

The attempt to evade the constitutional provisions would be alarming at any time and is doubly so now because the department of justice as presently directed is accustomed to using the penal laws to coerce political dissentients. Often the mere threat of indictment has been enough. When it isn't the department uses its press agents and its partisan newspapers and broadcasters to arouse prejudice against the defendants it is seeking to convict.

The administration suffered a stinging defeat in the last election. It was a bitter experience for the New Dealers, one they had not known before. They realize now that their era of power is drawing to a close. Many of them are desperate and they are therefore not above using desperate means, including terror, to avert the evil day. Congress should bear these circumstances in mind when examining the new sedition bill. This is no routine amendment of the criminal code.

THE CHARACTER OF AN ALLY.

Our relations with Russia may bristle with difficulties in the not distant future and altho it may seem unwise to discuss them now it may be greater folly to ignore them. Coördination for war is not difficult. The need is so great and imperative that it drives thru every other consideration than the one of the common danger. We should give the Russian armies and the Russian people everything we can possibly send them to enable them to finish the job they have undertaken. They are fighting to exterminate Hitler and the more success they have the easier the struggle will be for our men.

The Russians may think Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt, having promised a flood of supplies, have delivered a trickle. They may also think that the inability to start a continental attack in Hitler's rear is at best a strange military aberration. Russia may be ironic and derisive underneath the surface of required politeness. That we could understand.

The Russians, having taken a savage pounding in 1941 and another in 1942, with a loss of men, material, key cities, territory, and resources that might have knocked any other nation out completely, were able to bring off the present offensive which has canceled nearly all the Nazi gains of the summer and has included the most humiliating defeat a German army ever suffered. Contrasted with this exhibition of military recuperation, resourcefulness, and stanchness, Great Britain and the United States, which have been at least four years, in one instance, and two years and a half, in the other, in raising armies and equipping them, have been unable to throw a force into Europe, altho Russia has been engaging Hitler's attention and occupying the larger part of his army for a year and a half.

We ourselves may know the explanations of this and they may be fairly good without appearing so to the gentlemen who in the Kremlin have survived many desperate months. Stalin's Mona Lisa smile has no mystery behind it. This is a tough egg and any soft boiled one who at a peace table mistakes his vis-à-vis will have some bumps as a memento of the foregathering. If Germany should now repeat its 1918 behavior and go to pieces three months after reaching its military high water mark, the best Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt could expect in continental Europe would be to have the door closed politely on them. If they took umbrage and complained they might have it slammed in their faces.

All the promises have been on one side, all the performance on the other. Stalin could quote Mr. Churchill himself on this subject. Mr. Churchill in writing of the Versailles conference expressed the opinion that America's contribution on the battlefield had not entitled it to raise its voice so loudly at the peace table. He may recognize his own argument when it is turned against him.

Stalin has already let it be known that Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania are not to have their liberty as independent states and that Bessarabia is staked out for Russia. What will happen to that unfortunate bad guesser, Finland, isn't shown in the crystal ball. Stalin is about to issue a pamphlet blasting its government as an evil thing.

A species of censorship which invokes the odium theologicum is raised against any frank discussion of the soviet government. That is said to be doing Hitler's dirty work. If this maniac can force us to accept Josef Stalin as a liberty loving crusader, the Nazi grip on American opinion is a grotesque perversion not only of what we think we're doing to avoid malignant influences but of what Hitler thinks he's doing to establish dominion over opinion here. His ranting against his bête noire is then to make it impossible for us to estimate truthfully a dictator's character, to recall what he has done, or to anticipate his future actions in the light of his past performances. That's boiling us soft.

The victories of the Russian armies, the devotion and the sacrifices of the Russian people have not changed the character of the man who stepped to power over the bodies of his associates, who was ruthless in his coercion of the people themselves, who fought the war against Finland which the world thought was conscienceless, who met the Polish refugees fleeing from the Nazi onslaught with his own bayonets and machine guns, and who extinguished the liberties and independence of the Baltic states. He smiles when he discusses war problems with allied chiefs, he gives good dinners, and he cracks jokes. But who ever thinks that Josef Stalin has changed his character is indulging in sentiment which may become his own enemy.

THE COMPANY HE KEPT.

While the New Deal burocracy and the Democratic ward heelers of Washington and 30 odd other cities were paying $25 to $100 a plate at Washington's birthday dinners to get the party out of hock, Mr. Roosevelt remained in the White House. We do not know how he would have enjoyed his surroundings if he had chosen to dine out, but at home he was in unexceptionable company.

Mr. Roosevelt was communing with great spirits and great thoughts. He was with Washington at Valley Forge. His mind dwelt on the precepts of St. Paul on charity. The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence were remembered with approval. And finally Mr. Roosevelt turned to the most inspiring of all thoughts given to the guidance of man —the Sermon on the Mount.

Mr. Roosevelt is the President, the titular head of the Democratic party, and, as he so often reminds us, the commander in chief. He spoke in none of these rôles when he addressed the Washington day dinners. Perhaps the righteousness of his address grew out of an association of the moment with the most elevated characters and sentiments in history, but, at any rate, he spoke as a man so certain of his own rectitude that he could afford to be concerned with the spiritual welfare of 130 million others. It was unselfish of him.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

ALL IN THE FAMILY.

This column's contributing poet, Uncle Louie, who abandoned bookselling for quartermastering last fall, surprised Michigan avenue a few days ago by an unexpected reappearance in uniform. He spent the winter at an air base in the far northwest, and is now headed for—but we're getting ahead of the story.

* * *

Uncle Louie rose rapidly in his new profession, passing thru the grades of pvt., acting corp., corp., and acting sergt. He worked, and drilled, and kept books, and passed the gasoline for 12 or 14 hours a day, and then relaxed by writing verses for the Line, editing a camp news bulletin called Statement of Charges, and tossing off the lyric for a quartermaster corps song which may become as famous as "The Caissons Go Rolling Along" if it finds the right bandmaster to compose the music. Whenever he cooked up a ditty to send this column he would have to get it "cleared" by an intelligence officer, who would say, "All right, but I'm going to keep it, too," and presently Corp. LeVan Roberts would hear his own barrack room ballad over the camp radio.

* * *

One day his commanding officer said, "Go before the examining board as officer training material," and Uncle Louie knew that the first duty of a soldier is to obey orders. He stood before the board at attention, mind as cool as a cucumber but knees trembling, and answered dozens of questions, many of which had nothing to do with quartermastering. Two hours later he was ordered to proceed to Virginia for a course of study at the quartermaster corps school, an ancient seat of learning, and a few months hence he will emerge from its ivied halls as Uncle 2d Louie, commissioned to order lesser men about with a crisp, military voice.

* * *

Like a good soldier of the Line, he reported to this column shortly after his arrival. This temporary homecoming was like a glimpse into every one's dream of the future, when the boys come home to stay.

AN IMMORTAL ENTRY.

(Guadalcanal.)

The busts of famous heroes niche these walls
Where an hourglass or clock is never seen,
While the shining splendor of these marble halls
Has yet to dazzle some poor mortal being.

A bearded scribe writes in this place of fame
Of ages past and ages yet to be;
Before him looms a book; Time is its name,
And in it are brave deeds of history.

The ancient quill bites deep in blood and sweat
To proudly scratch across a page of Time,
A splendid deed which men shall not forget
When tapers glow within our nation's shrine.

This deed men wrought beneath a southern sky,
Three thousand miles away from loves and homes,
Not only smashed a tyrant's plans awry
But laid the score for future epic poems.

The Pacific booms its ceaseless requiem
For guys like Tom, and Bill, and Ed, and Joe,
Who proved the mightier the stake in them
The greater common struggle against the foe.

Nostalgia for Old Style "Punkin Pie."

Linemaster: As a pressed flower in an old book of poems may bring memories of the past, so does "pumpkin pie" on a menu recall happy times when cooks were liberal and stomachs strong. The modern version is an anemic, pepless development of these decadent times. The original article was a veritable creation, to which the ambrosia of the Greek gods would run a poor second. It was called "punkin pie" and was something like this:

A dark, reddish punkin was cut into slices, which were peeled and cut into cubes. These were stewed in a heavy cast-iron kettle over a wood fire for hours, until dark as mahogany, then seasoned with liberal quantities of all the spices of the East Indies. Eggs with yolks dark and rich were added, along with crumbly, deliquescent "Coffee C" sugar bearing the delicate aroma of the sun-kissed cane of Cuba.

Then laid gently in its couch of dough, it was baked until the edges of the crust were as fragile as the tiny shells of the seashore and the overlying film showed black spots like a ripe pawpaw. The spicy aroma filling the kitchen is one of the fond memories of boyhood.

"Backward, turn backward, O, time in your flight." Help me digest it, just for one night!

Her cooking I can't overrate;
But this is the truth, so help me, forsooth:
She can't slice a loaf of bread straight!

She starts with the best of intentions;
The first slice or two will be fine,
But time and again, before she cuts ten,
She'll be a full inch out of line.

The energy waste is enormous;
Her nerves and her patience are frayed;
And all the bread lost just runs up the cost
Of food till she's frankly dismayed.

So please, Mr. Byrnes, or whoever
Today is the nominal head
Of food rules and such—I'm not asking much—
Just give back our ready-sliced bread!

Comfort in the Shoe Crisis.

Now that shoe rationing has started, there will be a gradual lowering of standards. Worn and rusty shoes will be used without fear of criticism. If only this had happened when I was a small boy it would have saved me shame and suffering at the hands of a master at school.

I can see him now, standing over me with his grizzled beard and blazing eyes, bending the ends of a cane between his hands to test its resiliency.

"If you can't shine in the head," he raged, looking at my muddy shoes, "you could at least shine in your feet."

POISE AND THE STAMMERER.

THE stammering youngster needs help. It is never wise to assume that the difficulty will be outgrown. It may be, but it is not safe to allow the condition to drift. It may become worse.

If I had my way about it, proper diction would be a part of the required course of study beginning with the first grade. We all realize that the tendency to slide over words is widespread. How often have we heard the expression, "Jeet?" meaning, "Have you eaten your luncheon?"

Many of these unfortunate children are fluent when they are alone. But anxiety and embarrassment are not the only factors. Primarily, the defect concerns the voice. The lips and the tongue form the words over and over again, but the tones fail to come. Then it is that we must look to incorrect sound control as the basic cause.

If fear is responsible, we are confronted with a real battle. The one who cannot enunciate must be assisted to achieve self-confidence. The expert rifle shot, once he becomes jittery, may miss time after time. The trouble is that his thoughts are distracted. He is unable to concentrate upon what he is doing.

The remedy for stuttering is attention. The sufferer must be able to focus all his thoughts upon the job at hand. Most of these victims find that they appear to lack breath. There just isn't "wind" enough to make the vocal cords vibrate.

But a huge lung capacity will not compensate for accurate behavior on the part of the sound producing apparatus. Breathing exercises, while valuable, are not the only answer. Far more important is the fact that the individual can govern the machinery in the larynx. First of all, it is essential to persuade the patient that he must utter his sentences slowly, firmly, and smoothly. Deliberation can become a matter of routine until sufficient power has been acquired. Thereafter he can speed up gradually. As poise is gained, the voice box will be managed better. In fact, every stammerer should listen to his own articulation and thus become word conscious.

As a rule, the patient can be assured that he has a normal larynx. But he uses it the wrong way. If he can sing the words he can speak them. To put it another way, he has created his own predicament by stumbling over certain syllables. Divorced from embarrassment, he may be able to engage in ordinary conversation. The reason calmness must be acquired is because it betokens clear tones.

We must not forget that good general health is an aid. We all know individuals who—when run down, ill, or exhausted—revert to the habit of stuttering, which perhaps disappeared years ago. In addition, during intense excitement or moments of stress, the symptom may be exaggerated. Figuratively, the driver has dropped the reins and the horses are running away.

But great patience is essential. An expert teacher should take every addict in hand as soon as the disorder has been recognized. Parents can do much. The lad who is so full of his story that he wants to tell it all at once can be admonished to slow down.

KIDNEY STONES.

K. W. writes: If kidney stones are not causing pain, must they be removed?

REPLY.

Distress is not the only sign of trouble. There may be obstruction, injury, or periodic attacks of colic due to a fragment which may break loose and attempt to escape. Follow the counsel of an expert urologist.

A MOVABLE EYE.

A. C. writes: Can a false eye be attached to the muscles so that it may be shifted about like a normal eye?

REPLY.

Artificial eyes are fixed, but owners are frequently able to maneuver them so that they appear quite natural. Muscle attachments are not attempted.

AFFECTS YOUNG CHILDREN.

Mrs. K. writes: What is celiac disease?

REPLY.

This condition, known as Gee-Herter's disease, is characterized by diarrhea and failure of growth. The stools contain large quantities of fat. The malady resembles sprue.

FARMING DEMANDS EXPERTS.

Yorkville, Ill., Feb. 15.—I have no doubt that "H. H. K." is sincere in suggesting that city people take their vacations on farms this summer and help relieve the labor shortage, their pay to be room and board. The latter part of June to the last of August is the normal vacation season. These dates on the average Illinois farm run from the start of haying to the last of threshing.

How many city people can take their place on a hayrack in front of a hayloader, with their soft hands? They might in time, but not in two weeks. Driving a team on the hayfork or pulling the hay up in the barn would be easy, but I would hate to risk my neck and tools with a green man driving the team. When it comes to harvest, we either use a binder and shock the oats for threshing, or use a combine. Just where could I use a green hand on these jobs, except to carry water? As to chores, a green hand would probably never get set down to a cow, let alone milk her.

Threshing is hard manual labor, and you have to be fit to take it. A weak man any place in the gang throws the whole job out of kilter, just the same as it would on a production line. During the city folks' vacation period we are cultivating corn, and we don't do it with horses any more. Try to put a green man on the modern tractor cultivator, moving at five miles an hour, and keep those two rows coming straight between shovels. How many hills of corn do you think he would take out in a day? This job looks easy to the average city man, but I would rather thresh all day than drive one of those machines for 12 hours. In other words, these city people mean all right, but they just don't know what it is all about.

If the people and soldiers of this country are to be fed, the draft boards will have to leave us help to do it. In Sunday's TRIBUNE, the Chicago packers state that they are short 5 million head of hogs, or 450,000 tons of pork, according to estimates of the United States department of agriculture of what should be on hand. H. M. Conway, statistician for the Chicago Producers, predicted this shortage four months ago and got laughed at. He predicts now that the hog crop of 1943 will not beat the '42 crop, and we know that cattle are short 2 per cent. The 1943 corn crop was the largest in our history. Is it reasonable to expect such a crop again this year? A normal crop will be 700 million bushels short compared with 1942.

Think it over, city people. We farmers will probably eat better and live longer than you will, but how about our soldiers? I have lived on and farmed the same farm for 58 years, and I believe that all I have said is supported by experience.

CHARLES G. HOWELL.

RATIONS ON FURLOUGH.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—With all this food rationing soon to start, whose ration can the soldier eat when he comes home on furlough? They are used to good food, and plenty of it, in the army, with as much coffee as they want. Just what will my son eat when he comes home for about 10 days on his furlough, scheduled for some time in May? Surely I can't feed him beans and spaghetti at every meal, when he is used to substantial food in the army, and our ration quota will be just about enough to take care of the rest of the family. Will some one please inform me whose ration our soldier son can eat?

MRS. G. C. RONSCHKE.

GOVERNMENT AS SAVIOR.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 18.—"Famine Threatens U. S. Unless Government Steps In" is the headline on a local newspaper this morning. The story tells of a conference among Messrs. McNutt, Wickard, and others, and the subsequent creation of another board to make recommendations and plans to save the country.

That's what they think. The government is to them almighty and all competent to do the job. But one can't help but think of what the good Book says: "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread." This put it up to the individual to sweat and toil and till and think how he might toil and till and eat. But when government steps in and makes it hard, if not well nigh impossible, for industry and the farmer to toil and sweat except according to prescribed lines, without ever being given a chance to assert ingenuity and take advantage of local and personal circumstances, then indeed "famine threatens the United States" not unless, but because government has stepped in.

American industry and agriculture would long ago have made short shrift of the problems on the home and war fronts if they could have asserted themselves. The sooner the idealists and world dreamers are routed out of control and the American is honestly taken into confidence, the sooner will things change for the better.

REV. N. P. UHLIG.

WHERE THE FIGHTERS CAME FROM.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—There is enclosed a clipping from today's TRIBUNE showing eight alleged pugilists from Kansas City who are appearing in Chicago at the Stadium next week.

I am wondering why they are not in the army; that is where my boy is and he did not wait to be drafted, either.

DISGUSTED.

Editor's Note: The clipping enclosed identified the eight Kansas City boxers as follows: Tony Ancona, Fort Riley; Hy Bronstein, Rosecrans air field; Ruppert Brashears, Kansas City; Willis Applegate, Fort Riley; Johnny Poe, Fort Leavenworth; George Sikes, Fort Leonard Wood; Major Jones, Kansas City; and Levi Southall, Kansas City.

EQUITABLE INCOME TAXES.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—In all this discussion of income taxes, we have never seen our pet theory expounded. It is this: That taxes should not be based on the pay the worker receives today, but rather on the amount of increase in pay since Pearl Harbor.

There are still thousands of cooks, waiters, bookkeepers, clerks, small business men, and persons engaged in hundreds of occupations who are making no more than they did before the boom. To them the 25 per cent tax [19, income, 1 social security, and 5, occupational] is a burden, while others who formerly got these wages now receive such big pay that even after deducting taxes, they receive more money than they ever made in their lives.

So our theory is: Leave the tax as it was in 1941 and put the increase in taxes on the increase in wages.

J. W. BIER.

WORKING STRAIN ON TOOLMAKERS.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Any sane tool and die maker knows that by working 70 to 84 hours a week he can't do justice to himself, nor his employer. The boys at Midland Die and Engraving company, who are insisting on working such hours, may think they're deluding the public, but they're not deluding the veteran tool and die maker. Their motive for working long hours must be strictly a mercenary one.

The mental strain caused by the complicated and intricate working problems in our trade results in a decrease of efficiency after six to eight hours' work. From there on, he must coast. I have seen many tool and die makers fold up at the age of 50, because of the unreasonably long hours they worked during their day.

The boys in our plant work 58 hours a week but have Saturday afternoon and Sunday off to rest and relax for the following week's grind. Therefore, I must agree with Mr. Murphy, state labor director, when he says: "Production suffers when men work longer than 60 hours a week."

WM. F. DOMBROW.

CAN'T ESCAPE THE TAX.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—The 1942 income tax should be collected without doubt. If the American people generally are too dumb to understand that they owe Uncle Sam a considerable slice of last year's income for their global war, it's high time they were told the facts of life. If the American people fall for the idea of forgiving 1942 taxes, with the tremendous commitments congress has made, the astronomical appropriations and obligations taken on to date, then Harry Hopkins was right. "They're too damn dumb to understand."

DEPOSIT BOX CONTENTS.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If a man and wife hold joint tenancy in a deposit box and one of them dies, [2] does the survivor pay inheritance tax on the contents of the box? R. E.

1. It is not clear whether you mean merely joint access to the box, which would not necessarily involve survivorship as to the contents, or whether you mean an agreement for joint tenancy with survivorship of the assets.

2. Depends on the facts. If the arrangement of the box is such that the survivor owns all and if the total inheritance exceeds the exemption, then the survivor will pay inheritance tax.

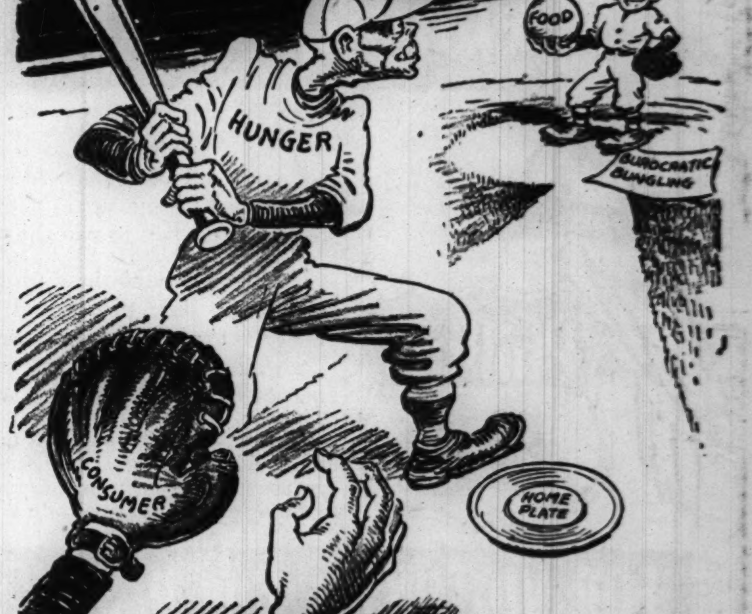
NO TIME FOR A ROOKIE IN THE PITCHER'S JOB



VOTE HOUSE QUIZ ON SLACKERS IN FEDERAL EMPLOY

Charge State Department Protects Many.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Congressional demands for an inquiry into complaints that draft dodgers infest the army and navy civilian services and the government agencies were answered today. The house military affairs committee unanimously approved the proposal of Rep. Forest A. Harness [R., Ind.] for the creation of a subcommittee to make the investigation.

While Harness prepared to plunge into the investigation immediately as a member of the subcommittee, he charged tonight that Secretary Cordell Hull's state department is one of the refugees of the draft dodgers.

"I have been told," he said, "that young men in their 20s have ducked the draft by the score by taking jobs in the state department. They should be driven out. Older men can carry on the work of the state department while these healthy young men are taken out of the cocktail lounges and drawing rooms to shoulder a rifle."

Expect Wide Investigation.

Congressmen predicted that the subcommittee's inquiry will become the most exhaustive appraisal of the nation's man power problem that has been attempted.

Approval of the subcommittee was voted at a lively session in which the outspoken Indiana congressman demanded to know why the army had sent John Hay [Jock] Whitney to London as a lieutenant colonel in charge of public relations for the United States air forces command.

"He'd make a better machine gunner than a press agent in a bombproof shelter," said Harness.

Whitney is a wealthy polo playing social figure, now the husband of James Roosevelt's former wife, who was Miss Betsey Cushing before her marriage.

Navy Is Included.

While the navy civilians would ordinarily be the concern of the naval affairs committee, Harness' proposal that the investigation embrace all civilian government pay rollers includes those attached to the navy. Harness has also asked an accounting of the civilians of draft age who were given army and navy commissions and then assigned to Washington desk jobs.

"This committee," he said, "has a list of several thousand army first and second lieutenants, captains, and officers of higher rank who have been commissioned from civilian life. They ought to be in the positions for which they are most fit. Instead we find them in soft desk jobs."

Committee Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] named Rep. Leslie C. Arends [R., Ill.] to the subcommittee along with Harness. The chairman is Rep. John M. Costello [D., Cal.]. Other members are John J. Sparkman [D., Ala.], E. C. Gathings [D., Ark.], Philip J. Philbin [D., Mass.], and Charles H. Elston [R., O.].

Harness' persistent inquiries regarding the draft age civilians drawing good salaries for working beside $50 a month men in uniform brought from the army last week the report that there are 479,000 civilians of draft age on the war department pay roll.

Admits 8,000 Deferments.

The army insisted that of this number only a little more than 8,000 had been deferred at its request. But Harness replied soon afterward that complaints about draft dodgers were pouring into his office.

The subcommittee lost no time in plunging into its new work, but laid plans to meet today to get the inquiry under way. Harness has asked that members travel personally to army posts and to other government employment centers to learn the facts first hand. It is expected that public hearings will be held.

Col. Edward J. Walsh of the army's legislative liaison division was testifying in favor of removing restrictions on the number of army men who may take specialized training in colleges when Harness inquired about Whitney. The committee approved the suggestion and Walsh said that enactment of the bill will raise the present 2 per cent of the soldiers given this training to 6.

Whitney, Harness told the members, must have the background which the training courses are intended to give the soldiers.

"Then why send him," Harness asked, "to a job in the public relations section? Why not send him where he can do some good in work he knows?"

3 IN BURGLARY BAND CONFESS; FOURTH HUNTED

Three young men in the custody of Jefferson Park police confessed yesterday to burglarizing 25 meat markets and drug stores, according to Policemen Herbert Demke and Barney Konie, who arrested them shortly after midnight at Milwaukee and Central avenues. A fourth, Ignatius Nasrowski, 1656 Division street, who fled arrest and is being sought, was named as an accomplice in the confessions of his companions. Those held are Joseph Grobowski, 19 years old, 1709 North Hoyne avenue; Alex Dougard, 18, of 1728 Potomac avenue, and Julius Derengowski, 17, of 1307 North Damen avenue.

THIEVES MAKE A SWEET HAUL; 16 TONS OF FONDANT

A trailer-truck loaded with 16 tons of fondant, a form of sugar used as a base for confectionery products, was stolen yesterday when the driver left it for two minutes to make a telephone call to the police. The driver, John Sowash, 30 years old, of Peru, Ind., had just scraped fenders with another truck driven by David Hallowell, 28, of Henderson, Ky., while both trucks were southbound in Cottage Grove avenue at 62d street. They parked their vehicles and went into a nearby tavern to make an accident report to the Woodlawn police. When Sowash returned, his truck was gone. The cargo, owned by the White-Stokes company, 3615 Jasper place, was consigned to Brooklyn, N. Y.

SOLDIERS IN U. S. MUST FILE FOR INCOME TAXES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The bureau of internal revenue cautioned soldiers, sailors, marines and coast guardsmen to remember to fill out their income tax returns before March 15. Altho they don't have to pay their income tax until after the war, returns must be filed, the bureau said.

Men in the various branches of the military services who wish to defer payment of their income tax until after the war should make a statement to this effect when filing their returns. It may be in the form of a short letter or note to the commissioner of internal revenue and should accompany the return.

The returns should be sent to the collectors of internal revenue in their home districts whenever possible, the bureau said. If this is impossible, then the return should be filed with the nearest income tax collection officer. Men on duty outside the United States are not required to file returns until 75 days after they return to this country.

WORK OR FIGHT RULE URGED TO CURB LAYOFFS

War Job Absenteeism Rapped in House.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Moved by navy reports that absenteeism is causing a far greater loss to war production than strikes and shutdowns, the house naval affairs committee today approved a government "work or fight" policy for men who take days off without good cause.

The committee made public a navy department letter attributing failures to report for work in part to "Monday morning sickness, meaning resting up from too strenuous pleasures the day before." It said most absences occur on Saturdays and Mondays—especially Mondays.

Report to House.

Sternly, the legislative body urged: "If the conditions cannot be corrected . . . transfer the absentee workers into the armed forces."

The committee's position was stated in a formal report to the house, prepared by Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson [D., Tex.], on its approval of a bill requiring officers of navy yards and stations to tell draft boards the number of days each man is absent from his job without prior authorization.

Absenteeism Increasing.

The navy department informed the committee that last December 12,700,000 man hours were estimated to have been lost thru absenteeism in American shipyards engaged in the construction and repair of naval vessels. The bureau of ships said that a total of 16 strikes and shutdowns in shipyards engaged in naval work resulted in the loss of approximately 170,000 man hours in all of 1942.

"A most serious aspect of this situation is the fact that the tendency toward absenteeism is increasing," the committee said.

FAIL TO VERIFY CREW'S REFUSAL TO UNLOAD SHIP

Committee Makes Report on Marines' Story.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23. — The house naval affairs subcommittee reported tonight that it had failed to find substantiation for complaints that a civilian crew had refused to unload a supply ship for the marines at Guadalcanal, as published in a story by the Akron [Ohio] Beacon Journal.

However, the committee said of the reporter who obtained the data for the story:

"The reporter in this instance may have had every reason to believe that there might have occurred some sort of an incident in Guadalcanal."

The report said it would have been helpful to the inquiry had the Beacon Journal seen fit to divulge the names of returned marines from Guadalcanal on whose accounts the story was based. But the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Warren G. Magnuson [D., Wash.], took cognizance of the newspaper code against breaking confidence with persons who might be harmed for aiding a newspaper seeking to right wrongs.

Upholds City Editor.

The subcommittee said that City Editor Charles C. Miller of the Beacon Journal had been reluctant to give the committee the marines' names and asked that it use other means of assuring itself of the truth of the story without, as he expressed it, exposing to possible punishment a group of lads who had revealed no military secrets.

"We are aware, however," the subcommittee commented, "of the customary practice of newspapers in not revealing sources of such stories."

The report said that the story had been denied by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Maj. Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, who commanded the marines at Guadalcanal, and Adm. William Halsey, naval commandant of the district.

The report stated that the incident could not have failed to be called to the attention of the men responsible for the prosecution of the war in the Guadalcanal area had it occurred as related.

Does Not Condemn Informants.

Despite its failure to find substantiation for the story on the facts it had gathered, the committee had this to say for the marines who supplied the information:

"It may be that the conclusions reached by the military men involved were based upon something they considered factual in their own minds."

The committee further stated:

"It appears from the evidence before us that the paper was cognizant that the navy department itself was taking steps to determine if any such thing had happened at Guadalcanal, and that the navy department expressed its disapproval to the office of censorship to the publication of this story until the investigation was complete.

Passed by Censorship.

"The office of censorship did, however, pass the story."

The reason for the navy investigation has never been completely explained. Emphasis was laid at the hearings on the assertion that the crews are not expected to do the unloading, and that it is customarily done by the marines in war zones where they are stationed. Thus, some observers said, a denial could have been immediately issued without an investigation, if the crew were not intended to do the unloading.

LA GUARDIA HELD TO BLAME FOR N. Y. CRIME WAVE

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 [Special].—Responsibility for the wave of muggings [street attacks on individuals for the purpose of robbery] and rapes in New York City today was laid squarely at the feet of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, who was accused of having deliberately kept the New York police force undermanned during his 10 years in office.

The charges were made on the state senate floor by Minority Leader John J. Dunnigan [D.] in a statement supporting the Hammond bill, which would permit the appointment of temporary police and firemen during the war emergency.

No senator rose to defend the mayor, and the bill was passed unanimously.

Because of the mayor's "molly-coddling of agitators who stand behind the muggers" the whole city is living in dread and fear, Dunnigan said, with branch libraries in outlying districts having to close early for lack of adequate protection.

"The mayor stands guilty of all this," he told the senate. "It is his police department. He is running it. It is about time that he was taken to ask for the conditions which have developed."

THE QUESTION.

What was the most courteous gesture shown you while on the route? [Asked of mail carriers.]

WHERE ASKED.

Employés' entrance, Hyde Park postal station.

THE ANSWERS.

John J. Schmalbach Jr., 4511 Woodlawn avenue—The people on my route really surprised me with a nice gesture the other day. For a week I had been beaming with grins and smiles because I had a new son and they knew it. Then they presented me with a fine gift for the baby.

Anthony Kuttner, 3359 South Oakley avenue—One of our sudden downpours began and I wasn't dressed for it. When one of my patrons saw me she met me with an umbrella. It was courteous to let me keep it for the day.

Isaac E. Spears, 642 East 64th street—One of my customers had left home for the day, forgetting to lock up her vicious dog. When he wouldn't let me deliver the mail a neighbor girl, friendly with the dog, tied him. I was grateful.

Edwin McLendon, 359 East 53d street—One morning I met two drunks who picked a fight. One knocked me down while the other went thru my pockets. A woman passer-by stopped and guarded the mail bag while I took the drunks in tow. She was more than courteous.

J. L. Hopson, 5841 Indiana avenue—The most courteous thing patrons can do for me is to hurry and pick up their packages when I ring to deliver them. Most people are considerate. They know my pack is usually heavy.

C. C. Murphy, 6319 Evans avenue—It happens often that bad weather comes suddenly and it finds us unprepared. People usually are thoughtful. One woman gave me a raincoat and an extra cellophane covering for the mail.

WPB PROHIBITS NEW STYLES OF WOOD FURNITURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The war production board today prohibited the manufacture of any new lines of wood furniture after March 15 and ordered a 65 per cent cut in the number of furniture patterns produced starting July 1.

At the same time wood furniture makers were ordered to reduce the amount of metal used in parts by 30 per cent for the period between now and June 30.

Include Show Cases.

The ban on new lines and reduction in present patterns apply to all common items, including chairs, tables, beds, sofas, porch furniture, and dining room, living room, and bedroom suites. Also included are frames used in furniture production, barber and beauty shop furniture, and store display equipment and show cases.

Manufacturers under the order are limited after July 1 to producing 35 per cent of the patterns offered during September, 1941, or to 24 patterns, whichever is greater. The restriction applies to a manufacturer's lines on an over-all basis, so that if he eliminated one or more lines, he would not have to reduce other lines a full 65 per cent, officials said.

Some Types Exempted.

The order does not apply to certain types of furniture which the WPB already has restricted as to patterns.

Preferred orders for the army, navy, maritime commission, and war shipping administration are exempt from the order.

TAKE PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA Tonight

SAY GOODBYE to those "morning blues." Next time you overeat, or stay up late at a gay party, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia at bedtime and wake up feeling "fit as a fiddle". That's because Phillips' does more than merely neutralize excess acidity—it finishes the job. After settling the stomach, it goes on to act as a very gentle laxative—promotes a mild yet thorough elimination. It's an ideal laxative-antacid. Read directions on package and take as directed thereon or as prescribed by your physician.

Pan American Council to Be Officers' Host

BY JUDITH CASS.

HAVANA, Cristobal, and Rio de Janeiro will seem like familiar ports of call on future expeditions to Chicago army and navy officers who take advantage of the Pan-American council's hospitality during the next few months. On March 13 the council will give the first of a series of four rhumba tea-dances for officers stationed here, an event which will be encored on the second Saturdays in April, May, and June in the Hotel La Salle's Pan-American café.

The first of the parties, which may become monthly year around gatherings, will be a salute to Mexico, Chile, and Brazil. "Local color" will include a vendor in Mexican costume who will sell flowers from a basket atop her head, Latin American wine punch, and music by a rumba orchestra, with perhaps a rumba exhibition. Between 3 and 6 o'clock all army and navy officers will be welcomed as guests of the council, but the special guests of the afternoon will be officers stationed at the Naval Reserve Training school at Northwestern university. A Latin American artist who is in the United States as guest of the state department will speak briefly in Spanish.

The parties, which were the idea of Mrs. Edward M. Tourtelot Jr., assistant to the director of the council, will be under the chairmanship of Mrs. De Witt Davis III. Among the young women working with her will be Miss Cherry Sue Orr, Miss Shirley Garnett, Mrs. Jackson K. Dering, and Mrs. George Owen Fairweather Jr. Each party will be devoted to certain Latin American countries, with officers from one of the army or navy stations here as special guests for the day.

Mrs. Patricia Floto Lynch and John Heller Married.

The news that Mrs. Patricia Floto Lynch and John Heller were married last Saturday in Beverly Hills, Cal., will come as a surprise to Chicagoans, for few friends of the John W. Flotos' attractive daughter knew that she and Reges M. Lynch were divorced earlier this month in Las Vegas, Nev. The former Mrs. Lynch had been spending the winter in California recuperating from an illness. Mr. Heller, whom she has known since they were classmates at the Francis Parker school, also is stationed on the west coast as an army aviation cadet at Santa Ana.

None of the Floto family attended the wedding, but Mr. Heller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heller of Highland Park and Lake Shore drive, arrived in California yesterday. They cut short their stay in Phoenix, Ariz., in order to join their son and his young bride.

At present Mr. Lynch is stationed with the coast guards in Elizabeth City, N. C.

Number of Small Parties Given for Lt. James Otis.

Back from Quonset Point, R. I., where he was graduated on Saturday with the navy's latest A. V. S. class, Lt. James Otis is enjoying a round of small parties given for him by the Otises' friends and Glencoe neighbors. He will leave next Tuesday to report to his new post in Ottumwa, Ia. Mrs. Otis and Joan, James, and Elliott may join him at the close of the school year.

Enthusiasts of the ballet will flock to the Civic Opera house tonight to see the opening performance of the Ballet theater, which will be here until March 7. Mrs. Wentworth G. Field, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick are among those who have taken tickets for a number of performances during the 12-day run.

An add-a-pearl necklace, two $25 war bonds, a dozen dinner plates, and a 50 pound keg of soap chips will be among the prizes claimed by bridge players today at a card party and tea which the Woman's Guild and Auxiliary of St. Chrysostom's church is giv-

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Filled Crescents.
[A rich tea roll.]
[Two to three dozen.]

1 cake compressed yeast, crumbled
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup evaporated milk, heated to luke warm
3 cups unsifted flour
1 cup lard or other shortening
1 teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks, well beaten
½ teaspoon almond extract
½ teaspoon vanilla

Nut Filling:

1 cup nutmeats, chopped fine
½ cup raisins, chopped
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ cup milk

Add yeast and sugar to lukewarm milk and let stand 10 minutes, until yeast puffs up. Meanwhile, cut shortening into flour as for pastry. Add salt, egg yolks, and flavorings to yeast mixture and stir in flour. It will be necessary to knead the flour mixture in at the end. Knead lightly until elastic and divide dough into 6 parts. Roll each out into a thin roundlike pie crust. Cut into 6 to 8 pie shaped wedges and place a teaspoonful or less of filling on each wedge. Roll each up from outside edge of circle to inside to make horns. Place on ungreased baking sheet and turn ends in to make crescents. Bake immediately without rising in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until lightly browned about 20 minutes. Cool and sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar. The sugar may be sifted over the rolls thru a fine strainer. To make the filling, combine ingredients and bring to a boil. Other fillings, such as cooked prunes, nutmeats, or preserves may be used.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

One hundred young women in the ordnance inspection classes at the Illinois Institute of Technology have joined thousands of other women war workers now wearing protective safety headgear. Last week the women received their safety caps, and were shown how to wear them by Mrs. Pearle A. Reinhard, 5234 South Dorchester avenue, the designer. Mrs. Reinhard said that her chief difficulty is in getting the girls to wear the hats properly. "They try to look glamorous," she said, "and adjust them so that their pompadours show." She explained that this defeats the purpose of the cap, which was designed to safeguard the hair from machinery.

This is Mrs. Reinhard's first venture into the field of professional design, altho she has designed and made her own and her children's clothes as long as she can remember. She was profoundly affected by the Pearl Harbor attack, and immediately after it scurried around to see where she could fit into war work. "I found," she said, "that I was born too soon. Everywhere I went I was told I was too old."

This discouraged her, but she found solace in the advice of a friend, a psychologist, who told her to stick to her needle. She thought no more about it until one night her husband, a custom tailor, who had visited a war plant that day, came home with a tale of how he had seen a young woman almost scalped when her hair became tangled in some machinery. This gave her the idea of safety snoods, and she spent six weeks designing one, with her husband acting as her model.

Miss Sarah Newey, member of Illinois Tech ordnance inspection class, models new safety cap.

Satisfied with the result, she took it to a manufacturing company, which told her the idea was fine but it was too expensive to make. She went to work again, eliminating as many of the details as she could. The result was the present cap, a smart looking design that is washable and made of nonpriority materials. It clears the scalp line, Mrs. Reinhard said, and eliminates the danger of hair being caught in overhead machinery.

Mrs. Mary Garry Turner, who since last September has been secretary to the chairmen of the advisory board and hostess committee at the Chicago service men's center, 176 West Washington street, is now Sergt. Turner of the women's reserve of the marine corps. She leaves her job at the center today and will await orders to report for duty.

Mrs. Turner, who has a brother-in-law in service, said the marine corps had particular appeal for her because of the many heroic yet modest young fellows she'd met at the center when they were on leave from the Solomons or Guadalcanal.

Fifty-three young women were inducted into the WAAC yesterday. In the group was Miss Elizabeth T. Stuwe of Chicago, whose reason for enrolling, other than wanting to serve her country, is that she has a sister serving in the army nurse corps overseas.

Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, director of women's activities for Illinois, will be in charge of a luncheon meeting to be held on March 4 at 12:30 o'clock at the Electric club, when representatives of 50 women's clubs will hear talks on women's activities in salvage in Illinois. The speakers will be Mrs. Betty Barton Greco of Washington, D. C., national director of the women's unit of the WPB; Nathaniel Leverone, state chairman of salvage; Edward J. Condon, regional OCD chairman, and Ben Regan, executive secretary of the salvage division.

Lange Replaces Kleiber; Draws Warm Greeting

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Hans Lange, conductor. Presented at Orchestra hall Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 23, 1943. The program:

Overture to "Euryanthe"	Weber
Suite from "The Fire Bird"	Stravinsky
"Pastorale d'été"	Honegger
Symphony No. 7, A major	Beethoven

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra is giving out souvenir programs this week. Just above the orchestra's favorite verse of "The Star Spangled Banner," the one about when freemen shall stand, is printed Erich Kleiber's cancelation of his conducting commitment, couched in these now familiar words from his agent: "Kleiber refuses coming to Chicago now since you made your announcement regarding Defauw. Greetings." As a matter of record, the telegram spelled it Defaw.

So Hans Lange took over what was to have been the first of Mr. Kleiber's concerts yesterday afternoon, leaving his choice of music unchanged except to lengthen a short program by adding Honegger's drowsy "Pastorale d'été." Warmly welcomed by the audience, which is making a point of its regard for our associate conductor, Mr. Lange returned the compliment with an alert and adroit performance.

By a curious quirk of choice and cancelation he found himself conducting Beethoven's Seventh Symphony, featured by Désiré Defauw at the midweek concerts in January—the concerts that led to his engagement as conductor and musical director for next season. Mr. Lange's was undeniably a better performance, being direct, straightforward, and all of a piece. It had a point of view which was to express Beethoven clearly and concisely, knowing that Beethoven would do the rest. The orchestra played brilliantly, and the symphony had drive and scope. In the finale there were some harsh spots, as if the brass did not quite mesh with the strings, but this was unimportant in the spacious whole, which had intimations of Beethoven the titan.

The overture to "Euryanthe" was equally good in style and consistently beautiful in tone. It had a breadth of line that displayed both Weber and the orchestra. Stravinsky's "Fire Bird" was less completely successful, tho in sustained legato passages it took on the muscled languor of a panther's stretch, and it quivered to a gleaming finale as the horns sang deeply thru the slash of strings. What was missing was the quicksilver audacity of the ballet score in the febrile malevolence of the infernal dance—the only part of the ballet to survive recent revival, matching for the eye pictures conjured up by the ear.

Violinist in Recital

Ann Hawryliw, who probably is the youngest member of the violin section of the Woman's Symphony orchestra, appeared in Kimball hall recital last night, with Olga Sandor playing reliable accompaniments. Miss Hawryliw has a tone of good size and a reasonable amount of dexterity, but her playing is immature in style and dangerously inaccurate in intonation. In both Bach's Concerto in A minor and Vieuxtemps' Fourth Concerto, she was at her best in the slow movements, which at times took on a smooth legato flow. But she needs far greater accuracy and command of style before she can make either work sound like more than a studio exercise.

Is This What We Want?

Everywhere you turn these days, you find an example of the New Freedom, but the most striking to come to our attention in recent weeks was one which stunned a young man we know. He was riding on a street car about 4 o'clock the other afternoon when he spied what he took to be a lady war worker. She was about 35, he guessed, wore slacks, and carried a tin lunch basket. Saying to himself: "Look at that poor girl. Just worn out. Probably on the swing shift, too," he promptly leaped to his feet and offered her his seat. At first she said nothing. She merely gave him a cold, scornful, withering look. Then she hissed, "Sit down, you sucker!"

Law Firm Goes to Work.

From somewhere in the Atlantic Ensign Jack Floberg, formerly with the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Martin, Green & Ellis here, wrote his mother last week asking for two skunks. He and his fellow officers want them as ship's mascots. He wrote that he had told the boys that if any one could get two skunks, his mother, a woman of resourcefulness, could. The mother was flattered, but stumped. Try as she did, she could find no skunks. Finally she called the law firm. Could it help? The firm assigned its foremost investigator to the task, and at last reports he was scouring the countryside with no luck. In the meantime Ensign Floberg and his associates have named the animals Tojo and Adolf.

Check from Phantom.

The most apocryphal event of the local year is the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society's Phantom ball. They hope to raise $15,000 at it, only there is no ball. You imagine you went to it, compute how much you would have spent, add a thank offering for not having had to go, consider the whole thing deducted from your 1943 income tax, and send in a check. Monday the society received a check from a Lt. Edward Harris of the ski troops. "You don't know me," he wrote. "I'm from Connecticut. Just consider me a phantom, too."

Nomenclature.

And now comes the story of the member of the orchestral association who, when the name of Désiré Defauw came up for consideration as conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, said, "O, yes, he's the Dionne quintuplets' doctor, isn't he?"

Smart Pumps Ready to Adorn New Ensembles

BY REA SEEGER.

Here's a shopping discovery for exacting shoe shoppers! See the dressmaker pumps and other models to wear with clothes that are definitely dress parade, the very feminine soft crêpe dresses trimmed with lace, with ribbon, and with bows. Or with the costumes of taffeta or of taffeta and wool. And many of these distinctive pumps are made with the toes covered, something to cheer about!

Others have open toes, and feature bows edged with tiny jet beads; soft rosettes of ribbon, or crocheted patterns in fine silk thread. There are patent leathers accented with grosgrain ribbon and smooth kidskins [with toes covered] contrasted across the instep with a soft fold of black ribbed ribbon.

All of them are patrician examples of what well groomed and fastidious women have appreciated for years. Heels are high enough to appear graceful and feminine. Of course you can't expect the lavish assortments in colors, styles, or even sizes as before the ration restraints, but what is available is especially worth checking for the right kind of footgear for new spring fashions.

In the same shop are some of the newest little pancake hats made of hand-crocheted, fine, silky, thin braid, the same braid that can be found in matching handbags. Bright red, bright green, gold, and blue are four good contrast shades to wear with casual street clothes. There is a double frill of the crotcheted braid wheels at the front and to the sides, a sort of fat ruching effect or a halo.

Philharmonic Group Files Union Charges Against Dr. Rodzinski

New York, Feb. 23 [Special]—Charges against Dr. Artur Rodzinski, conductor of the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra, as a result of his dismissal of 14 musicians, were filed today with officials of local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians by the orchestra's shop committee.

Declaring Rodzinski had injured the reputations of the 14 and curtailed their future earning ability, the committee asked "some financial return, or a public apology from member Artur Rodzinski." The committee also telegraphed appeals to members of all other leading symphony orchestras in the country to refuse contracts with the Philharmonic Symphony "until we have won justice."

Good Morning!

"Cat People" tosses about the subjects of psychiatry, hallucination, and were-leopardy—and just misses being a No. 1 thriller. ["Were-leopardy—coined to fit the occasion.]

The film's weakness lies in too many loose threads—which cause suspense and interest to flag—and in a miscast heroine. Miss Simone is just a little-girl-making-faces in a rôle that screams for—a Bette Davis.

However, the picture IS different, and well acted with exception noted. Photography and settings are effective, and the naturalness of the dialog issuing from such a murk of the fantastic is very impressive.

Scenes are laid in New York, where Oliver Reed, a naval architect, meets and falls in love with Irena Dubrovna, a sketch artist from Jugo-Slavia. Their first encounter is at the zoo, where Irena raptly draws pictures of a black leopard. . . . Oliver marries her despite the strange story she tells of animal metamorphosis which, she says, was the curse of her people and she has reason to believe may spell tragedy for her.

Oliver, certain that it's all in her mind and that he can jolt her into normalcy, undertakes the marriage even tho she insists she must, for a time at least, be his wife in name only. . . . At last Dr. Judd, a psychiatrist, is called in. . . . Irena's jealousy of Alice Moore, Reed's office assistant, brings on a series of events such as old New York had never seen the like of before. . . .

Splendid characterizations are contributed by brilliant Tom Conway, pretty Jane Randolph, and good-looking Kent Smith, who is a stranger to me. . . . And little Simone Simon, while not adequate for her present part, IS definitely appealing.

See you tomorrow.

CHAPTER 31.
ACCUSATION.

The wind blew in from the open window. Laura went over and shut it. She was shivering as she came back.

"Of course I'll come down with you. But wouldn't you like me to call Miss Silver, or Carey, Cousin Lucy?"

"No—no—no—no! You mustn't do that! Nobody must know. They are strangers—we mustn't bring them in. I came to you because you are family. We've got to keep it in the family. Nobody else must know!"

Her look darted at Laura and dropped away again. Her voice shook nervously.

"No one outside the family," she repeated.

"And the doctor——"

Miss Adams jerked impatiently.

"Doctors don't count—they can keep a secret. And we must hurry. Put on your slippers and come!"

As they went down into the dimly lighted hall, Laura was wondering, and trying not to wonder, about this illness of Agnes Fane's. "One of her attacks—" What kind of attack? "We must keep it in the family. Nobody must know—" What was there to know? "Doctors can keep a secret—" What secret was there to be kept? An echo of her own sick fear came to her, and she remembered the dragging limp, the white mask of a face, the voice that had told her to lock her doors.

At the foot of the stairs Lucy Adams turned, speaking low. "You had better wait here. There is no need for you to hear what I have to tell the doctor. But you won't go away?"

Laura shook her head. She was puzzled. But she was not frightened now. It did not frighten her to stay alone in the hall while Lucy Adams went into Tanis' sitting room and shut the door. It might have frightened her if she had known that Florrie Mumford was lying dead across the threshold of the study not so very far away. But she did not know.

She leaned against the newel post, shivering a little, and hoping that Cousin Lucy wouldn't be long. From where she stood she could hear the murmur of her voice.

Then the door opened. Miss Adams stood there beckoning, the lighted room behind her. Laura obeyed reluctantly. Wouldn't they go upstairs again now? It appeared that they would not. Cousin Lucy drew her in and pushed the door to.

"We must wait down here for him and let him in. I was quite right to send for him, and I said I would be here to let him in. I may not hear the car, but you will, I am sure. I am not deaf, you know, but I do not hear quite as well as I used to. Now you sit down over there on the sofa, and I will take this chair. The doctor will not be long."

Laura sat down on the couch at the farther side of the hearth. It was wide, and deep, and low. She pulled a cushion down and leaned against it. Across the hearth, incongruous in a squat wide armed chair, Miss Adams sat stiffly upright in her red flannel dressing gown. Behind her the door to the hall, not actually ajar, but not quite latched. As a little thing will sometimes stick in one's thought and prick at it, this trifle caught Laura's attention and pricked there. If she had not felt so tired she would have gone over to the door to latch it properly.

She heard Lucy Adams say just in her usual rambling voice, "You realize, of course, that it was your cousin Agnes who shot Tanis."

Laura felt exactly as if some one had hit her sharply and suddenly. The impact made her blink. She stared at Lucy and said nothing.

Miss Adams said in an exasperated tone, "Really, Laura, you can be very stupid! Didn't you hear what I said?"

Laura moved stiff lips and said, "Yes."

"Then why don't you say something? It seems to me that my remark called for some comment."

It seemed to Laura that comment was impossible. What do you say when one elderly relative who is sensibly attired in red flannel tells you point blank that another elderly relative is a homicidal maniac? For that was what it amounted to. The attacks which must not be witnessed by a stranger. "We must keep it in the family. . . . A doctor knows how to keep a secret." All these things meant one thing and one thing only, that Cousin Agnes was mad, and that in a fit of mania she had killed Tanis Lyle.

She heard Lucy Adams say, "Of course she did not mean to kill Tanis. It was a most unfortunate accident. She meant to kill you."

A kind of stiffness invaded Laura, mind and body. It rendered her incapable of speech or movement. Behind Lucy Adams she saw the sitting room door move in an inch or two, and move again — four — five — six inches. She wondered why it had moved.

* *

Miss Silver opened her eyes upon the darkness of her bedroom. She did not know what had waked her from the uneasy sleep into which she had fallen. She thought it was a sound. She listened, and could hear nothing. She therefore sat up in bed and listened again. Unbroken silence, unbroken darkness.

She switched on her bedside lamp and drew about her shoulders a large knitted shawl with an open work border.

The minutes slipped away. If there had been a sound, it was not repeated. She decided that she was becoming fanciful—she had sat too late and thought too long. Tomorrow would be a painful and difficult day. She must really try to get a little sleep. But the desire for sleep had left her. She took a book at random from the bedside table and began to read.

Actually, it was the sound of Florrie Mumford's fall which had roused her, her room being over the study.

She read for about 20 minutes, and found at the end of this time that she had not the slightest recollection of what she had been reading. While her eyes perused the printed page, her thoughts wandered towards strange conjectures and horrifying conclusions. They reached a point where she could no longer pretend to read.

In her usual controled manner she replaced the book, got out of bed, and put on a warm gray dressing gown. No garment could possibly have been less becoming, but it was warm and serviceable, and it concealed every inch of the voluminous woolen nightgown beneath. When she had fastened it at the waist with a long gray cord she crossed the passage and tapped lightly upon Carey Desborough's door. Receiving no answer, she turned the handle and went in.

The first that Carey knew about it was light slanting down on him from the lamp beside the bed. He blinked at it and at the astonishing vision of Miss Silver with her hand upon the switch. Then he came broad awake.

He sat up and said in a horrified voice, "What is it? What's happened?"

Miss Silver gave her slight cough.

"Nothing, I hope, Mr. Desborough. I am sorry to disturb you, but I cannot help feeling extremely uneasy. I was awakened some little time ago by a sound. That at least is my impression, but, of course, I may be mistaken—our minds are disturbed, and trifles are apt to be magnified. If it would not be too much trouble, I would be glad if you would make a tour of the downstairs rooms with me."

He was out of bed and reaching for his dressing gown.

"You thought the sound came from there?"

"That was my impression. If I was mistaken, we can return to our rooms and say nothing about it. If, on the other hand——" She got no farther, because Carey broke in.

"You're sure it was downstairs?"

Miss Silver became a little distant.

"I am not sure about anything, Mr. Desborough. I think we had better investigate."

They came down the stairs and into the hall. Miss Silver's ear caught the sound of a voice which she knew very well. The sound came from the left hand side of the hall, from Tanis Lyle's sitting room, the door of which showed a crack of light.

Writers Offer Views on Girls' Visits to Camps

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Recently we gave some pro and con opinion from readers commenting on girls making overnight or week-end visits to their beaux in camp. Below are more views.

Miss L. B. writes: "I made that long trip to a distant camp to visit my boy friend. It was the most wonderful experience I've ever had! He had been in the army several months and, somehow, the change from an active life of going places to staying at home had a dull effect on me. However, how it affected me is not important. What my visit did for him is. I was shown around and I learned many things about army life, that an army camp wasn't a concentration camp where sweethearts were separated, but a fine training school for men and bodies. My friend has been a changed person since my visit. His buddies have said so. He proudly introduced me to them, and now I am in their conversations as a person [not a photograph!]. It has helped to keep him cheery and satisfied with what he is doing. My visit was a greater morale builder than all the letters I've written.

"You say let the boy save his money to get home on furlough. In these times furloughs aren't sure. The fellow who gets one spends many precious hours and days in travel. My camp visit gave me days of fun alone with him, without the strain a home visit brings. Boys who have been home on furloughs and who have had their girl friends to camp say the latter was the greatest thrill of their lives."

Mrs. D. G. writes: "I heartily agree with your advice to young girls wanting to visit soldier sweethearts. Young girls today have a simplicity about their dress and makeup that is real beauty, as compared to the days when I was young. So tell them not to mar their beauty and character by unconventional actions. The girl who is not rash in her actions will always have a man's respect and love. Among my married friends I see that the woman who receives the best that's in her man was not rash and unconventional as a young girl. Those who were are treated accordingly by their husbands."

Writers' Conference.

The fourth annual writers' conference of the middle west will be held under auspices of Northwestern university's Medill school of journalism, it was announced yesterday by Dean Kenneth Olson. The meeting is tentatively scheduled for July 28 to 31.

Thru the Looking Glass

If you're planning on going stockingless this summer and wearing cosmetic hose, it is none too early to start getting the legs in good condition. A winter such as this one leaves much chapped skin in its wake and most of us are so busy keeping the hands and face soft and pretty that we're apt to forget that the tender skin on the legs has suffered damage also.

Scaly and reddened skin won't make a good foundation for the leg lotions used during summer days and frequent sessions with a lubricating cream are the order for restoring softness to the roughened surface. The most convenient time to use a softening agent is after the nightly bath or shower. Dry the skin thoroly, using a heavy bath towel with vigor. The brisk rubbing will serve to help stimulate and tone the skin and remove some of the scales that have formed. Slather a lubricating lotion generously over the surface and don't try to be too quick about the procedure. Take time to work it into the skin so that full benefit may be obtained.

Roughened and chapped heels present a particular problem; it will take a little effort to restore them to order. A stiff brush and plenty of soap should be used on this area when bathing. It's a place prone to harbor dirt and grime and special precaution is advisable to keep the skin free from soil. Don't hesitate to use your richest cream on the heels. Its special lubricating qualities will do an efficient job in soothing the toughened and chapped skin. Smooth it in until the surface feels soft to the touch. It will take time but the results are worth the effort.

Illinois Tech Faculty Club to See Films of 1903 Era

Harking back to the "good old days" when Hollywood's ranking glamor girl was Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin was the leading comedian, the Faculty Women's club of Illinois Institute of Technology will review movies of the 1903 vintage at its annual dinner on Saturday. With Mrs. Linton E. Grinter in charge of arrangements, the meeting will be held at 6:30 o'clock in the Student Union building at the south side campus, 45 West 33d street. One of the highlights of the program will be announcement of the recipients of scholarships given each year by the club to the sophomore class at the institute.

BOOKS

Author Urges Air Offensive to Beat Nazis

"The Air Offensive Against Germany," by Allan A. Michie. [Holt, $2.] Published last Thursday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

A book which already—less than a week after its publication — seems destined to become another "Defense Will Not Win the War" is this brief, dynamic plea for "The Air Offensive Against Germany."

Allan Michie, whose "Retreat to Victory" was one of the best of the reporters' eyewitness books about last year's North African campaign and the overall strategy there, was given access to the records of the bomber command in England. This book was the direct result of "staring fascinated into the eyepieces of a stereopticon machine thru which I could see picture after picture of the damage inflicted on Germany by Britain's bombers." Twenty-three of those historic photographs end the book.

Mr. Michie's book goes into detail about the HOW of bombing Germany out of the war. He believes that the big British bombing planes, the Lancasters and the Stirlings, are superior to American Flying Fortresses and Liberators, and he gives statistics of bomb loads, maximum speeds, etc., to prove his contention. He feels that allied designs should be pooled. He believes that the American strategy dedicated to daylight bombing is too costly and that American planes are not at present designed for night bombing [they have brilliant exhausts which can be seen blazing across the sky for 30 miles], he says, and their pilots are not trained for the kind of night flying in which the R. A. F. has become skilled. These are only a few of his startling statements. Technicians and skilled strategists will have their arguments about his deductions.

But when he tells WHY Germany must be bombed, and describes the effect to date of the R. A. F. bombings, he paints a picture which any one can understand. Germany must be made incapable of making, transporting, and repairing its weapons of war, he declares. Factories, railroads, submarine and airplane repair bases can be made ineffective more quickly, he says, by bombing, and since this is a mechanized war, the allied nations have the upper hand in producing the machines successfully to uproot the axis seeds of war.

Mr. Michie admits he wrote this book quickly. It has the immediacy and exciting newsiness of such writing which to most readers will entirely outweigh its defects. F. B.

Mark Saxton Pictures Sinister Senator in 'The Year of August'

"The Year of August," by Mark Saxton. [Farrar-Rinehart, $2.50.]

Mark Saxton, who has written two novels before this which make compelling use of terror as a literary weapon, spans terror of a physical man hunt with the threat of the overthrow of the government in his latest novel. It concerns the machinations of a subversive senator who uses Nazi type propaganda, not to aid the Nazis and the Fascists, but to further his own access to power. F. B.

MISS MARION STEPHENS

There may still be some unbelievers, says Miss Marion Stephens, manager of the Board of Trade Book Shop, but Spring is just around the corner! At least, people are thinking of digging and planting, judging from the number of requests which are pouring in for books and magazines on gardening and farming. Miss Stephens is receiving the latest works on these subjects every day, and she's so enthusiastic about them she's almost decided to start a miniature garden right in the book shop! She reminds us that this year gardening is more than a pleasant hobby—it is a patriotic duty. So if you have even a tiny plot, stop in at the Board of Trade Book Shop and pick out a book that will help you make the most of it. [By the way, the new 1943 World Almanac has just come in, chock-full of interesting facts and figures on practically everything under the sun. Take a look at it and you'll want to own it!] You'll enjoy browsing through the good new books at the Board of Trade Book Shop—or any of these other friendly Handy Book & Gift Shops: Field Bldg.; Post Office News [37 W. Humor Savors Earnestness in Story of South

"Colonel Effingham's Raid," by Berry Fleming. [Duell, Sloan & Pearce, $2.50.] Published last Friday. Dual choice of Book of the Month Club.

"We laughed about it, of course, dipping our earnestness in humor, southern style, as we fry our chickens in butter," says the author, thereby presenting to the reviewer a colorful phrase with which to describe "Colonel Effingham's Raid"—"earnestness dipped in humor."

The humor is of that dry, subtly ironic variety which is utterly good humored and at the same time as prickly with sharp bones as a catfish's carcass. The humor is that subtlest of all brands—the humor of a turn of phrase, of an idea glanced at obliquely instead of head on, of a bright X-ray insight into the frailties of humankind.

The earnestness is the deep earnestness of an ageing retired soldier's belief in the dignity of good government and in the individual's responsibility toward his leaders as well as toward his fellow men—his responsibility to see that they don't let things and themselves "get in such bad shape."

"The war," cried Cousin Willy, "is the struggle between the nations that want to repair what we have got and the nations that want to tear it all down for the national booty involved." And the "struggle in miniature," Cousin Willy believed, was to be held at the public meeting in the courthouse at Fredericksville the next Thursday when the citizens were to discuss tearing down the old and erecting a new courthouse.

But if the reader isn't on the lookout, he may miss the earnestness for the humor. Because "Colonel Effingham's Raid" is a delicious story of a retired army colonel who went back to the little southern town where his kinfolk had lived for 300 years and planned with military precision a raid on the town government. The raid, altho not successful according to his dreams, did at least stir in some of the town's citizens a new sense of their citizenship.

It is also a story of the mood and manner of the small southern town, all deliciously "dipped in humor."

"Colonel Effingham's Raid" is the sort of book that must be read slowly, because it is written with a delicate turn of phrase or of thought too subtle to be caught by those who read as they run, but that will wholly delight those who read it thus. F. B.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

The Days of Her Years.

"I hope you are not going to write about me," she protested earnestly, "because I'd much rather you'd write about the library."

Yet, if I didn't write about Sara B. O'Neill, how could I explain myself to the many who have fingered her books, tasted her tea, and sought solace within the book lined walls of St. Benet library? And how could I describe to young women—just beginning a career—the gentleness and benevolence to be found in the heart of a white haired librarian who has devoted the days of her years to service?

For 34 years Miss O'Neill was a teacher of modern languages at Tilden High school. [One of her associates in the library is Laura M. Wright, another retired Tilden teacher.] During those decades in the classroom two significant things happened to her. She took a course at the University of Chicago and became interested in St. Benet, who founded the library movement in the middle ages. Also during those busy teaching years she went to Europe on a vacation and journeyed to Montecassino, the abbey of which Longfellow wrote his famous poem. ["Have you read it?" she asked . . . "here . . . please take this. . . . I want you to have it," and she thrust a small book in my hand as we talked.]

As a result of her European trip she became an oblate of the Benedictine Order of Montecassino, "but that," she assured me with a merry smile, "isn't why I'm not married!"

In 1931 her devotion to the church and her interest in St. Benet, the early librarian, converged. She opened, on an upper floor of a building on Congress street, a small Catholic library, "where cigar boxes were covered for shelves and grocery boxes served magnificently for cases." But good books were there, and good talk . . . and Miss O'Neill, while teacups rattled on Saturday afternoons. ["There's nothing that promotes fellowship like breaking bread," she said.]

Now, young men in service write nostalgic letters about those informal discussions of sociology and philosophy, history and world events. And returning travelers to the city stop in to renew friendships—"You have no idea how many have sprung up," she confided—"we've had quite a number of marriages!"

To the makeshift surroundings of the upper floor library people of various creeds and races came for books and for companionship. "We weren't fancy," Miss O'Neill explained, "we were really the Cinderella of libraries. But now look at us!"

Now there are charming, new, spacious quarters on Congress street between State and Wabash, for Bishop Sheil and Father Shannon decided recently that St. Benet is just what the C. Y. O. needs. It is open every day of the week. The rental books are free. The tempting shelves of rare and beautiful books await those who wish to buy, and for all there are tea and talk and nourishing things of the spirit.

On the threshold I lingered a moment. An intense, clear eyed youth was approaching Miss O'Neill's desk, a book held high in midair. "I don't like what Adler says," he objected.

"And why not, my young friend?" she challenged.

The quick, eager words poured forth. I reluctantly opened the door and tiptoed out.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I am one of those bridge players that you have sneered at [in gentlemanly fashion, of course] more than once in your column—the type that loves to bid slams whether or not they are in the cards. I freely admit that I come many a cropper, but when my propensity sometimes results in the sort of thrill I had last night, who can say that I am the loser in the long run? Moreover, it is worthwhile going down in 10 slam contracts just to hear the words of fawning praise that issued from my partner's usually petrified lips. This was the deal:

West, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

NORTH

♥ J 8 7
♦ 6
♣ K Q 8

SOUTH
♠ A 6 3
♥ 9
♦ A K 8 5 3 2
♣ 10 4 3

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 spade	2 diamonds
2 hearts	4 diamonds	4 hearts	6 diamonds
Pass	Pass	Pass

"As South, the declarer, I have no alibi for my final bid of six diamonds, other than the perfect and unassailable alibi that I brought home the bacon.

"It is easy to see that an inspired club lead by West would have left me high and dry, but West made the more conventional and, I think, normal lead of a low spade to his partner's bid suit. I won with the ace, drew trumps in two rounds, then led my singleton heart toward dummy. If West had put up the ace, I could have claimed the balance, but, suddenly becoming an expert after having been a dub all his life, West had the vision and gumption to duck. This was excessively annoying to me, because while I won with the queen and thus lost no trick in hearts, my originally dangerous club position had not been bettered an iota. However, after a huddle that sent the other three players to sleep, I finally saw a possible chance. I ruffed dummy's low heart and ruffed a spade. Then came the crucial moment! Praying for a little justice, I led dummy's king of hearts and, to my joy, East tossed on the jack. 'Victory!' I shouted, as I nonchalantly tossed a little club on the trick. I was now home, of course. West took the trick with the heart ace but I now had a beautiful parking spot, the heart ten, for my other losing club. Some fun, eh?"

The hand was beautifully played, and by that token declarer deserved his success, even tho he had made a wild stab when he jumped to six diamonds. However, and without intending to be a ghost at the feast, I might say that West did not have to be "inspired" to make the opening that would have so radically altered the result. On the bidding, it was entirely obvious that South was expecting, hence presumably prepared for, a spade lead. The lead of the heart ace was not attractive, hence West might have chosen a club, partly thru the process of elimination and partly as a "surprise attack."

Unhappy Child Often Found in Wrong Grade

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

A boy or girl who is unhappy in school is to be pitied. That his or her parents share the distress only adds to the dark picture.

"My little girl struggled and worried and wept over her school work for a couple of years," writes the mother of an adopted child. "We were all miserable about it. Then one day I had a bright idea. I think it came to me after reading your answer to my letter. As a result we had Jeannette put back one grade; she was young enough for it anyway. Since then everything has been going so smoothly. She does her work with ease and gets good marks, altho nothing staggering, and is a much happier child."

Recently we've talked about reasons for the child's trouble in school, not only in his lessons but in his behavior. Our emphasis has been on physical reasons. Of course there are others. Of these are two reasons to consider. One may be that the child is placed in a grade too advanced. The other may be that he is a grade too low.

The boy or girl who is scrambling and struggling to do school work that is too difficult for him or her, experiences a sense of discouragement and failure that is distinctly bad. A sense of inadequacy is bad enough when one is grown up, but frequently an adult can see it and abandon the task.

A child in school is trapped when that happens to him. School becomes then, not an adventure or a process of growth, but a sentence to be served without commutation. Something should be done in our schools to save children from this experience which often carries over, in effect, to adult life. One of the simpler remedies, at least, can be tried. That is putting a child in a lower grade, or, if that isn't sufficient, in a special class.

The other reason for schoolroom troubles, that of a clever or extremely brilliant child being kept in a grade too low, often is not recognized. Such a child may be bored and neglect his work in a sort of unconscious mental contempt, and often get into mischief, too. This child should either be advanced a grade or two, or should be put into a rapid advancement class, or, better still, be put on an "enrichment program." The advantage of the last named procedure is that it keeps children with those of their own age.

Given an interesting teacher who knows children, the child who is properly graded will find at least moderate success in his school life.

The Stage

BY CECIL SMITH.

If you want to find the sure way to June Walker's heart, ask her about her son. Even tho her tour as Vinnie in "Life with Father," now at the Erlanger theater, has carried her a thousand miles away from his boarding school in Westchester county, New York, her thoughts constantly go flitting back east to him. He is 11 years old, constantly causing or threatening the breakage of his bones, given to occasional not too serious breeches of school discipline, but withal a serious student, at the top of his class in mathematics.

But Miss Walker is no dominating mother, who wants to keep her boy tied to her apron strings. It is a pleasure to observe her serene satisfaction when she reports how, when she asked him whether he missed her, the boy replied, "No; it is much too interesting here at school." She is happy because she knows he already has learned to adjust himself to the world.

Chicago was Miss Walker's girlhood home, and if we wanted to flatter our civic pride we might claim that it was Chicago that taught her the straightforward, direct, obviously genuine way in which she expresses herself. We had been discussing the youthfulness of actresses much older that herself, when she said, "There is something perennially youthful about the stage. I'm 41, you know." I had not thought of her as even approaching 41, and when I returned to the office I looked up the entry in "Who's Who in the Theater," that usually trustworthy authority, which made her 39. This was the first time I ever heard an actress claim for herself an age greater than the one printed in reference books!

Miss Walker is a mite of a person, but it is clear that her energy and enthusiasm never give out. She loves touring and you can tell that she does from the gleam in her eye when she discusses the complexities of train schedules and hotel accommodations in a barnstorming tour like the one the "Life with Father" people are making now.

Her favorite play, she revealed—overlooking an opportunity to pay a conventional compliment to her present rôle—was Thornton Wilder's "The Merchant of Yonkers." "Mine was a fairly short part," she reflected, "but every line in it was so wonderful and meant so much."

GREMLINS?

No! The famous little gnomes don't help get breakfast. Wheaties do the trick. Mother simply fills cereal bowls with those wonderfully good whole wheat flakes. Easy. No breakfast worries for Mother . . . but the entire family goes to work—on Wheaties.

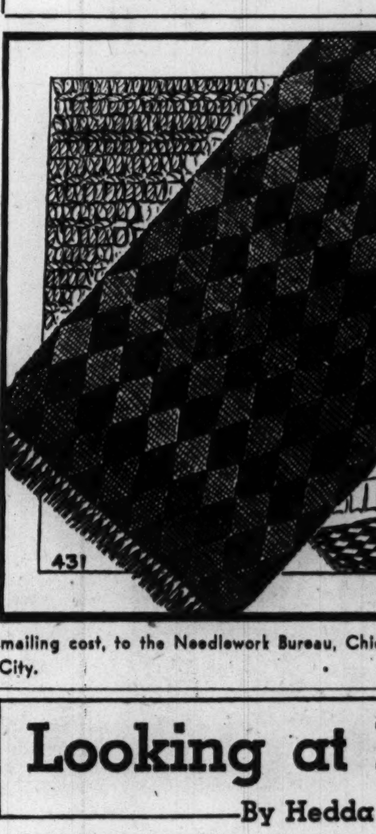
Colorful Crocheted Rug



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A crocheted checkerboard rug is fun to create, since it is made out of small patches and sewed together when completed. This type of rug may be crocheted from boilproof carpet warp in any number of clever color combinations. Black and white is effective for one choice, and blue and red is an ideal selection when it is to be used as a door mat.

For instructions in crocheting the checkerboard rug, No. 431, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 23.—Gene Tierney was so fed up playing natives that she herself went in to Ernst Lubitsch and put on a great crying scene for him, and when she calmed down he said, "Any one who can act like that for me can do same thing before a camera." That's how she got the lead in "Heaven Can Wait." But as soon as she finishes, poor Gene will be molded right back into that sarong again for a remake of "Bird of Paradise," this time in color. In spite of "White Cargo" being such a bad picture, it cleaned up at the box office, so I guess it's a sarong that does it. . . . Talked with Pola Negri, who's in town only for a rest, but has a deal cooking with a studio and another deal for the sale of her life story which she wrote, with a well known star playing Pola. I asked if that wouldn't upset her a bit. She replied, "O no, she's so wonderful she has my 100 per cent approval."

Mickey's in Love.

Remember Juanita Stark, former waitress at Republic, put under contract by Warners? She made headlines when she was smuggled into a famous costume party given by Rex St. Cyr at Ciro's. Well, since Mickey Rooney's separation from Ava Gardner he's given Juanita no peace. But she's so busy with four hour dancing lessons daily and camp shows, she has no time nor inclination for Rooney.

About Time.

It's become a weekly custom in our town for the big boys to fight over picture credits. If a picture turns out well you'll find three or four claiming to be its producer, co-producer, or co-co. So when I came across an item the other day that there would probably be no producer credit on "Jane Eyre," and Kenneth MacGowan doesn't want his name used, I was delighted. It's well known that David Selznick and Director Robert Stevenson worked on it for two years before Twentieth ever got it. And since it's being made Orson Welles has worked not only as actor but associated producer. But so many have worked on it that it looks now as tho it would go on the screen without any producer credit at all—which is a refreshing change for our war-minded industry.

Two Contracts.

With our search on for leading men, I'm surprised Paramount let Warners sign up Rod Cameron. Anyway they have, and Cameron and Brooks Evans have announced their marriage for May 1. . . . Alan Gordon has the inside track on Iris Bynum. He's gotten her away from Howard Hughes, and Iris is trying to break the Hughes contract. . . . I wonder if Carl Brisson enjoys the fact that he'll soon be a grandfather. I doubt it, even tho our lovely Rosalind Russell will be the mother of that child. But he's pretty proud of the fact that his life story is being run in serial form in the London Daily Mail. . . . Maxwell Anderson becomes the grandpappy of a nine pound boy. Child's father is Master Sergt. Anderson of "This Is the Army."

Something New.

Sam Wood continues practice of Woody Van Dyke by having his favorites as extras in each picture. One of them is Edward Linden, former minister from Little Rock, Ark., who was over in the corner saying a prayer for the safety of the film when the camera started rolling on "Saratoga Trunk" yesterday. Except for picture Sam did in England he's been in every one of his for the past 10 years. . . . Jerry Hopper, Marsha Hunt's husband, was one of our finest cutters, always wanted to be a director. Never made the grade until he joined the army. Now it's Lt. Jerry Hopper, director in the signal corps. . . . Brenda Marshall back in town after visiting Bill Holden at Miami Beach, Fla. Bill won his wings.

Good Luck.

After a nationwide search for a leading man opposite Teresa Wright 17 year old Farley Granger gets it—also a five year contract with Sam Goldwyn. They'll change his name to Don. And what a windfall for the family! His mother was a former golf champion at San José Country club. Lately she's been working at the five and ten at studio city. . . . In Clare Luce's story about China, written before she took her seat in the house, she wove one of the characters around Dr. Lin-Yutang, and Twentieth is making every effort to get him to play himself in the picture.

Welcome Words.

Pvt. George Cukor writes from New York: "I feel so lucky being able to do what I'm doing. It's been a wonderful, rich experience for me, I wouldn't miss it for anything." Then adds, "Tell my darling Frances Marion I'm so happy she's back at Metro, also that they're mighty lucky to have her." . . . Constance Worth, after a desperate struggle since divorcing George Brent [remember, she worked as a carhop, did all kinds of things to make a living?], finally gets a part in "Right Guy," with Claire Trevor and Jess Barker, a newcomer from New York, who's making himself no end of friends at our canteen. . . . Lauritz Melchior sings Gene Raymond's song, "Let Me Always Sing," on his concert tour.

This Home-Mixed Cough Syrup Is Most Effective

Easily Mixed. Needs No Cooking

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough relief. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

I Somehow Know.

I still can feel his kiss upon my lips
As tho it happened only yesterday,
But oh, my joy went into an eclipse
The day he said good-by and sailed away;
And when the message came that he was killed
And buried on a foreign battlefield,
The very beating of my heart was stilled
As if my blood had suddenly congealed.

This cannot be the end, for he and I
Were fashioned for each other by the Lord,
And out beyond the reaches of the sky
Where there will be an end of flame and sword
I somehow know that he will wait for me
To lead me thru the long eternity.

Nature's Prayer.

I am the forest and once gave my young
To brighten the fire, to sweeten the tongue—
But my timber and berries and flowering vine
Are changed to disguises for serpentine
Movement of mortars; and snipers and spies
Lie in my foliage with hideous eyes. . . .
I am the heavens, the stars and the moon
Which hung silently over the chapel in June
And I was the cover of peace in the night
For children who slept without fear that a flight
Of warbirds above would end youth's young dream
With a whine, and a shock, and a mother's last scream!
I am the mountain which drew men to art:
Brooks in my bosom, and grass on my heart;
But now there are armies which take to my crest
Knowing the high point, in war, is the best. . . .
I am the ocean which helplessly hides
The fish made of steel that stealthily glides
To disgorge the torpedo and bring with its blast
The end to my peace and pride of the past. . . .
We all were the friends who were made but to be Kindly to all men incessantly;
But the greedy and selfish brutes of the sod
Have ravished Thy gifts, O generous God!
Please give us again those voices we heard:
The laughter of children, the song of the birds—
End all our sorrow and banish the sword,
Bring us tomorrow—and yesterday, Lord!

Boston, Mass., Feb. 23 (AP).—The Chicago Blackhawks spotted Boston's Bruins three early goals and then, sparked by the veteran Johnny Gottselig, cut loose with such a terrific attack that they pulled out a 7 to 5 victory tonight before 11,288 in the Boston Garden. The triumph put the Hawks a half game behind Toronto, which is in third place in the National Hockey league standings.

While gaining their first victory on Boston ice in more than a year and their second road triumph of the season the Hawks took full advantage of the Bruins' casualties, which included Buzz Boll, Murph Chamberlain, Bep Guidolin, and Manager Art Ross, the latter a ptomaine victim. In order to put 13 men on the ice the Bruins called on Gerry Desrosiers of the Boston Eastern Amateur league team.

Hawks Come Back.

The Bruins' three revamped lines got away to a flying start, Jack Shewchuk, Herb Cain and Flash Hollett beating Goalie Bert Gardiner during the first 13 minutes.

Before the period ended, however, both Gottselig and Mush March had counted for the Hawks. The visitors took command late in the second period when Max Bentley, Red Hamill and Fido Purpur participated in a three goal explosion against Goalie Frankie Brimsek that gave the visitors a 5 to 3 lead.

Both sides scored during the final period, Busher Jackson and Yank Boyd for the Bruins and Doug Bentley and Bob Carse for the Hawks. Bill Cowley, the league's top scorer, was credited with two assists.

Bruins Kept on Defensive.

After the Blackhawks settled down they put on such a sustained attack that the Bruins found themselves penned in their own zone most of the last two periods. During the closing period the Bruins were limited to five shots against Gardiner.

The setback, the third the Bruins have suffered at home this season, nearly ruined their chances to fight off the Detroit Red Wings for first place. Those teams are now in a first place tie but the Wings still have 10 more games to play, twice as many as the Bruins.

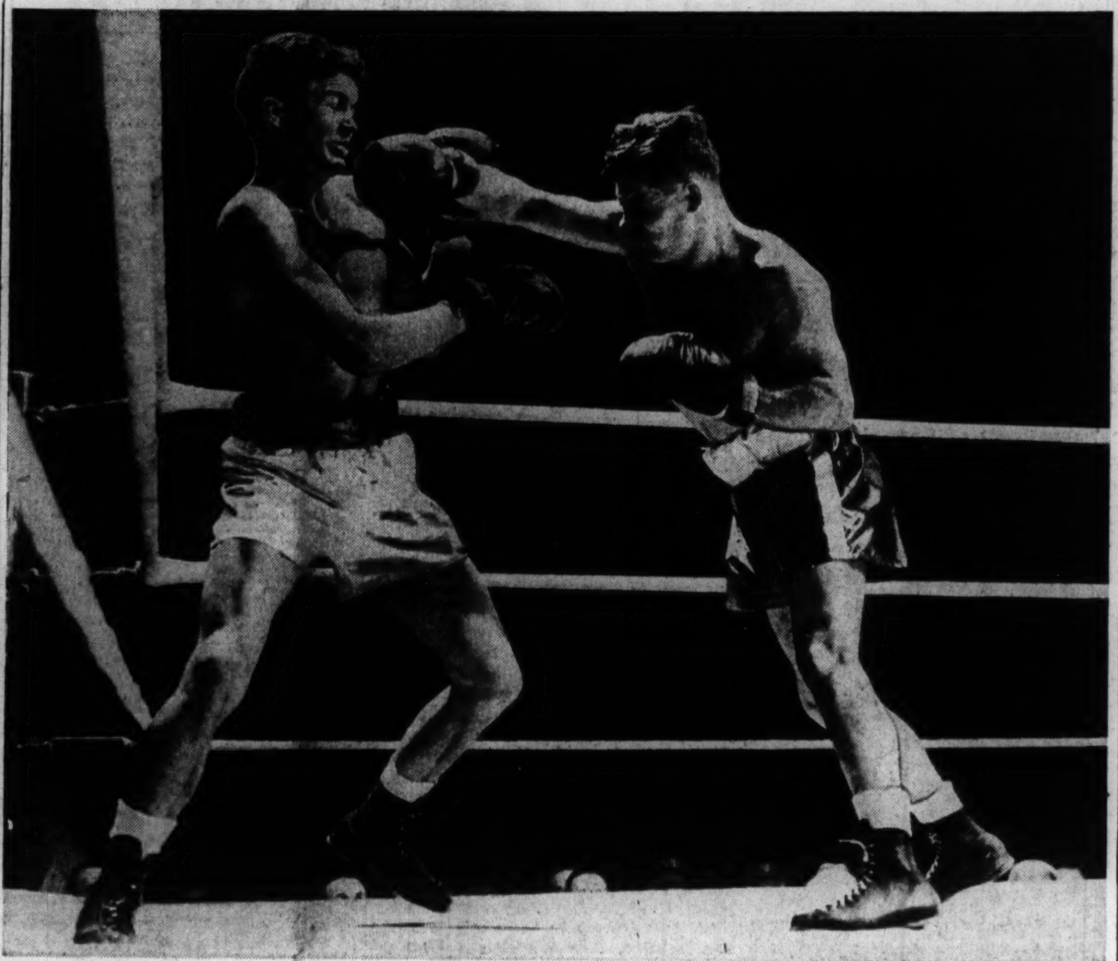
—AND SO ON INTO THE NIGHT!



One of the highlights of last night's four hour Tournament of Champions in the Stadium was this welterweight bout. Merton Herrick (left) of Minneapolis blinks from the right bounced off his chin by Art Saulsgiver of Nashville, who won the decision. The Tennessee boy lost his second bout, tho.

BIVINS CAPTURES DECISION OVER CHRISTOFORIDIS

Pinkey Mitchell Guides Milwaukee Boxer to Victory

BY FRANK MASTRO.

"Let's go Milwaukee!" was the cry of fans from that town as Charley Busalacchi entered the ring against Willie Jackson, St. Louis Globe-Democrat welterweight representative, in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium last night.

Busalacchi, 20 year old sand slinger in a foundry operated by the Allis Chalmers company in West Allis, took the advice, and before the first round ended Jackson was on the floor, the result of a right to the chin.

Charley might have scored a knockout, which is one of his pet accomplishments, if the bell hadn't saved his foe. Busalacchi took the bout by decision.

Chuck's punching prowess is indicated by his record of 30 knockouts in 48 bouts. It was this asset which brought the former Lincoln High school slugger to the attention of Pinkey Mitchell, the former junior welterweight champion. Mitchell, who is a turbine engineer in the Chalmers plant, seconded Charley last night.

The similarity of the St. Louis fighter's name to that of the great lightweight of 25 years ago brought back memories of the 15 round draw Mitchell waged with old Jackson in the original Madison Square Garden, a fight for which Pinkey collected $10,000.

Those Welters Are Set for a Sizzling Night

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The welterweight division, perennially one of the hotbeds of Golden Gloves boxing, tonight should furnish peak competition as the Tournament of Champions comes to an end in Chicago Stadium. These 147 pounders always have maintained a punching and boxing consistency unrivaled by any other class. Maybe it's because these kids have two objectives for which to fight—a Golden Glove and the Barney Ross trophy, named for the marine who has just thrown a few punches at Guadalcanal to prove that he is a true Golden Gloves alumnus.

This 147 pound league includes Morris Corona of Fort Worth, Tex., lightweight champion last year, and one Tony Ancona. If you don't know your Golden Gloves history, you might check on the fact that Pvt. Ancona not only is a member of the army at Fort Riley, Kansas, but also won two championships in other weights as a performer for the Detroit team, taking the featherweight crown in 1939, the 135 pound title in 1940, and now with that dynamic left is willing to make it three, this one for the army.

The romance note, always a feature of the tournament, was in evidence once again last night, but again it came to grief. Last year, Ann Hipp Marten, a bride of less than three weeks, nearly picked on Bill Zuke who had whipped her bridegroom, Soldier Willard Marten.

Yesterday, Floyd Aldridge, light heavyweight of the Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman, married Bonnie Jeanne Weir, an old friend from Tonakawa, Okla., who was visiting relatives in Chicago. They were wedded at 5 o'clock in the city hall. Unfortunately, Floyd, who won the Philippines army championship in 193', lost a decision to John Mack Selph of St. Louis.

Fort Wayne, Ind., producer of a number of the finest punchers in Golden Gloves history, usually has concentrated its power in the heavier weights, but tonight the Hoosiers will send three of the lighter boys into the battle.

The three lighter weight qualifiers from Fort Wayne are Spider Shock, flyweight; Virgil Zakhi, bantamweight, and Bob Crosley, featherweight. Shock is the young man who makes burial vaults and aims to live to be 100 years old. Zakhi is a butcher's apprentice to his dad, and Crosley is the father of three children. Carmine Gerard, the Fort Wayne lightweight who was regarded as the team's best man, lost a close decision Monday night to Roger Welty of Cedar Rapids.

Jeep O'Neal, the Oklahoma City bantamweight who is carrying on the post colors for Fort Sill, Oklahoma, will be trying to maintain a family tradition tonight. Jeep is a brother of Junior O'Neal, who fought in Golden Gloves as a flyweight. Junior also is in the Big League, as an air corps private at Shepherd field.

Fight Decisions

At Cleveland, O.—Jimmy Bivins beat Anton Christoforidis [15]; Izzy Jannazzo beat Bobby Richardson [10]; Jackie Armitage beat Barry Wright [5]; Ike Williams stopped Bobby McQuillan.
At New York—Tami Mauriello beat Vincent Pimpinella.
At St. Louis, Mo.—Chalky Wright beat Joey Peralta [10].
At Jersey City, N. J.—Rudy Giscombe knocked out Phil Enzenga [1].

CORONA, ATTRA, ANCONA REACH QUARTER-FINALS IN STADIUM

Three Chicagoans Are Still in the Running.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Fighters of the four heavier weight classes took command of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions last night in the Stadium and they put over their show with even a greater punch than the little lads had demonstrated on the opening program Monday.

The tournament flares up to its climax and conclusion tonight with the 64 survivors in all weight classes hammering away in the quarter-finals. At the conclusion of the evening only 32 boys will be left undefeated out of the original field of 200 who came to town from all over Golden Gloves territory. These 32 will return to the Stadium on March 5 for the semi-finals and finals.

Chicago Has Three Left.

For the last two nights the battle has been going on in two rings, but this evening, with the action intensified thru the elimination of the less skillful, it will be concentrated into one. The program will consist of 32 bouts—four in each weight class.

Chicago sent two more fighters into the quarter-finals, bringing this city's total survivors to three. Reedy Evans, the local light heavyweight title holder, and Walter Moore, Chicago's heavyweight winner, came thru last night's engagements in handy fashion. Tim Dalton, who won both of his lightweight bouts on Monday, completes the roster of Chicago representatives still in the running.

Ancona Stops Two Foes.

The crowd which gathered in the Stadium last night saw some brilliantly fought engagements in which former champions figured. They saw Tony Ancona of the Fort Riley cavalry carry the colors of the Kansas City team to two sensational victories. Ancona, who was the lightweight champion in 1940 while a member of the Detroit team, knocked out Warren Cormier of Memphis with one punch in his first round engagement. Then he came back after a brief rest to stop Art Saulsgiver of Nashville in the third round of their encounter.

Ancona's sensational left hooks scored with deadly effect against both opponents. Morris Corona of Fort Worth, lightweight champion of last season who, like Ancona, is competing in the welterweight class this year, also moved into the quarter-finals by beating Tony Brush of Cleveland in a cleverly fought encounter. With both of these veterans in the quarter-finals, the battle for the welterweight title promises to develop into a bitterly contested feud.

Attra a Double Winner, Too.

Tom Attra of Fort Worth, the third former champion, who performed last night, looked better than ever as he disposed of two opponents in handy fashion. After stopping Wilbur Bergh of Minneapolis in the second round, he required only one round to eliminate John Mack Selph of St. Louis. A terrifically powerful left hook figured prominently in both of Attra's victories.

In the course of last night's bouts the field was cut to eight survivors in each of the four heavier classes, the same having been accomplished for the lighter divisions in Monday's fighting.

Heavyweights Thrill Fans.

The crowd, which had come to last night's show with high hopes of seeing some of those sensational heavyweight brawls, was stirred to wild enthusiasm by the knockdown and drag out encounter in which Frank Smith, a sailor from Memphis, stopped Lee Williams of Evansville.

For nearly three rounds these two hit each other with everything in the books and a lot that isn't in the books. In the early stages, Smith let go a chopping right to the chin that felled Williams so hard that it seemed certain that the Evansville boy would be asleep for the evening.

He got up, however, and returned to the attack with such effectiveness that he had Smith in distress before the round was over. From there all the way in they took turns smashing each other to the canvas, getting up and going at it again. Finally, in the third round, Williams sagged to the floor and the bout was stopped.

Gary's Four Big Ones Win.

The best sweep of the evening was made by the Gary team, all four of its heavier fighters going on to the quater-finals. Gary, Camp Grant, and Fort Wayne share top honors, each with a total of five boys remaining in the battle. Cedar Rapids, Cleveland, Fort Worth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Nashville, and Richmond each have four survivors.

The survivors of last night's bouts follow:

147 POUNDS—Ken Hershey, Fort Wayne; Morris Corona, Fort Worth; Charles Wells, Gary; Harry Sparrow, Grand Rapids; Tony Ancona, Kansas City; Charles Busalacchi, Milwaukee; Dave Clark, Richmond, and Don Dickinson, Terre Haute.

160 POUNDS—Roland Taylor, Cedar Rapids; Samson Powell, Cleveland; Booker Washington, Gary; Hy Bronstein, Kansas City; Harry Joyce, Memphis; William McMoore, Minneapolis; Louis Seprodi, Terre Haute; and Arthur Williams, Evansville.

Evans Still in Running.

175 POUNDS—William Zielke, Camp Grant; Delayne Shaheen, Cedar Rapids; Reedy Evans, Chicago; Tom Attra, Fort Worth; Tony Allicino, Grand Rapids; Lee Shafts, Nashville; Mel Workman, Gary; and John Hubbard, Milwaukee.

HEAVYWEIGHTS — Walter Hafer, Richmond; Arthur McWorter, Gary; Walter Moore, Chicago; Chester Harter, Fort Wayne; Bill Anderson, Nashville; Frank Smith, Memphis; Fred Schott, Cleveland, and James Shearron, Omaha.

Dalton Fights Tonight.

Camp Grant, which showed so much strength on opening night, when all four of its lighter weight fighters came thru undefeated, is expected to launch another powerful bid tonight. Al Noto, Gene Roberts, Herb Mashino, and Clinton Hirata are counted upon for another brilliant display of boxing skill and hitting power.

Noto, who was a Chicago champion last year before going into the army, demonstrated in his Monday bouts that his speed and timing have been sharpened up in the course of another season of experience.

Jackie Graves of Minneapolis, who took the bantamweight title last season, will continue his quest for further honors. He beat Manuel Ortego of Fort Wayne in impressive fashion on Monday.

CUBS ADD 1 MORE TO THEIR HOARD OF 16 PITCHERS

Buy McPartland from Dallas Club.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, who since last fall have been quietly hoarding pitchers, added one more to their accumulation yesterday in the person of John Curren McPartland, who is a left hander.

The athlete, declared General Manager Jim Gallagher in his announcement, was purchased for an unrevealed bundle of cash from the Dallas club of the Texas league which is expected to officially reveal today that it has gone out of business for the duration.

Prepped in Chicago.

McPartland makes the 17th member of Jim Wilson's mound department, indicating that the 1943 strategy may be to overcome the enemy by quantity if not quality.

McPartland was born in Denver Jan. 1, 1920, prepped in Chicago and attended St. Mary's college, Oakland, Cal. As a collegian he participated in football, baseball, track, basketball, and tennis. He broke into pro ball in 1941 with the Pampa club of the New Mexico-West Texas league, pitching 25 complete games and leading the circuit in strikeouts [221] and in earned run average [2.03]. He won 8 while losing 17 for Dallas last season. He is the father of one child.

Two Sox Youngsters Sign.

Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, yesterday subbed for the first robin, which hasn't showed up as yet. Grabiner tossed off a springlike note by revealing that 1943 contracts, recently sent out, are beginning to return. Signed documents were received from Outfielder Harry Sketchley and Catcher Vincent Castino, a Chicago lad who served with the Lubbock, Tex., team last season. Sketchley was with the Sox early last season, having been signed as a free agent, subsequently being farmed out to Waterloo.

Fifty-two tank stars representing seven organizations will compete for six 1943 Central A. A. U. championships tonight in the Skyline Athletic club pool, 188 West Randolph street. Such outstanding performers as Marilynn Billquist, who will defend her 100 yard free style crown; Bill Baugher of the University of Chicago, 100 meter free style title holder, and Alice Miller, medley, backstroke and breaststroke champion, are entered.

Others include Bob White, national junior 150 meter medley monarch; Dick Wartena, city high school 100 yard free style ruler; Roberta [Bobby] Bankratz, 100 yard backstroke kingpin, and Casey Jarosik, winner of last year's outdoor 220 yard free style.

Championship events are the junior men's 220 yard free style and 100 yard breaststroke, senior men's 500 yard free style and 300 yard individual medley, junior women's 100 yard backstroke and senior women's 100 yard free style.

Challenging Miss Billquist in defense of her crown are Miss Bankratz and Miss Miller.

MANLEY JUNIORS FINISH SECTIONAL RACE UNBEATEN

Seniors May Duplicate Feat Tomorrow.

The Manley High junior basketball team yesterday finished its City league central section schedule undefeated by routing Phillips, 50 to 19, at Manley for its eighth straight victory. The Manley seniors, also undefeated, meet Phillips tomorrow afternoon on the latter's floor. Should they win, Manley would be the only school in the City league with two undefeated teams in the playoffs seeking league championships and the right to meet the Catholic league champions on March 27 in the Stadium for the city titles.

Marshall Makes It 76.

The Marshall and Wells juniors, first and second place teams in the west division, finished their sectional schedules with victories. Marshall registered its ninth straight section victory and its 76th in a row, defeating Kelvyn Park, 64 to 27, on the latter's court. Marshall is the only undefeated junior team in the west section. Morry Kaplan, Pee Wee Tadelman, and Chickie Zomlefer each scored 12 points for Marshall. Wells defeated Crane, 48 to 29, for its eighth victory in nine games, having lost only to Marshall.

Sullivan defeated the Lane Tech juniors, 55 to 39, at Sullivan for its eighth north section victory in nine games and tied Waller for first place. Marvin Beskin, the City league leading scorer, made 29 points for Sullivan. Lane won the senior game, 59 to 28, and took over second place with eight victories and two defeats.

Amundsen Wins Two.

Amundsen beat Taft twice in a north section double header, the seniors gaining their ninth straight league victory, 74 to 37, and the juniors winning, 47 to 43. Amundsen is the only undefeated team in the north section senior race. Jay Weyrich scored 20 points for the Amundsen seniors. Lineups:

STATE
MONROE
They carried jugs to State and Monroe Sts. FOR CHAPIN & GORE
The Civil War had just ended when Gardner Chapin and Jim Gore started a whiskey business at State and Monroe Streets. The trade was wholesale only—which in those days meant a jug trade.
★ ★ ★ ★
EVEN IN 1865, a jug of mellow old "C&G" bourbon was prized as just about the finest whiskey that money could buy. Its distinctive flavor appealed to Chicagoans of that era fully as much as it does today.
Take home a bottle of C&G bourbon tonight. Or ask for it at your favorite tavern. Straight, or in mixed drinks, you won't find a more delightful whiskey anywhere.

GOVERNMENT USE OF PAPER IS 9.6 TIMES '41 TOTAL

Willis Assails Practices While Others Curtail.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The federal government has increased its own consumption of paper at the rate of nearly 10 times what it consumed in 1941 while simultaneously ordering cuts in newsprint consumption, Sen. Raymond E. Willis [R., Ind.] declared today.

Sen. Willis.

The Indiana senator is the ranking Republican member of the senate printing committee and a member of the joint senate and house committee on printing. He made public a statement disclosing the official figures on government paper going into the maw of the huge government propaganda and printing machine and emerging as a deluge of press releases and other printed material, frequently denounced as worthless.

Million Tons for 1943.

He said that at the current rate of consumption, the government printing office in Washington alone will consume more than 2 billion pounds [a million tons] of paper in 1943, or 9.6 times as much as it consumed in 1941. Figures were not available on paper consumed by the federal government in the field.

"For use in 1943," Willis said, "the federal government contracted for 350 million pounds of paper, or 60 per cent more than actually consumed in 1941, the year which American newspapers and magazines are asked to use as an even-then-scaled down base period for determining their consumption in 1943.

"But far more startling—and far more disgraceful at a time when the freedom of the entire American press is threatened by government curtailment—is the fact that, in the first three weeks of this year, the federal government—in Washington alone, entirely exclusive of the rest of the country—consumed 115,545,000 pounds of the 350,000,000 pounds under contract for 1943!"

Some Stored in Chicago.

He then said that this rate of consumption would bring the total for 1943 to about 2 billion pounds of paper.

"The paper in process of being stored since Jan. 1, 1943, in five huge warehouses rented by the federal government in Baltimore, New York City, Atlanta, Chicago, and San Francisco, should more than guarantee 'freedom of expression' to the New Deal, even if newspapers and magazines are reduced to the size of government questionnaires," he said.

"The figures speak for themselves, disgracefully and shamefully!"

Willis said that in 1941 the federal government contracted for 117,173,000 pounds of paper, and actually consumed, thru the government printing office, 208,900,000 pounds—exclusive of paper consumed by the government in other parts of the country.

Newspapers and magazines are now operating under a newsprint reduction averaging about 10 per cent below 1941 consumption. A second cut of 10 per cent was scheduled by the war production board, effective April 1, but it was announced Saturday that this order has been postponed temporarily. Officials said it still will be carried out in about two or three months.

OPEN CALIFORNIA TRIAL IN CHICAGO WOMAN'S DEATH

San Jose, Cal., Feb. 23 [Special].—Florencio [Frank] Alcade, 29 year old shipyard worker, went on trial in Santa Clara county Superior court here today on charges of slaying Bernice Curtis, former Chicago woman.

The body of Miss Curtis, 28 years old, was found Nov. 22 in a field near the Stanford university campus, a day after the girl had kept a date with "a man named Frank." She had been beaten to death, apparently with a rock found nearby.

A tentative jury of eight women and four men was selected without challenge. Alcade was arrested three times in 1935 in connection with the slaying of a San Mateo woman, Kathleen Robinson, but was freed of a murder charge in this case after a preliminary hearing. Alcade, now married and father of a son, 5, denies he knew Miss Curtis.

Club Told Plan to Make 'Drunk' Tests Legal.

Many an intoxicated person can walk a straight line, and many more sober people can't perform this feat under the best of conditions, State Sen. William G. Knox [R., 6th] told the public health committee of the City club yesterday. He has introduced a bill in the state senate to give "drunkometer" tests—chemical breath, blood, and urine examinations—legal status.

"Because of the present difficulty of proving in court whether a person was actually intoxicated, police are booking drunken drivers on a reckless driving charge that is easier to substantiate," Sen. Knox told the committee.

Breath Examined at Scene.

"However, if we are to coöperate with the national safety council in attempting to reduce the 40,000 deaths a year from traffic accidents, we must combat driving while intoxicated. We can't do this by allowing the offenders to get off easily under the less drastic reckless driving charge."

Under the "drunkometer" tests a person has his breath examined at the scene by the police if they suspect intoxication. They cannot force the test under the law, but usually obtain coöperation.

The person blows up a small balloon. Then the air is run thru a solution of pink potassium permanganate and if the pinkish fluid turns to a yellow shade—alcohol is present.

Thus, a person who has imbibed a gallon of beer or a water glass of straight whisky within the last hour will generally be found by the test to have about 15/100th of 1 per cent of alcohol in his blood and will be unable to act and think clearly enough to drive an automobile with safety.

Tells Quota for Safety.

A person with less than 5/100 of 1 per cent of alcohol in his system has been drinking, but can safely drive a car. Sen. Knox said that this protects the person who may have had only a "before dinner cocktail" and then be accused of intoxication.

The plan, Sen. Knox said, now is used legally in Maine, Indiana, Oregon, and New York. The Pennsylvania state police have been granted permission to employ the test as they desire.

FLAMES DAMAGE CLOSED CASINO; ARSON BLAMED

Three fires discovered late yesterday in the Rhumba Casino, 222 North State street, were described by Fire Chief John Fenn of the first division as the work of an amateur arsonist.

Firemen found five candles in the place. One, in the front window, had set fire to heavy drapes hanging there. This blaze cracked a large plate glass window. Another candle on the stage had set draperies afire there, and a third candle had started rubbish burning in the basement. Two other candles also were found by firemen, but these had caused no damage. Chief Fenn said the doors of the building were locked, so the arsonist must have had a key. The firemen broke down the front door and their work held the damage down to several hundred dollars.

The casino has been closed since last July, when its license was revoked on a charge of selling liquor to two under age sailors. The place had been operated by Milton Schwartz and Albert Greenfield.

INJURIES FATAL TO CHILD STRUCK BY MOTOR TRUCK

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 85 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 70 were killed in Chicago, where 1,977 were injured in traffic accidents.

TWINS TO MEET 23 YEARS AFTER FINDING IN WELL

Twin Falls, Idaho, Feb. 23 (AP).—Found in the bottom of an abandoned well in Omaha 23 years ago, the cistern twins of 1920 may meet soon in Twin Falls. It would be their first meeting in two decades.

One is Mrs. Dick Catron, 23 year old mother. She recently learned, thru Omaha police and the foster parents of her twin brother, Jimmy, that he is in military service. A furlough is being arranged and he plans to visit Twin Falls, she said.

Discovery of the twins, one in a granite bucket, the other in a basket, in the old well July 24, 1920, was a national sensation. Search for the parents ended, finally, with failure. Adopted by different families, the twins lost contact. At Omaha the foster mother of Jimmy said that he has never been informed he is an adopted child. She asked that her name be withheld from publication until she has an opportunity to make the disclosure.

TWO DIE IN GARAGE HOME.

Two men were found dead yesterday in a garage that had been converted into living quarters at the rear of 6614 South Hermitage avenue. The men, apparently victims of coal gas fumes, were identified as Henry Kessler, 68 years old, and Chauncey Morse, also 68.

DIRECTS MURDER CHARGE BE FILED AGAINST YOUTH

Long said he took the action because the two had failed to coöperate in the investigation. Keane told police that he stabbed Riseberg, a former actor, when he found the latter beating his mother. Police said the young man and his mother did not agree in their stories.

BREAKUP PLANS OF MIDDLE WEST CORP. REVEALED

60 Pct. of Holdings for Share Owners.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Plans for breaking up the Middle West corporation system and distributing to shareholders about 60 per cent of the assets represented by holdings in underlying properties were disclosed yesterday by Purcell L. Smith, president.

The 40 per cent remaining in the system will comprise holdings of stock of the Central Illinois Public Service company, Kentucky Utilities company, and Public Service Company of Indiana.

The program represents one of the most sweeping revisions undertaken by a utility holding company under "death sentence" provisions of the public utility holding company act, enforced by the securities and exchange commission.

Outline of Integration.

Smith outlined the following steps in the drastic integration program, involving subholding companies and operating companies:

North West Utilities company will be dissolved after distributing to its stockholders all assets, consisting of common stock of the Wisconsin Power and Light, Lake Superior District Power, and Northwestern Public Service companies. Middle West will then distribute to its stockholders their proportionate interest in North West assets represented by large holdings of preferred stock.

Middle West will move toward the ultimate disposition of its interests in Kansas Electric Power, Missouri Gas and Electric Service, Pecos Valley Power and Light, Michigan Gas and Electric, and Middle West Utilities of Canada stock, together with smaller holdings of stocks of both affiliated and nonaffiliated companies.

Will Distribute Stocks.

Stocks received thru merger or reorganization of Central and South West Utilities and American Public Service companies are to be distributed or sold to Middle West shareholders together with all remaining assets except Central Illinois Public Service, Kentucky Utilities, and Public Service of Indiana.

Middle West's stake in the Indiana company will be whatever it receives in common stock out of liquidation of the Midland United company estate. Public Service Company of Oklahoma will ask SEC authority to acquire the Southwestern Light and Power company, which is to be dissolved.

West Texas Utilities company is acquiring all outstanding securities of the Pecos Valley Power and Light company. Negotiations are being carried on by the parent company and its subsidiaries for the sale of additional ice properties.

No Order Issued by SEC.

Smith said that the Middle West integration case was concluded before the SEC last October, but that the commission has not yet issued an order in the case. He said the entire reorganization could be completed this year, but indicated proceedings might be delayed if congress passed a pending bill providing a moratorium on the death sentence clause.

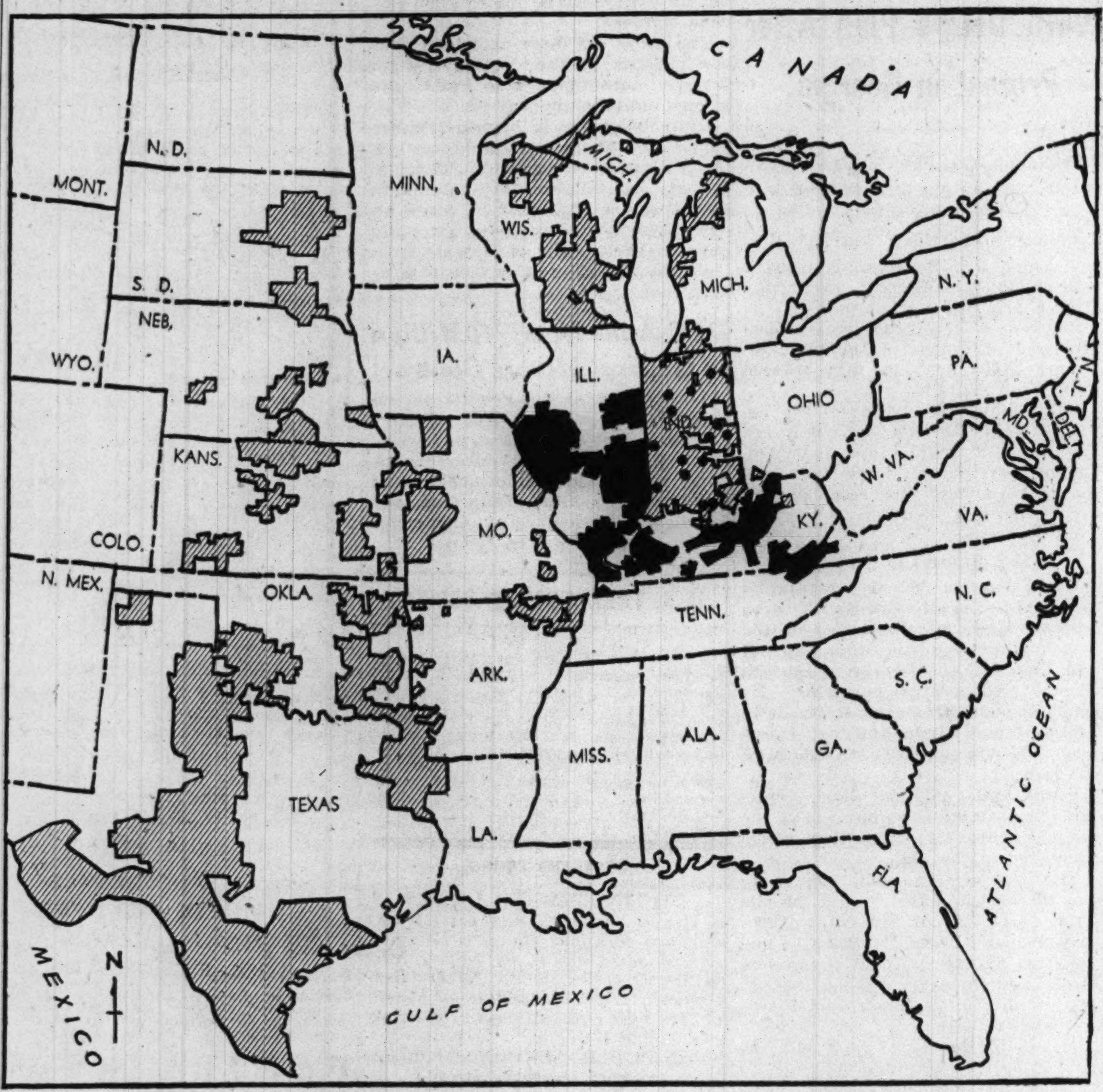
Smith said that consolidated net earnings of the system amounted to about $1.14 a share last year, compared with $1.13 a share in 1941. The parent company's 1942 earnings equaled about 55 cents a share, against 48 cents a share the preceding year.

Middle West, top holding company of the old Insull utilities empire, lost profitable eastern properties as the result of the collapse of the empire early in the last decade. The names of the companies to be dropped in the current revision indicate the extent of the new curtailment in area of operations.

Smith said the decision to proceed with the integration plan without waiting for a formal SEC order was based on a recent ruling of the United States Supreme court. It provided, in general, that stocks acquired while reorganization of a company was pending shall not be deprived of any of the benefits of reorganization and shall be given equal treatment with shares held since before reorganization proceedings began.

Plan Slash in Utility's Vast System

(Story in adjoining column.)



The shaded and black areas in the map are the districts covered by the Middle West corporation's present utility system. The black areas (including 14 centers in Indiana) are those to be serviced with electricity under the plan for reducing the system. In many of the areas gas service also is provided.

Big War Loss Slashes Profit of U. S. Rubber

The United States Rubber company wrote off $15,487,414 of war losses last year, chiefly the result of Japanese seizure of subsidiaries' plantations in Malaya and Sumatra, the company's annual report disclosed yesterday.

F. B. Davis Jr., chairman, said the loss was responsible for a drop in net earnings to $8,381,011, from $13,622,658 in 1941, equal to $1.82 and $4.86 a share on common stock in the respective years.

After war losses, the company at the close of 1942 had foreign assets of $16,213,048, three-fourths of this total in Canada and $2,159,317 in cash in London.

Net Sales Drop in 1942.

Last year's net sales were $290,992,037, or 8 per cent below the record total of 1941. Davis reported United States Rubber's plants operated at a high rate last year, notwithstanding curtailment of civilian sales, and turned out military tires, bullet-sealing gasoline tanks, barrage balloons, boats and many types of clothing and footwear.

The report said the company had one synthetic rubber plant in production at the end of 1942, a second about to start operations and a third under construction. Six plants operated for the government were turning out munitions.

Other reports issued during the day showed reduced earnings for key industrial corporations.

Transport Firm Earns Less.

General American Transportation corporation, Chicago railway equipment operator and manufacturer, issued a preliminary report showing last year's net income was $3,405,368, equal to $3.27 a share, compared with $3,905,634 and $3.75 a share in 1941.

Max Epstein, chairman of the board, said that deductions from the year's earnings included a special 2 million dollar reserve for depreciation. The corporation' set aside $6,250,000 for federal income and excess profits taxes, against $3,796,575 the preceding year.

Monsanto Chemical company, St. Louis, announced 1942 net income of $5.515.836, equal to $3.75 a share, compared with $6,725,225, or $4.90 a share the preceding year. Edgar M. Queeny, president, attributed the slump to taxes that rose to $11,001,000, nullifying the effect of an 8½ per cent rise in sales to $69,146.999.

Shirt Tail Cost Savings Must Go to Purchaser, Says OPA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Savings in manufacturing costs resulting from the streamlining of men's shirts and pajamas must be passed along to consumers, the OPA ruled today. It said profit margins must not be increased because of the WPB order shortening shirt tails and pajama coat lengths.

PRIORITY RULE ON RAIL FREIGHT HELD PROBABLE

ODT Says Open Car Supply Is Short.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The office of defense transportation said today that a system of railroad freight priorities may be established this year "to protect the production and movement of essential products."

In a survey of the transportation outlook, the ODT said that shortages of open top freight cars and locomotives threaten to cause "serious delays" in the delivery of bulk commodities by railroads.

The report indicated dissatisfaction on the part of ODT officials with authorizations made by a sister government agency, the war production board, for deliveries of new railroad equipment in 1943.

Only 286 Engines Authorized.

The WPB to date has authorized delivery of only 250 steam locomotives and 36 Diesel locomotives for road freight service in the first eight months of 1943 and 100 Diesel switch engines and 17,388 new hopper and gondola cars in the first six months.

If additional equipment is not authorized and if other measures fail to relieve the motive power and car stringencies, the ODT said, freight priorities may be ordered.

Freight loadings in open top cars are expected to increase in 1943 to 19,678,000 cars, compared with 19,297,000 in 1942, the ODT reported. In tonnage the anticipated 1943 total will be 1,003,485,000, compared with 981,495,000 last year. The figures do not include loadings of ore in ore cars.

Longer Hauls Tie Up Cars.

More than half the freight moved by rail is carried in open top cars. Many shipments in such cars in 1943 will be moved over longer distances than formerly, tying up cars and locomotives for longer periods of time, officials said.

"Certain expected shifts in freight movement from less active traffic areas to regions of more concentrated traffic will tend to increase turn-around time for cars and locomotives, thus placing additional strain on existing equipment supplies," the ODT said.

Steps being taken to relieve the situation, ODT said, including heavier loading of freight cars, reduction of empty car movements and excess hauling, and spreading out shipments of seasonal commodities such as coal.

Mediation Fails in Rail Wage Dispute; Panel Will Get Case

George A. Cook.

Efforts to mediate the dispute between the railroads and the Big Five operating brotherhoods over the latters' demand for a 30 per cent wage increase, with a minimum of $3 a day, failed yesterday. George A. Cook, chairman of the national mediation board, who has been meeting separately with the brotherhoods and carriers daily since last Thursday, said he was unable either to reach a setlement or to get the parties to arbitrate.

No threat of a strike impends because the unions have assured President Roosevelt that there will be no walkouts during the war. About 350,000 employés are involved in the Big Five's action, including engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen, and switchmen.

It is expected that the Big Five will now ask creation of a railway labor panel to hear the dispute. This is the final step in the procedure under the railway labor act for handling disputes.

Special panels will convene here March 1 to hear disputes over demands of the 15 nonoperating unions for wage increases and the closed shop and of the Big Five regarding changes in employment rules for Diesel locomotives.

Subject to WLB Review.

I. L. Sharfman of the University of Michigan, is chairman of the three man panel which will hear the wage dispute. Frank L. Swacker, New York attorney, heads the panel which will hear the Diesel dispute.

The labor panels will report their recommendations for settlements of the dispute directly to President Roosevelt. Their findings will be subject to review by the war labor board and James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, has 30 days in which to modify the recommendations.

Stock Market Resumes Rise in Big Volume

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Stocks generally resumed their advance in heavy volume today, in contrast with last week's irregularity.

Early profit taking was absorbed without much trouble. Rails and rubbers assumed leadership with favorites up fractions to 2 points with many at best levels for two years.

Persistent inflationary pressure of idle funds and good earnings prospects for many companies were among explanations offered for the rise.

Rails were buoyed by the $2 dividend declaration on Southern railway common, first since 1931.

Dealings were slow for a time, but picked up on the advance and totaled 1,427,405 shares, bettering the million mark for the 12th session of 1943. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .5 of a point at 45.4, highest since Nov. 18, 1940. It was the largest upturn of the year to date. The rail composite reached a peak since Nov. 28, 1939.

20 NEW CHICAGO HIGHS.

Twenty issues reached new 1942-'43 highs in more active trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Middle West led the list with a turnover of 2,800 shares and closed ⅜ point higher at 6. Central and Southwest Utilities gained ⅛ to close at ¾. Both are involved in utility reorganization plans made public during the day. Commonwealth Edison was ⅛ lower at 24⅜.

RAIL BONDS CLIMB.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—A late rally in rails enlivened the bond market today after a dull start.

The rails, utilities, and low yield bonds in the Associated Press averages all touched new 1942-'43 highs.

60 BANKS TAKE PART IN 150 MILLION BENDIX CREDIT FOR WAR WORK

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—A 150 million dollar revolving war credit "V" loan has been made available by 60 banks to the Bendix Aviation corporation, E. R. Breech, president, announced today.

"The corporation is making use of borrowing of this nature," Breech said, "because it expects to have additional facilities available soon for a substantial increase in its war production, now at a rate of more than 700 million dollars annually. Wartime demands for equipment manufactured by Bendix resulted in increasing war production in 1942 to 20 times that of the pre-war level."

The National Bank of Detroit will act as agent for the participating banks thruout the country, Breech said. He asserted the loan agreement would run for three years, with the initial borrowing at least 40 million dollars. Interest will be 2¾ per cent annually on amounts borrowed, with ¼ per cent as a commitment fee on the unused portion.

WHEAT MARKET QUOTA ENDED TO BOOST SUPPLIES

Needs Prove Larger Than Estimated.

To provide more wheat for increasing war time needs, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard yesterday lifted marketing quotas which restricted the sale, use, and feeding of wheat. He acted under emergency provisions of the agricultural adjustment administration crop control law.

Wickard, in removing the restrictions, said that the nation would need much more wheat than was estimated for civilian consumption, for manufacture of industrial alcohol, and for feeding live stock.

Farmers who harvested a larger acreage of wheat than their allotment in 1942 will not assume a penalty payment of 54 cents a bushel before selling the grain or feeding it to live stock.

Removes Penalty on Sales.

Marketing quotas, in force for several years, penalized farmers who did not keep within their acreage allotments. Under the new regulations farmers can increase their planting of wheat without being penalized under the benefit payment and crop loan program. However, farmers must plant at least 90 per cent of their goals for so-called war crops, such as soy beans, flax, potatoes and other agricultural products.

A department of agriculture report recently estimated American requirements of wheat for the 1942-'43 sea-

MATHEWS GAINS DIRECTORSHIP IN FURNITURE MART

Wins in Proxy Battle Over Bond Refinancing.

Henry T. Mathews of the Chicago investment firm of Kneeland & Co., was elected a director of the American Furniture Mart Building Company, Inc., at the annual stockholders' meeting yesterday to climax a successful proxy solicitation campaign on the "platform" that no member of the board was a "direct representative of the publicly owned stock." He also had criticized the board for its reluctance to refinance the mortgage by borrowing 4½ million dollars at 3½ per cent to pay off the present bond issue.

Mathews replaced Alfred MacArthur, a director for eight years. The other eight members of the board were reëlected. The lengthy meeting was marked by frequent and spirited verbal clashes as each side presented its views on the refunding proposal.

Would Cut Interest Expense.

According to Mathews, the rate of interest would save the company $112,500 annually in interest charges. Refinancing also would enable the company to pay a $6 dividend on the preferred stock and place the common shares in a position to receive dividends, he said.

Principal arguments of directors opposing refinancing were that reduced interest charges would increase federal income taxes, offsetting much of the savings; that $266,263 in scrip, issued for defaulted interest during reorganization in 1935, would become payable immediately, and that obtaining a mortgage at 3½ per cent is doubtful.

Lawrence H. Whiting, president, told stockholders the board believed conditions were not favorable for refinancing at present. He warned that the company is "going to lose a lot of income" in the next year thru the demise of furniture companies as the result of metal limitation orders, or their conversion to war production.

Fears Default on New Loan.

"We know we're fairly safe with what we've got," Whiting asserted. "If we should refinance and go into default on the loan, say, with an insurance company, the property would be taken over and we'd be thrown into receivership. The terms of the present mortgage are such that we believe we can weather several years of depression because the indenture allows us two years' grace in case of default."

William H. Stanley, a director, who is also vice president and secretary of the William Wrigley Jr. company, opposed the refinancing. The Wrigley company has a working control of the furniture mart company thru common stock ownership.

NORTH WESTERN FUNDS AMPLE TO REPAY RFC DEBT

The Chicago and North Western railway on Dec. 31, 1942, had ample funds in its treasury to pay off its $48,322,687 indebtedness to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, including interest and principal, and still have ample working capital to maintain the property. This statement was made yesterday in a petition filed with the United States Supreme court by Helen W. Munsert and Luther M. Walter, attorneys for the railroad.

The petition said the road's current assets on Dec. 31 totaled $84,800,079, an increase of $8,808,392 above Oct. 31, 1942, when the last report was made. Cash held by the company on Dec. 31 totaled $64,439,509.

The petition said the road's income last year was $35,700,000 before income taxes and that to permit the reorganization of the road to become effective under the present plan would "subject junior creditors and stockholders to substantial wrong." The attorneys have been fighting to give the common stock holders an equity in the reorganization.

WARNS FIGHTERS WILL NOT PUT UP WITH PROFITEERS

They're Few, but Must Be Caught: Karker.

If American fighters should find when they come back from the war that industry had made excessive profits they "would make damn short shrift of the American system of free enterprise," Maurice Karker, chairman of the war department's price readjustment board, said in Chicago yesterday.

At a press conference of army, navy, maritime commission, and treasury department readjustment board spokesmen in the Edgewater Beach hotel, Karker said that only a few contractors—about 5½ per cent—are trying to profiteer, but that unless they are curbed they will hurt all industry.

Commend Most Contractors.

The attitude shown by most contractors toward renegotiation was commended by Karker and by K. H. Rockey, chairman of the navy readjustment board, and Lt. Comm. A. G. Rydstrom, chairman of the maritime commission's price board. The conference followed a three day meeting of 300 representatives of the four boards at which they discussed various renegotiation problems. L. J. MacIssac represented the treasury board in the absence of its chairman, Capt. Harry C. Maull Jr.

Up to Jan. 31 the army had renegotiated 8 billion 600 million dollars of war contracts, and had recovered 1 billion 45 million dollars, or about 12 per cent. Karker said that about 23 per cent of contracts examined were left unchanged by renegotiation.

Many Offer to Repay.

Rockey said that hundreds of contractors are returning money to the government voluntarily, and that in some cases they offered to repay more than the government would take.

Commander Rydstrom said that in one case a maritime commission contractor tried to give back 7½ million dollars, but that the commission conadjustment board refused to take that much because it believed the company's financial strength in the future might suffer.

GAIN IN SUPPLY BRINGS BREAK IN PRICES OF HOGS

Increased hog receipts caused a break of 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds at the stockyards yesterday. Twenty large markets received 112,000 hogs, bringing the two day total this week to 218,000.

Little change occurred in most classes of cattle, with the demand and supply about equal. Lamb prices were steady to 25 cents lower.

ICE CREAM FAT CUT PERMITTED AT SAME PRICES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Producers and retailers of ice cream and ice cream mixes were authorized by OPA today to reduce butter fat content as much as 2½ per cent without reducing prices.

Consumers will receive some savings when the content is reduced more than that amount.

The order, OPA said, will relieve manufacturers "squeezed" by higher production costs, but will pass on savings to consumers for large reductions in butter fat content.

WHEAT MARKET QUOTA ENDED TO BOOST SUPPLIES

Needs Prove Larger than First Estimated.

son, including lend-lease operations, distilling, feed and other purposes would aggregate about 900 million bushels, or 200 million bushels in excess of normal, and that requirements for 1943-'44 would be 1 billion bushels, or 19 million bushels above the record yield last year.

Wheat Prices Gain.

Wheat prices advanced ½ to ¾ cent early on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday to a new seasonal high. May sold at $1.42¾. Profit taking and hedging pressure caused a reaction of about 1 cent from the high with the close unchanged to ¾ cent higher.

All trading in corn futures was at ceiling prices, but there was little interest. Cash corn supplies were the largest in some weeks with prices off ½ to 5 cents.

July and September oats and rye sold at new seasonal highs, with oats unchanged to ½ cent higher at the close. Rye finished at the top with gains of ⅝ to ¾ cent.

No Trading in Bean Futures.

There was no trading in soy bean futures and all uncompleted contracts in that commodity must be closed out before the market ends today. Settlement prices of $1.82¼ on May and $1.84 a bushel on July contracts were set late last week by directors of the Board of Trade. Processors, manufacturers and seed dealers, all under contract to the government, will be the only buyers of soy beans, effective Feb. 27.

PANHANDLE ASKS TO DISSOLVE ITS 2 SUBSIDIARIES

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 23 (AP).—The Panhandle Eastern Pipeline company asked the Securities and Exchange commission today for permission to acquire all assets of its two subsidiaries, Illinois Natural Gas company and Michigan Gas transmission corporation and to return for cancellation and retirement all securities held by Panhandle in the two concerns, thereby dissolving the Illinois and Michigan concerns.

Under the proposed plan Panhandle, which now owns all outstanding capital stock in the two subsidiaries, will receive all properties and assets and will assume all other liabilities of the two companies.

The transaction, designed to simplify accounting and operating routine thru ownership by Panhandle of all natural gas transmission facilities, will save more than $100,000 annually, the application said.

WORTHLESS.

Is Midland United company common stock of any value? If not, can the loss on this stock be deducted on 1942 income tax returns?—H. U.

Answer: For all practical purposes except as an income tax deduction, Midland United common stock is worthless. No transactions in this stock have taken place on the Chicago Stock exchange since 1941, and the price in that year was 1/16, representing the high, low and close for the entire year. Some sales were made in 1942 away from the exchange to establish losses for income tax purposes.

Despite the fact that there are no buyers for this stock, holders cannot claim any loss on it as a worthless security in filing their income tax returns. The bureau of internal revenue will declare the shares worthless when a reorganization plan has been approved and declared effective by the courts, provided the reorganization plan wipes out the stockholders' claims completely. Until the reorganization plan does become effective there is a technical possibility, extremely remote tho it may be, that the common stock holders will receive something of value.

If the common stock is eleminated thru a reorganization plan, its worthlessness will date back to the time when the plan was proposed. Thus, if the plan had been first proposed in 1942, holders of the stock would have to file an amended income tax return for 1942 in order to benefit from the deduction allowed.

A record of financial results for fiscal years ended June 30 follows:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Per share.
1942	$5,275,172	$304,494	$3.06
1941	3,030,892	269,312	2.73
1940	1,867,660	239,767	2.43
1939	982,206	120,478	1.21
1938	672,544	85,167	.86

Dividends on capital stock for the last five calendar years were: None in 1938, $1.00 in 1939, $2.00 in 1940 and 1941, and $1.00 in 1942. The stock ranged in price on the New York Curb exchange from 4½ to 16½ from 1937 thru 1941. The 1942 range was between 9 and 12. Current assets on June, 30, 1942, totaled $1,702,736, and current liabilities were $1,040,882. Total assets were $2,895,166.

MARCH COTTON FUTURE HIGHEST IN LAST 14 YEARS

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Trade developments and commission house buying, along with a scarcity of offerings, lifted cotton futures to net gains of 55 cents to $1.40 a bale today and placed the March future at the highest level in about 14 years.

Gains in the February futures started on short covering attributed to the failure of expected first notices of delivery to to appear. Profit-taking and hedge selling partially pared early gains until the scarcity of offerings developed in the last hour of trading.

16 UNIONS BLOCK STABILIZATION OF WAR PLANT JOBS

WMC Delays Plan After Protest in Georgia.

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 23 (AP).—A man power stabilization plan ordered into effect in this area will be held in abeyance until Friday, March 5, Harvey Enloe Jr., Savannah-Brunswick area commission director, said today after a protest by labor unions.

Representatives of 16 local unions protested provisions of the plan, affecting 35,000 workers, first ordered into effect yesterday.

Ben Johnson Jr., editor of the Savannah Labor Journal, said the order, if enforced, "would break down collective bargaining agreements because it removes the responsibility for hiring and discharging workers from the employers."

AFL Refuses to Submit.

W. L. Ferrell, AFL representative on the Savannah-Brunswick area labor-management committee of the WMC, said today that labor had not had time to consider the provisions or offer "coöperative measures." He said the plan threatened to result in "discord and strife and we, therefore, refuse to submit to it in its present form."

Ferrell said only one labor representative attended the meeting of the management-labor committee which concurred in the plan.

The stabilization plan, similar to one already in effect in the Mobile [Ala.] area, would prevent workers in war plants from changing to one job from another without permission of their employers or without obtaining permission of the United States employment service.

Meanwhile, a labor draft bill, described by its sponsor as designed to provide the governor with strike-breaking powers, was introduced in both houses of the Georgia assembly today. It would empower the governor to compel any able bodied man or women between 16 and 55 to accept employment declared vital to the welfare of the state and nation.

Job Shifts Unpopular.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 23 (AP).—Invitations to workers in Philadelphia to switch from nonessential to war jobs have been rejected by approximately half of those contacted, a spokesman for the regional war man power commission office said today.

The invitations were extended thru an occupational questionnaire. Of those who did respond, the spokesman said, 676 were rejected by war plant personnel managers to whom they were referred.

A total of 15,977 requests was mailed out between Jan. 1 and Feb. 5, it was announced, but only 8,509 heeded the suggestion that they communicate with United States employment offices. Of these, 3,300 flatly refused jobs.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP).—Business in cotton textiles was very small today and expected to continue so until something developed on the plan to reorganize present manufacturing methods, which might eliminate some constructions.

Replenishment of retail woolen inventories was looked for after the recent rush of consumer buying and the increased allocation of wool for civilian use.

Military requirements occupied rayon traders attention, which included inquiry for cartridge cloth and spun rayon for officers' summer wear.

UNITED OPERATES BASE FOR ARMY PLANE CHANGES

United Air Lines, Chicago, disclosed yesterday that it is operating an aircraft modification center at Cheyenne, Wyo., for the army at which military planes are given last minute installations before being sent into battle. Modifications have been in operation at various points since Pearl Harbor, but until recently no information has been released.

The army air force explained that the purpose of the centers was to secretly outfit planes to catch the enemy entirely unprepared.

United's center is operated under supervision of the army air force material command's production division. It puts last minute installations in planes which could not be made on the assembly line without retooling delays. The activity is separate from United's central maintenance base at Cheyenne.

This is a newly revised map of central Europe, showing the whole of the vast area over which the Russians and Germans have fought from the beginning of the war until now. Maximum penetrations of the Germans in both their 1941 and 1942 campaigns are indicated by lines and color, as also are the front from which the Germans launched their Stalingrad-Caucasus drive last year and the front attained by the Russians in their present great counteroffensive. The Dnieper river, flowing into the Black sea east of Odessa, may represent the line to which the Germans are falling back. If lack of man power forces them to withdraw still farther they may decide to make their stand on the 1941 frontier, from which they invaded Russia. This would leave them still covering Warsaw.
